COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1947. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 30. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 8, 1947. No. 35.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 8, 1947.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Thou who art the giver of every good gift, we thank Thee heartily for life, liberty, and the natural pursuit of happiness. As we set ourselves to the task of shaping things to come within the state and nation, may we be very conscious of Thy Divine Presence with us in all our undertakings and all our deliberations, conscious of the fact that these days call for the highest and best attainable. Shall we merely hope to make the best of life, or shall we seek always to make the most of life. Since we have a holy trust, since we have a charge to keep, we would invoke Thy blessings of wisdom, of kindliness and deep human interest upon all who hold positions of trust and responsibility. May Thy free Spirit flow into the hearts and lives of these gentlemen who in the senatorial body represent, safeguard and promote the best interests of the state. Keep all our legislators in good health, good spirit, and good faith. Through Christ our Lord we pray. Amen.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I would like to have permission to make a brief explanation of two bills which I am about to introduce.

These two bills have met with the complete approval of the Governor of this Commonwealth and the Department of Public Instruction, and I want to state the purposes of these bills in order to provoke some thought among the members of the Senate.

Many thoughful citizens have been asserting that we are not receiving a dollar's value for each educational dollar. They ask what is wrong with our public school system when their boys and girls can not spell simple words correctly, when they abuse the English language by constantly employing solecisms in their speech, when they do not know the simple operations of arithmetic and lack a knowledge of the fundamentals in many branches of learning. It is frequently said that the three R's are fast becoming lost arts.

After a careful study of this problem, we believe that we have put our finger upon the fundamental weakness of our public educational system. And may I say this deficiency is not to be laid at the door of our Department of Public Instruction, for it has been doing an excellent job with the machinery at hand.

The faultiness of the whole system lies in the fact that the department approves curricula, and so forth, but does not have the machinery to evaluate the results.

How long could a large corporation stay in business if its technicians, engineers, chemists or research men did not follow their recommended product through the proving grounds.

Unfortunately, our Department of Public Instruction, through lack of personnel, funds and equipment, can not presently do this job of evaluation.

This bill has the following provision in it, The Superintendent of Public Instruction is hereby empowered and directed to evaluate the effectiveness and measure the results of instruction in the public schools of this Commonwealth, through a system of standard tests and scores and by such other norma as may be designed to accomplish this purpose.

The various schools and school districts shall be graded according to standard averages set up by the Department of Public Instruction.

Such evaluation shall include administrative appraisals, as well as teachers; and shall constitute an important factor in establishing the efficiency ratings of the teachers of the district.

After each evaluation is completed, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall offer constructive suggestions for the improvement of the school and school district, and shall make definite recommendations to the board of school directors of the district so evaluated.

The other bill which I am about to present is intended to carry out the purposes of these remarks.

The policy of every dictator is directed toward the attainment of a unity and a self-sufficiency that will guarantee his success in an inevitable war for the predominance of his ideals in the world.

It is not simply the iron will of a few ruthless leaders that sustains the totalitarian nations. Over a period of years they have been imbuing and inflaming the youth of their nations with their pet ideologies and their glittering plans of aggrandizement through conquest.

If democracy is not to perish from this earth, we must take a leaf from the dictator's book, but it should proceed rationally. Our people are confused today because of alien-inspired propaganda.

All of here believe firmly in the excellence of our form of government, with its system of checks and balances. Our plain duty to our country is to assume the painstaking task of instruction and reason. Our youth and all of our people must be taught the full meaning of democracy. We must inculcate in them a more profound understanding and a deeper appreciation of our guaranteed rights of personal liberty, personal security and private property. These must be pointed with the spiritual blessings and the material benefits which follow in the American Way of Life.

We must also stress a revival of those time-honored virtues of industry, thrift, self-help and dutiful conduct toward parents, toward government and toward God. It is more important that our people possess these elements of character today than it was in the days of Captain Miles Standish. These are fundamental if our economic system is to survive another major national emergency or a deep depression, for an industrious, a frugal, a self-respecting and a dutiful people are in common friendly to established government.

It is important that our people obtain a new rational concept of love of county and an awakened faith in the fundamentals of the American system; a concept and a faith based upon reason and truth and not founded simply upon the promptings of momentary emotions.

People live and die for the things in which they believe. The future of our country rests more upon the high political intelligence of her people than upon the power of her armaments.

This bill is designed to authorize and direct the Department of Public Instruction to revise the curricula in the elementary, secondary and vocational schools of this Commonwealth in order that the purposes herein stated may be effectuated.

In developing and executing a program of this magnitude, it is hoped that the pulpit, the press, the radio, schoolmen, veteran and patriotic organizations, and every other good American citizen will cooperate to the fullest extent. If all will unite, we can carry this instruction into every home in Pennsylvania.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 534, entitled:

An Act directing the Department of Public Instruction to revise the curricula of elementary, secondary and vocational schools to effectuate a more thorough understanding and appreciation of American democracy and the principles for which it stands.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. STEVENSON read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 535, entitled:

An Act to add section one thousand twenty-two to the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for evaluations by the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the instruction in the public schools, and for recommendations based thereon, and for the effect thereof on the efficiency rating of teachers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Clause (c) of section three of the act approved the tenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 485) entitled "An act to provide for the better protection of life and health of the citizens of this Commonwealth by requiring and regulating the examination licensure and registration of persons and registration of corporations engaging in the care preparation and disposition of the bodies of deceased persons and providing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 An applicant shall not be entitled to an examination if

(c) The applicant is not a graduate of an approved high school of this Commonwealth or has an education equivalent thereto under the rules and regulations of the department Provided That in lieu of such education a bona fide apprenticeship extending over a period of twenty (20) years or more in the establishment of a duly licensed undertaker of this Commonwealth shall be accepted by the board upon proof thereof by the applicant for examination

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, for a moment I would like, if I may, to tell the members of the Senate why I am voting for this bill.

This bill, contrary to what some people have been led to believe by misinformation that has been broadcast over the Commonwealth, in no way lowers the standards of the undertaking profession.

The purpose of this bill, Mr. President, is simply this: where a boy or a girl starting out in life, because of financial reasons, was unable to get a high school education, and after that got employment with an undertaker or a funeral director and has had twenty years of experience, this bill, Mr. President, would simply give that young man or woman an opportunity to take an examination, an examination that is put together by a board of licensed funeral directors, Mr. President, and I think this bill is nothing more or less than a step to keep the doors of opportunity open to young men and women in this state who, because of financial reasons, in their younger days, were unable to get a high school education.

I think this a good bill, Mr. President, one that in no way lowers the standards of the profession; it is calculated simply to give the poor man a chance.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, last week Senate Bill 224 came before this body and failed by a vote of 27 to 23, I believe, if my memory serves me correctly.

The bill has been revived now and placed back on the calendar and it is quite apparent there may be sufficient votes to pass this bill.

It seems strange to me that last week twenty-seven men were right and twenty-three men were wrong, and, if this bill should pass, what brought about the change of mind or change of heart.

I want to go on record by saying I am for the so-called underdog. Off the floor of this Senate a number of my colleagues have asked me whether I was for or against the man who has failed to have a high school education. I am for that man. The record shows I have been for the underdog all my life, but his bill is not designed to help the unfortunate. This bill is class legislation. This bill is designed to help one individual in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I think we are getting down to a low ebb when we in this body must introduce legislation to help one individual. If this body is sincere and is going all out for the underdog, why not amend this bill to read ten years. I know of a number of men and women in this Commonwealth who could take advantage of this bill if the word "twenty" were removed and the word "ten" inserted.

I say again this is not for that purpose. It is for the purpose of helping one individual, and I am wondering whether the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, feel accordingly about other departments in this Commonwealth, whether he is willing to amend other acts and bring them under the same category, or whether or not he is interested in this one measure only, to help one individual.

You are setting a precedent right now and we will follow it through and determine throughout this session whether or not the men who vote for this bill are really sincere.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order to show there is no partisanship in this measure, I want to say I could go along with the sentiments expressed by the minority whip, Mr. Haluska; however, my memory is clear, and I believe it was about five years ago when we tried to put this measure through for this same group of citizens.

As I understand this bill, Mr. President, it takes care of that group of understudies, as it were, or assistants to undertakers or embalmers in Pennsylvania when the original licensing act was passed. This group of citizens were, by virtue of circumstances, in that profession without the requirements set up by that licensing act.

Therefore they are being discriminated against, because during the twenty odd years since the passage of that bill, they have been doing this work and they are entitled, as I see it, to the privileges of doing the work as professionals, with the right to own and operate their own businesses.

I might say to the gentlemen of this Senate that this would be a very good cue to be taken by other professional groups in Pennsylvania.

I might say to the medical profession that they too could clear out some dead wood and scattered weeds that have gathered in their closets, and also that the legal profession might climb into some back rooms that they have closed the doors upon and clean out from there some of the cobwebs that caused people to point fingers of distain at the rules and regulations they have set up in their profession, which bar from that honorable profession many worthy citizens of this Commonwealth who find themselves denied the privilege of participating and earning a living in the profession of law because of rusty, moldy rules and regulations set up by this group of closed shop adherents in Pennsylvania known as the Pennsylvania Bar Association. I am thinking out loud now, but I know of a young man who entered the services of the United States Army as a private, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, who went through this war and came out a captain, but, because of the fact that the board of review or the qualifications board of the Westmoreland County Bar Association did not like the profession or the activities that his father had engaged in, they have forbidden this lad the right to participate in his profession and to take the bar examination. I say to you men here that while you are voting for this legislation, remember that some other professions in Pennsylvania need a new broom to sweep out some of the dust and some of the mold and cobwebs that have gathered.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, as ths sponsor of this measure, I am happy indeed that two Senators, one from each side of the Senate, other than the sponsor, have so ably presented the virtues of this proposed legislation and I rise now only to reply briefly to the mistaken impression held by the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, I think he made the statement in good faith but, had he inquired of me, I could have assured him that not only in my own county are there at least a half dozen men who could qualify and have the right to take this examination under this proposed measure, but I have had at least eight Senators call my attention to two or three similarly situated people whom they have in their districts.

However, Mr. President, were it true that this bill applies to only one individual in Pennsylvania, I think it still would be the good old fashioned American way to give that man an opportunity to prove his worth and not shut the door upon him because he does not happen to have a certain kind of diploma.

I agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, in some of his remarks, at least to the extent that I should hate to be put in the position where I had to get a license to do anything in the state of Pennsylvania, because it is becoming increasingly difficult.

The only objections I have heard to this bill, repeated over and over again were, first, that it would permit anybody to hang out a shingle in the undertaking business. That definitely is not so. A man can only do so after passing a severe examination. Secondly, Mr. President, it has been rumored around that this might be injurious to public health. A distinguished physician, known to all the members of this body, sometime ago said that he doubted whether there was anything you could do to a dead man that would be particularly injurious to him.

Just on the basis of fairness I ask my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not want to interfere with the dinner that has been arranged for tonight, but I would like to say to the gentleman from Westmoreland that in the Bar Association—and I point particularly to the fact that I am not attempting to defend all of the lawyers in Pennsylvania—but the Bar Association has always had a rule that would permit anybody in Pennsylvania to take the examinations upon serving three years stewardship in a law office. It is not necessary to present any educational qualifications other than the three years of service. The Bar Association opens its doors, as far as bar examinations are concerned, to anybody who can qualify under those terms and no educational qualifications, as far as diplomas are concerned, are necessary to take the bar examinations and, therefore, I think the Bar is in line with the suggestion that is being made here.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I do not often stand up and talk for or against bills, but I suppose I work more with with funeral directors than any other member of this Senate. I have officiated at more than seven hundred funerals in the last twenty-nine years.

We have two men in our county, and one man in particular has embalmed more than five thousand bodies in the last twenty years. When funeral directors have a badly mutilated case they send for him; when high school graduates come out of an embalming school they are given to him to train, and I feel that man is qualified by his experience to take the examination, even though he does not have a high school education, and I feel we ought to give him that opportunity.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am very much in favor of live issues but this happens to be a very dead issue. However, I am one of those who voted "no" recently but, I realize some consideration should be given some poor unfortunates and I will say with Emerson a foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, and therefore I change my vote.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Becker,	Frazier,	Rosenfeld,	Tyler,
Blass,	Heyburn	Ruth,	Wagner,

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, before the roll is called on these bills, I would like to say just one word, not perhaps in defense of the bills, because they have been very thoroughly studied by the members of the Senate, but in appreciation of the advisory committee which worked in the preparation of these bills since July of 1945.

Under a Senate Resolution the Joint State Government Commission was authorized to make this study and present these bills to this present session of the Legislature. In order to have the best thinking possible which was available in Pennsylvania, the Joint State Government Commission invited various private citizens throughout the Commonwealth to serve on the advisory committee and give their best thought to the committee as to how these bills should be properly drafted and what phraseology should be used, taking into consideration the original code of 1874, the revised code of 1917 and the various decisions of our appellate courts since that time.

The members of this advisory committee, thirty-two in number, were selected on recommendations of various members of the Joint State Government Commission. They served without pay, they served loyally and they have made a valuable contribution to the welfare of the Commonwealth. It has been a rich experience to have the opportunity of sitting in on these meetings and listening to these distinguished and learned citizens of the Commonwealth give unstintingly of their tme, of their experience and their knowledge, and as these bills come before the Senate for final passage, I would like to read into the record the names of the distinguished citizens of this Commonwealth who made this contribution to the betterment of a very important part of the judicial procedure of the Commonwealth. There were a number of judges who served:

Honorable W. Walter Braham, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Lawrence County

Honorable Ethan A. Gearhart, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Lehigh County

Honorable Andrew Hourigan, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Luzerne County
Honorable David G. Hunter, Judge of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County
Honorable Frederick A. Marx, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Berks County
Honorable Karl E. Richards, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Dauphin County
Honorable Thomas P. Trimble, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County
Honorable A. Kirk Wrenshall, President Judge of the Orphans' Court of Washington County
Honorable J. Colvin Wright, President Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Bedford County

In addition to these distinguished jurists, who have had years of experience in handling Orphans' Court practice, some of the finest legal minds in the Commonwealth also attended as members of this advisory committee and contributed to these bills. These men were:

Robert Brigham, Esquire, Philadelphia
Shippen Lewis, Esquire, Philadelphia
Robert W. Archbald, Jr., Esquire, Philadelphia
Paul Bedford, Esquire, Wilkes-Barre
Lieutenant Governor John C. Bell, Philadelphia
William Eckert, Esquire, Pittsburgh
Roland Fleer, Esquire, Norristown
W. Pitt Gifford, Esquire, Erie
A. J. White Hutton, Esquire, Chambersburg
Mark E. Lefever, Esquire, Philadelphia
William W. Litke, Esquire, Bellefonte
Alan S. Loose, Esquire, Mauch Chunk
J. Paul MacElree, Esquire, West Chester
Richard G. Miller, Esquire, Washington
Ralph D. McKee, Esquire, Pittsburgh
Raymond M. Remick, Esquire, Philadelphia
William Robinson, Esquire, Pittsburgh
Arthur Scully, Esquire, Pittsburgh
C. L. Shaver, Esquire, Somerset
Boyd Lee Spahr, Esquire, Philadelphia
Thomas Stokes, Esquire, Philadelphia
Paul C. Wagner, Esquire, Philadelphia
Adolph L. Zeman, Esquire, Washington

Mr. President, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania owes these distinguished citizens a vote of thanks for a very meritorious job well done. The talent combined in the names that I have just placed on the record could not be hired; it is not within the realm of the Joint State Government Commission to attempt to employ for compensation the ability that is represented in the names that I have just placed upon this record. They have made a valuable contribution to the Commonwealth, and I think we should be deeply appreciative of the fact that they have done so. They not only have completed the first three bills before us, but this committee has agreed to serve during the next interim session so that there can be presented to the 1949 session of the Legislature a completion of the decedents code.

The members of the Joint State Government Commission appreciate the contribution which these citizens have made and, Mr. President, I know every member of the Senate will be proud of the record that these men have made and of the bills that are now before us.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

Give, we beseech Thee, to these servants of the commonwealth clear vision, clean hands, and pure hearts as, facing great tasks and grave responsibilities, they ascend this holy hill of the state's life. RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MIHM and POWERS. RESOLUTION No. 36.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1947.

Whereas, For many years floods in the Ohio River Valley, an area which extends through Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois, have caused damages amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars and immeasurable human sufferings. In 1936, Pittsburgh alone suffered a two hundred fifty million dollar property loss as a result of such a flood; and

Whereas, Within recent years, a project to control the occurrence of such floods has been designed and begun—the construction of the Conemaugh Dam near Blairsville, Cambria County, Pennsylvania, financed largely with Federal Government funds. Until said dam is completed, there will be a constant threat of floods with ensuing losses, and the work already finished will be worthless unless carried to completion; and

Whereas, The United States Congress in its effort to cut governmental expenses might be tempted to eliminate from the proposed budget the funds therein designated for the continuation of the work on the Conemaugh Dam: therefor be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives urges the Congress of the United States to appropriate the necessary funds for continuing the work on the Conemaugh Dam as designated in the proposed budget to the end that the people of this section of the nation and their economic life will be more secure from flood disaster and damage; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ANDREWS. RESOLUTION No. 37.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1947.

Whereas, the efficiency of various departments of the Commonwealth's government is being impaired by reason of the fact that men and women holding key positions which call for specialized professional training upon the part of those who hold them are leaving the service of the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, the salaries now paid are insufficient to attract and hold in key positions professional personnel, therefore be it

Resolved, That this House instruct its Committee on State Government to prepare a list of the key positions in the various departments of the state government which require specialized professional service; that the Committee also prepare a schedule indicating the compensation department heads should be privileged to pay professional people holding key positions in the state service and that the Committee be further instructed to suggest to this House such legislation as may be necessary in order to accomplish the objectives outlined, and be it further

Resolved, That this House petition and advise His Excellency the Governor that professional personnel be not required to obtain political sponsorship in order to enter the state service and that it be employed and retained in the service of the Commonwealth solely on a merit basis, merit to be determined in every instance by the head of the department immediately concerned.

If such statements cannot be read into the record it will be necessary to interrogate the gentlemen who sponsor these bills at considerable length.

Our kind Heavenly Father, for the blessings of this day we thank Thee; for Thy love and mercy unto us we praise Thee; for Thy guidance and direction in our deliberations we pray, not only for ourselves but for all those who stand in need of Thy love, we pray that Thou wilt mercifully look upon them and give them the guidance that shall direct them into the path which will mean good for all people. To those who need our help and love, may we stand in the place of he who said

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by;
The men that are good, and the men that are bad
As good and as bad as I;
I would not sit in the scorner's seat
Nor hurl the cynic's ban.
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."

We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

Resolved, That the use of the Senate Chamber be granted for the Inaugural Ceremony of William S. Livengood, Jr., as Secretary of Internal Affairs on May 6, 1947, at 12:00 Noon, Eastern Standard Time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, it seems that the intravenous injection that I gave the other day has brought forth from the mountain at Broad and Callowhill, which has labored so much to bring forth a puny little mouse.

I ask permission of the Chair to spread upon the Legislative Journal of the Senate an article written by the breezy and capable columnist, John Cummings, so that the facts can be straightened out when a careful reader of the Legislative Journal reads the speech that I delivered the other day and then glances at the distorted facts contained in this article written by another hatchet man.

Gentlemen, the very principles that the Philadelphia Inquirer has been propounding for years and years, that is, freedom of the press and freedom of speech, are kind of abused in this article written by the breezy columnist. I say let the press shout from the rooftops for freedom of the press and I will shout from the rooftops as the representative of three hundred thousand people in my district for freedom of speech.

"John M. Cummings

"What's-the-Hurry Talk
"Didn't Halt Parking Bill

"Harrisburg, April 8.—There was a lot of jawing in the Senate yesterday before the lads, by a vote of 39 to 10, passed the Smith-Costa bill extending to the city of Philadelphia authority to construct underground parking places to relieve street congestion.

"One of the gentleman, Mr. DiSilvestro, if memory serves, speaking in behalf of the measure, raised an interesting question. You might say he raised several questions, all concerned with the role of a newspaper in matters of public concern.

"Senator DiSilvestro was, of course, thinking of The Inquirer, which, from time to time, joyously addresses itself to enterprises calculated to promote the common weal. The Senator, since he is in the publishing business, no doubt has given considerable thought to the problem during moments of cerrebrating in the quiet of the editorial study.

"Now it's a matter of public record that this newspaper enthusiastically advocated enactment of the Smith-Costa bill in the hope that it would be a step in the direction of a solution to the insufferable congestion in the streets of downtown Philadelphia.

"The jabberwocky of Senator DiSilvestro seemed to be concerned with the degree of enthusiasm a newspaper should inject into a special feature of its day by day work. The South Philadelphia statesman apparently is of the opinion that in pressing for enactment of the measure we of The Inquirer filled the cup of enthusiasm not merely to the brim, but to generous overflowing. Therein lies the fault.

"The gentleman said his "conscience revolted" and he asked: "Why the hurry for passage?"

"In this connection it might be stated that it's better to have a revolting conscience than no conscience at all. As the renowned Mr. Riley of the radio would put it, "What a revolting development this is!"

"It was while his conscience was in a state of revolt that Mr. DiSilvestro demanded to know why the hurry. Well, for one thing, the people of Philadelphia would like to get a little action. They'd like to get a little action not only on the parking problem, but on the Vine St. improvement and a number of other projects which have been discussed for years.

"Unfortunately for Philadelphia, we have some slow pokes who always shout "Why the hurry?" whenever a worthwhile project is proposed. And they become alarmed and they wonder what's coming over the town when a wide-awake newspaper suggests that these citizens should get the lead out of their shoes, quit their yawning and give off with signs of animation.

"In the case of the bill in question, The Inquirer could have wrapped itself in a robe of false dignity and retired in silence to the sidelines while it languished in a Senate committee. We could have taken comfort in the thought that one of these days it would be released to the floor—if not in this session, perhaps two years hence or four.

"We could have said "What's the hurry?" particularly when unseemly speed and obnoxious haste might start a revolution in the noodle of Mr. DiSilvestro. Why give offense to others of the take-it-easy clan whose conscience, like that of the Senator, is as sensitive as the needle of a compass?

"I happen to be a Democrat," said the Senator at one point in his address, by way of distinguishing between himself and Senator Stevenson, chairman of the committee which studied the bill. What this had to do with the question is neither here nor there. Accidents will happen, even to a man whose conscience is so easily aroused to revolt.

"The point we wish to make here is that it's high time Philadelphia dudes like the distinguished Senator should swear off this what'-the-hurry business whenever a citizen or a newspaper raises a voice in behalf of a program to help the city.

* * *

"Being a publisher, Senator DiSilvestro certainly can find better use for the lead in his heels. He should throw it in the hellbox."

Messrs. THOMASSY and MAZZA offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 3, by adding after the word "regulation" the following:

The boards of commissioners of counties of the second class shall have discretion to determine the effective date of any resolutions or ordinances promulgated by them pursuant to this act, and in making such determination shall take into consideration the availability of fuel burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak in behalf of the amendments just offered.

This amendment gives the Commissioners of Counties of the second class the right to determine the effective date of any resolution or ordinance promulgated by them pursuant to this act.

The County Commissioners under this amendment would be required to take into consideration the availability of fuel burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly before putting an ordinance into effect.

Without this amendment in effect, the County Commissioners could outlaw the use of western Pennsylvania coal in 165,000 homes that are using this coal at the present time.

Coal is the life blood of Pennsylvania's Industries—as a matter of fact coal is Pennsylvania's "Gold".

Let me read a portion of an editorial which appeared in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph last week—March 26th. Remember this article was published during the height of the fever, enthusiasm, and hysteria on the question of smoke abatement.

> "Public opinion in the Pittsburgh district is solidly against the smoke evil. As it should be.
> "The problem is to stop smoke without cutting the foundations out from under one of our basic industries, which is coal.
> "The Sun-Telegraph long has favored regulations to require that all fuels must burn smokelessly in this area. These include the Fleming-Barrett Amendment, House Bill No. 7, to give Allegheny County the right to regulate smoke from railroad locomotives.
> "But we do not favor laws which would ban the proper use of our own Pittsburgh coal, or any other Pennsylvania fuel. Our coal is our 'gold'. It must not be outlawed, but burned correctly.
> "Progress, as we see it, must come in improved methods of combustion or in the large-scale conversion of coal into electricity or into gas or liquid fuel"

The improved methods or large scale conversion will not be available to the public in sufficient quantity for some years.

This delay can be attributed to many factors—of which the most important is the shortage of steel.

Before the war considerable progress had been made on new burning devices, such as smokeless stoves and smokeless furnaces. Design and production of these devices was interrupted during the period of the war when all energies, men and materials, were directed to the winning of the war.

Since the conclusion of the war, the products of the Steel Industry have been directed to supplying the immediate, basic needs of a peacetime civilian economy.

Therefore, there is no steel for the manufacture of a new design of stove or furnace.

Assuming that equipment were available, let me read a letter from a G.I.'s wife.

> "Need More Time.
> "So good old 'Smoky City' is to be smokeless. This is all well and good, but I ask you where is the 'little guy' supposed to get money to reconvert furnaces from coal to a smokeless method?
> "My husband is an overseas veteran and after his return to the states we managed to go into housekeeping. Shortly after this, we were burned out of our apartment and suffered great loss.
> "Then, once again, the search for a house or apartment began. As I was expecting a baby at the time, no one would consider renting to us. It was the same thing over and over—no children.
> "This being the case, we had to buy a house at an inflated price, which at the present time we are trying to pay off.

"I'm sure my husband isn't the only veteran who has had 'hard knocks" since his return and yet we are compelled to convert our furnace by fall.

"A smoky city means more dirt, but I am only too glad to clean that dirt and not have to go into further debt. It seems to me that we could be given a little more time and thus manage to get the money together. I can't do it in a matter of several months and I'm sure there are many, many others in the same situation."

Look at the thousands in your own districts in the same predicament who need the protection of this amendment.

The commercial coal industry of western Pennsylvania represents an investment of three hundred million dollars, has an annual payroll of one hundred million dollars, employs 55,000 miners who afford a living for 250,000 people and pay over four million dollars in direct taxes.

Certainly the product of an industry of such magnitude as this should not be legislated out of business by emotional minorities when the smoke from high voltatile coal contributes only two per cent of the air pollution.

What is being done to control the other 98 per cent of the air pollution? To my knowledge—nothing.

And why? Because it is a complex engineering question for which scientific study as yet has not found the answer.

Why then penalize these 165,000 families who depend upon coal for their heat and comfort?

Now, once again—I say it is the responsibility of this Assembly to protect the investment, means of livelihood of thousands of people engaged in the coal industry, not to mention the additional thousands who depend upon the product of this industry for their comfort, utility, and welfare.

Members, I urge you to adopt this amendment so that the people of Western Pennsylvania can continue to use high volatile coal, while mechanical devices are being made available to burn it smokelessly.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from Washington County, Mr. Thomassy and Mr. Mazza. I realize the Speaker has given the pevious speaker quite a bit of latitude in going into the merits of the bill. I hope that you and the Members of the House will bear with me if I possibly do the same.

This bill is only an amendment to an enabling act which is already on the statute books of Pennsylvania, and provides only that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County shall be permitted to regulate smoke emitted from railroad locomotives. I particularly wish to draw to the attention of the Members of the House the fact that the Commissioners of Allegheny County, which is the only second class county in Pennsylvania, already have the right to regulate smoke that emits from the industries or from homes generally, and that they can under the present act invoke such rules, such ordinances and such regulations as they see fit to control that smoke. The only thing they would not have the right over is railroad locomotives. The Companies' Association and the railroads of Pennsylvania have agreed to be included in this enabling legislation.

In opposing this amendment which is offered, in my opinion it raises a question of constitutionality by virtue on which the bill in its entirety may later be attacked in the courts of Pennsylvania and be declared unconstitutional. I will, however, leave the argument on the question of constitutionality to far more capable and able hands than mine, but I would call attention to the House that the amendment is superfluous. It does absolutely nothing that the County Commissioners cannot now do. Certainly we can assume that any man who has been elected County Commissioner of any county would certainly use his discretion before the enactment of any ordinances, or before the enactment of any kind of legislation which would in any way have a detrimental effect on the citizens of that county.

I am absolutely convinced, and am sure that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County would not put into effect any ordinance, or any regulation until they had completely gone into the effect that it would have on the citizens of Allegheny County.

Again I would say to you that I can see nothing that this amendment could possibly do, except to bring about a picture of ambiguity by the inserting of certain words that would certainly do nothing but in the end defeat that which we are trying to bring about, a bigger and better Allegheny County and the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, this is the type of legislation that we might designate as a "pinch" legislation or a "squeeze" legislation. On the one hand you have the sponsor rightfully saping—because it is anybody's guess at the time being, that the amendments add nothing to the bill. On the other hand you have the sporsors of the amendment saying that the amendment will save the bill.

Without casting, of course, any reflection upon the sponsors of the amendment, and without attempting to quote him verbatim, as I understood one of the sponsors, these amendments are inserted for the purpose of putting a time element in the act.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we have the anomalous situation of an act which becomes effective immediately upon its final passage, and yet it cannot be put in operation until those who are given the authority to put the act into effect have found that a certain condition prevails, so that a matter of law the amendments will determine the effective date of the act insofar as the operation of the act is concerned.

It is, therefore, in my opinion a delegation of power by this legislative body. If it is a delegation of power then it must conform to Article II, Section I of the Pennsylvania Constitution which prohibits the General Assembly from delegating its power, or prohibits the General Assembly from transferring or conferring delegated powers on any governmental body.

Now, I am in sympathy with what the gentleman from Washington says as to the fact that a hardship will be worked on certain people if the act takes effect immediately without the amendments. However, we must be guided by the decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. I know this may be tedious, but we want to get it on the record and I should like to call to your attention the pronouncement of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the case of Holgate Brothers Company versus Bashore, et al, reported in our Supreme Court

Reports, Volume 331, page 255. In order to make it known that the element of difficulty is of no concern when we are discussing delegated powers. I quote from page 260.

> "Regardless of exigencies which at times arise or of how trying our economic or social conditions become, the powers and duties imposed by the Constitution upon the legislative branch of our government remain steadfast and neither the urgency of the necessity at hand nor the gravity of the situation allow the Legislature to abdicate, transfer or delegate its authority or duty to another branch of the Government".

So, Mr. Speaker, if it is a delegation of power the question of urgency is of no concern, and therefore, with all due regard to what the gentleman has said, as a matter of law it in nowise controls the constitutionality of this amendment.

The reason I say this, Mr. Speaker, is that there is no saving clause in this bill, and that is important because if this amendment is declared unconstitutional the whole bill falls. I would suggest to the sponsors of the bill that if the amendment is adopted that a saving clause be inserted in the bill. I think that request is legally sound and sound from the standpoint of statutory construction, for obviously I do not believe it is the intention of the gentlemen from Washington who sponsored the amendment to see the bill fall if the amendment is unconstitutional.

Secondly, Mr. Speaker, we should discuss very briefly not only for this bill, but for any other bill, and I am taking perhaps too much time—what is meant by delegation of power.

I refer again to the same case, and will just read a brief part of that decision. I now quote from page 260 as follows:

> "The Legislature may, however, leave to administrative officers, boards and commissions, the duty to determine whether the facts exist to which the law is itself restricted. In all such occasions, nevertheless, the legislative body must surround such authority with definite standards, policies and limitations to which such administrative offices, boards or commissions, must strictly adhere and by which they are strictly governed."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I ask the sponsors, presuming it is a delegation of power, and I can see no other reason to ask this question, what definite standards, policies or limitation are inherent in these amendments that would conform with the ruling of the Supreme Court to make a delegated power constitutional. In my opinion the language of the amendment is broad, indefinite, and there are no standards to guide those who are to exercise this unlimited delegation of power.

Referring again to the same case, on page 263, I quote as follows:

> "If the Legislature fails, however, to prescribe with reasonable clarity the limits of the power delegated or if those limits are too broad its attempt to delegate is a nullity."

It is my opinion, Mr. Speaker, that the amendments are too broad. We set no standard as to what the commissioners shall take into consideration in determining whether or not the equipment is available on the market. If that is true, then I read again from page 263 of the same decision which I have just cited, and I quote verbatim:

> "If the Legislature fails, however, to prescribe with reasonable clarity the limits of the power delegated or if those limits are too broad its attempt to delegate is a nullity."

Important legislation such as this should not be surrounded with words that are broad, that are indefinite, that admit of no scientific conclusion, and if the House decides to put these amendments into this act, certainly in fairness to the people of Allegheny County and in fairness to those who sponsored the amendments, they should put a saving clause in this bill.

MOTION TO TABLE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill, together with the amendments, because of the situation which I have just tried to enunciate, be laid upon the table.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the motion to lay upon the table is not debatable, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he would not withdraw his motion for just a moment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, desires to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. I presume, Mr. Speaker, that I first should ask the gentleman whether he would withdraw his motion temporarily.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE WITHDRAWN

Mr. BROWN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will be happy to do so, and may I say in answer to the interrogation that it was not my intention to in any way stop debate, but it would be the only way that we could arrest the bill at the present time, because as I understand this is the last day the bill can remain on the calendar. I will be glad to withdraw my motion, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend or desire to debate this measure, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny in his remarks stated that he felt that for guidance in the future he should place on the record the opinion and the legal definition of delegation of authority, for future guidance of the members of the House. Am I correct in that?

Mr. BROWN. The gentleman is correct, Mr. Speaker. I may have been naive in saying that. It was perhaps presumptive on my part, but I did say that.

Mr. TURNER. I think it was very well done, Mr. Speaker. In determining that it was an unlawful delegation of authority, as to what part of the amendment does the gentleman form his opinion that it is an unlawful delegation of authority?

Perhaps I can explain this a little further; there are really two parts to the amendment. The first one says that the council, or the commissioners in this case shall determine the effective date of the ordinance is that right?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. As I recall, Mr. Speaker, the second part is that they shall take into consideration the availability of devices, that will smokelessly burn bituminous coal.

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman says this is an unlawful delegation of authority, is the gentleman referring to both the provisions of the amendment, or only to one provision.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the amendment as I have it is one amendment. If the gentleman wishes to divide the question I would say that the first part is absolutely harmless, because the first part has nothing to do with the time the act takes effect.

The second part, and I will read it for the gentleman if he will permit me to do so is, "And in making such determination," that is as to the ordinances or regulations, "They shall take into consideration the availability of burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly." Therefore the legislative intent that the act take effect immediately is absolutely rendered a nullity by this mandatory instruction to the county commissioners that they shall not set the ordinances or resolutions until they find that there are these low burning devices on the market.

Mr. TURNER. That is all for the moment.

Mr. Speaker I might say that I was at first very much of the opinion held by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and the reason for my interrogation—and I would not have injected this into the present situation had it not been that I felt that Mr. Brown was endeavoring to give us a guide for our record here for future reference at any time when the same question might arise. However, I am not easy in my mind that the gentleman from Allegheny is correct in this way; this it not a provision exactly like many other provisions that are put in the law which become effective on the happening of some event, in which case the law says that it can be indefinite as to the date of change or left to chance in which case the law says that it can be indefinite as to the date of change. This is in line with all our legislation in the past giving powers to counties or boroughs or townships to do certain things. Therefore it seems to me that there is a distinction in the first part of this amendment between the question that arises under the ordinary case as to the effective date of an act, and this provision which merely says that the commissioners can set the effective date. Now, you don't have to have this in this bill to permit the commissioners to set the effective date, because if you merely give them the power to regulate smoke, then they can pass an ordinance at any time and in that ordinance they can set the effective date just as we do in all other ordinances that we enact for boroughs, cities, townships or whatever they may be, so that insofar as the provisions of this amendment provide that the commissioners may set the effective date, I cannot see that there is any unlawful delegation of authority or power on the part of the Legislature, because that is the thing that we do in every ordinance of any municipality that sets an effective date, and that would be null and void and unconstitutional, if that be true.

Therefore, the only provision that I see in this amendment that raises the question is that one pertaining to the smoke devices, I don't remember the exact language, but "They should take into consideration." Whether that may be considered as mandatory, and whether that may be considered as a sufficient limitation, or as setting up sufficient boundaries within which the Commissioners can act, again is doubtful in my mind. But the part that seems to me that might relieve them from that is that provision which says that they "Shall take into consideration." "Take into consideration," what does that mean? That does not mean they are to set up standards, it does not mean even that they can not go ahead and enact the ordinance. It merely says that at the time they shall set an effective date, "taking into consideration," and so forth. That is the same provision that we place in other acts.

I amended a certain act in 1945 in which I practically said the same thing in reference to one of the administrative agencies of the Commonwealth, that we did not consider that it was binding upon them to absolutely find that there was, as in this instance, some device, but it said that they must "take into consideration" and so forth.

Therefore, under that interpretation I have some question as to whether this is unconstitutional, and whether this would not be sustained as constitutional, because in the first instance the amendment only says that the Commissioners can do what they under the law do all the time, fix an effective date. And the second point was merely a guidance and not something which said they could not do it unless there were devices available, in which event I think we would have to set up some standard.

I again say, Mr. Speaker, that I did not want to debate this. I hope I have not muddied the waters by my discussion, or my opinion on the constitutionality, but at least if you can wade through it, I hope it will be something that will help the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, to be clear as to the law on the subject.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am very thankful to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

I submit that from his remarks, which follow closely my remarks, the best thing that we could do would be to delete this amendment from the bill. We have a good bill now, and he himself is not certain, he said, and why make a good bill unconstitutional by uncertain amendments?

However, I would say to the gentleman that I believe he was here in 1937 when we debated the subject somewhat, not perhaps as much as we should have, and enacted the famous 44-hour bill. There we attempted to give aid and comfort to certain persons because of the hardship that would apply under the 44-hour bill. We sincerely thought that the little section of the bill which gave the Department of Labor and Industry the right to relieve any hardship, not setting up any standards as to what a hardship is, was a very good amendment, only to find that the Supreme Court struck the whole thing down.

I think that the gentleman remembers that decision and remembers the argument. It is the same type of argument that I am giving today. At least, if you feel that this amendment is worthy of statutory enactment, there should be a savings clause if you have to pass it. I believe that the gentleman will agree with me in that.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, now going to renew his motion to table?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Haller.

Mr. HALLER. Mr. Speaker, this amendment might appear to be analogous to the Trojan Horse. Innocent appearance, in its phaseology, it would appear to be a harmless matter, and therefore a good amendment.

For the purpose of the record, however, let us look at the act of 1943 to which this House Bill 7 would be an amendment. It was purely an enabling act authorizing the County Commissioners of Counties of the second class to regulate and control smoke. No time was mentioned in which they were in duty bound to regulate that smoke. It was purely the granting of a power.

In the light of that act and analyzing the amendment which is offered by the gentlemen from Washington County it would appear that the first section of their amendment is merely a reiteration of the original act of 1943. It merely states that the Commissioners shall fix the effective date of any ordinance that they might enact. Assuming for the purpose of argument that this amendment was not taken into consideration, it would only be a matter of logic in the passage of any ordinance by the county commissioners that they would have to state when that ordinance would become effective. So, consequently this first section of the amendment is an absolute surplusage.

The second portion of the amendment attempts to set up vague and uncertain standards as a guide for the county commissioners. It mentions that they shall take into consideration certain factors before they pass any ordinances. I appeal to your logic to realize that any group of commissioners in passing any ordinances would necessarily have to take those factors into consideration.

Therefore, I wish to submit, Mr. Speaker, that the amendment, while appearing to be innocent, a reiteration of the act of 1943 in certain parts, renders the condition so vague and uncertain that in my opinion the Supreme Court might declare it unconstitutional. The effect of that will be to undo the work which was done by this Legislature in 1943 to enable counties of the second class to eliminate smoke.

I heartily agree with my colleague from Allegheny County, Mr. Brown, that if this amendment had been offered in good faith, and not as an attempt to scuttle the original smoke control act, there would be no harm in adding a saving clause.

If a saving clause is added and the Supreme Court shall determine that this amendment is unconstitutional, at least the Act of 1943 would be saved. On the other hand, if our Supreme Court should ultimately decide that this amendment is within the province of this Legislature to enact, then the saving clause would be a mere nullity, but in its present form we are gambling with any decision which will be rendered at a later time, which might result in scrapping the entire smoke control act which we passed in 1943, and under which we hope to clean up the County of Allegheny.

Mr. THOMASSY. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to argue the technical or the legal aspects of this particular amendment with such capable men as Mr. Brown and Mr. Haller, but in the past few weeks I have contacted numerous law firms over the state and have been told that the amendment is constitutional.

The other day I took the liberty to go to the Legislative Reference Bureau and I conversed with Mr. Hannestad pertaining to this particular amendment. Mr. Hannestad after weighing the problem as thoroughly as he possibly could, suggested that he write a letter as to the constitutionality of the bill, and if you will bear with me just a moment I would like to read the letter. This letter is addressed to my colleague, Mr. Mazza, and myself and reads as follows:

"April 7, 1947

"Gentlemen:

"You have asked me to advise you whether the amendment which you propose to House Bill No. 7 would render the measure unconstitutional. The effect of your amendment would be to vest discretion in the county commissioners as to when a resolution or ordinance adopted by the commissioners pursuant to the Act of May 28, 1943 (P. L. 793) for the regulation of Smoke, should become effective and to require the commissioners in fixing such effective date to take into consideration the availability of fuel burning devices suitable for burning high volatile bituminous coal smokelessly."

"If the amendment had placed in the discretion of the county commissioners the power to determine when the Act of 1943 would become effective, the result would unquestionably be a violation of the Constitution, as it would then constitute a delegation of legislative power. Even in this case, however, the entire measure would not become unconstitutional but only the part improperly delegating power to the county commissioners."

"The effect of your proposed amendment is merely to give the county commissioners the power to fix an effective date, not of the legislative act, but of the resolution or ordinance adopted by the county commissioners pursuant to authority given them by the act. This power is inherent in the county commissioners whether or not expressed in the act. The effect of your amendment is, therefore, to limit this power rather than to confer it. It is limited by requiring the county commissioners to take into consideration, before an effective date of a resolution or ordinance is fixed, whether or not the equipment necessary to bring about the required effect is available. In my opinion this is entirely proper from a constitutional point of view."

Very sincerely,

(s) S. EDW. HANNESTAD.

S. Edw. Hannestad, Director.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to read into the record an editorial that appeared in the morning Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, one of the leading independent newspapers in the country. The editorial is headed "Deceit in Harrisburg," and reads as follows:

The Fleming-Barrett amendment to the enabling act of 1943, permitting country-wide smoke control, is obviously the victim of colossal deceit.

Ostensibly, nearly every responsible party in Allegheny County favors the bill publicly, and yet the state GOP caucus has voted about 90 percent to amend it with a tricky provision designed to delay smoke control and protect the coal and railroad interests.

This provision originated not with the Allegheny County delegation, which stood reasonably firm at Monday's party caucus, but with two Westmoreland County Republican legislators, Fernad Thomassy and John Mazza.

What has happened, of course, is that parties supporting the bill publicly in the interest of good public relations are fighting it behind the scenes.

The great outside opposition to a measure affecting only Allegheny County was inspired. It would not otherwise have occurred to Republican legislators in other counties to fight a purely local measure. Lobbies have been at work and they should be exposed.

Representatives Thomassy and Mazza say they are trying to amend the Fleming-Barrett amendment to protect the jobs of soft coal miners. That's a lot of bunk. There will be plenty of demand for every lump of coal mined in this area and elsewhere for a long time to come, regardless of what happens in Allegheny County.

Those who wish to continue the fight on smoke control should have the courage to do it openly. Backstage efforts to cripple and delay it are an admission that the people of Allegheny County want smoke control and that the conspirators are afraid to be identified when they buck the will of the people.

Unfortunately, because of a House rule that no bill may be on the calendar for more than 14 days, Representatives Fleming and Barrett will have to call up their amendment today. This means that the Thomassy-Mazza joker may be tacked on to it.

We hope that Governor Duff, who is committed to real county smoke control, can help change the views of the Republican legislators.

Mr. MAZZA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this amendment.

I am not going to be a part of any hasty legislation that is going to jeopardize the economy of western Pennsylvania.

I am interested in the men, who go underground to supply us with coal so that we might enjoy the comforts from coal.

I don't want to be a part of any type of legislation that is going to put thousands of men out of work.

Men that have been working in the mines all their lives and have no other trade or profession.

What are we going to do with these men?

Western Pennsylvania has already lost a substantial part of its market because of the migration of industry and the intense competition of other coal producing districts.

I am interested in Washington county.

I am interested in western Pennsylvania.

I am interested in Pennsylvania.

I am a member of the Canonsburg Area Development Committee.

We have been working for the past two years trying to induce industry to come to Washington County.

The town of Canonsburg was known as a "Ghost Town." After much hard work, we were successful in getting a few industries into our community and one of the principal reasons for our success was the availability of coal.

Are we going to force this basic industry out of existence by hasty legislation and cause the loss of jobs to many miners?

Remember—These miners spend 90c out of every dollar in western Pennsylvania for food, clothing, and other necessities of life.

There is an interdependence between western Pennsylvania coal producing areas and the balance of the Commonwealth.

Our very competent Department of Commerce under the very able guidance of Secretary Matthews is bending every effort to not only maintain industries in Pennsylvania but to attract others.

Let's help this great State to grow.

Let's be builders—not destructors.

Let's build our foundation on solid rock—not upon "quicksand."

Look the facts squarely in the eye. Let's not be caught gazing into a blue horizon while our industries are being curtailed by legislation and thousands added to our relief roles.

The coal industry alone pays nearly $4,000,000 in taxes in the counties of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Fayette, and Washington.

I might add that some communities, particularly those in Washington County, derive fifty to ninety per cent of their tax revenue from coal.

Take coal out of these communities and they face bankruptcy and become "Ghost Towns."

In addition to the coal miners, this legislation affects the coal consumer.

In Allegheny county—outside the City of Pittsburgh—there are 165,000 homes that use coal for heating.

In the City of Pittsburgh, there are 134,000.

This represents a total of 299,000 homes which will be required to change their equipment.

Unless this amendment is adopted, the County Commissioners will be without a mandate from this legislature to protect these citizens against the enactment of hasty legislation conceived in the heat of enthusiasm, sensationalism, and hysteria.

Gentlemen, I appeal to your common sense to pass this amendment and provide the protection needed by those 300,000 residents of Allegheny County.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, I beg your indulgence for a very few minutes while something more is said about the importance of this bill. I realize that by this time perhaps your ears are somewhat heavy, and I will not add to this heaviness to any great extent.

House Bill 7 as it stands is a peoples' bill, representing the ultimate thinking and wishing and hoping of the people of Allegheny County over many years. Smoke has been one of the great drawbacks in Allegheny County, to a greater extent than most people outside of Pittsburgh realize.

I resent the use of the word "hysteria" in connection with the question of smoke control. It is not hysteria. As I said before, it is the result of the determination of the people of Allegheny County to remove from their community what has been one of the greatest obstacles to the future greatness of the county. We in Allegheny County have full faith in our present County Commissioners or in any County Commissioners who may be elected in the future. They certainly would do nothing to destroy what is a basic industry, and they certainly would not oppress the people. There is a unanimity of thought among the people of Allegheny County in their desire to enact House Bill 7 in its present form, and all civic leaders, all of the business leaders, all of the industrial leaders and people in general, and the leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties are one hundred per cent with House Bill 7. This is the first time in my memory at least that these folks have been together on any one subject.

So I ask you to support House Bill 7 in its present form and thereby give the people of Allegheny County, the vest majority of the people of Allegheny County, the thing that they most want.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible to move that the amendments be laid on the table, and not move that the bill together with the amendments be laid upon the table?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would read for the information of the gentleman and the House Rule 52.

> "When an amendment proposed to any pending measure is laid on the table, it shall not carry with, or prejudice such measure."

Therefore, the Chair would state that the gentleman may make a motion to lay the amendments alone on the table.

MOTION TO LAY AMENDMENTS ON TABLE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Washington to the bill we are now discussing be laid upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, should the amendment be laid upon the table, this bill might pass second reading in its present form.

The SPEAKER. That is correct, if the House desires to pass the bill on second reading.

Mr. SORG. I am grateful, Mr. Speaker, to the sponsors of the bill and to the sponsors of the amendments for the courtesies that were extended to me and the other Members of the House thus far.

It was at my request that the bills were originally passed over for a period of time. It was also at my request that action on this measure would not be insisted upon for a period of time. This courtesy was extended, and I think that both the sponsors of the bill and the sponsors of the amendment are entitled to immediate action, and for that reason I rise to oppose the motion to table.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I concur in what the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, has said, and I oppose the motion to lay the amendment on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware will state it.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, does a motion to pass over take precedence over the motion just made?

The SPEAKER. It does not.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to lay on the table?

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stuart.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STUART. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman how many bridges there are in Pittsburgh crossing the Monongahela and Allegheny Rivers?

Mr. STUART. I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how many bridges in the Pittsburgh area are crossed presently by highway routes?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman mind repeating his question?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know how many bridges there are now in Allegheny County that would be affected by this bill which are presently on routes of prominent highway numbers?

Mr. STUART. I have no idea on that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea what this bill involves as far as expense is concerned to the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, this bill would give the state the right to take over these bridges for mainenance purposes.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman correctly to say that this permits the Highway Department to take over these bridges for maintenance only?

Mr. STUART. As I understand the bill, Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not read it that way. It permits the Highway Department, as I read the bill, to take over as a part of the highway system all those bridges for maintenance. If they have to be rebuilt, they will be rebuilt with State Highway funds.

Mr. STUART. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Does not the gentleman think that the Members of this House ought to have some idea of the expense that is involved in this bill to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, it would be hard to determine the expense because there is no reason to believe that any of the bridges will have to be reconstructed at any time in the immediate future.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that it is possible that this thing might upset the entire highway program for the next biennium?

Mr. STUART. Will the gentleman kindly repeat his question?

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that it is not possible if this bill were passed that there may be repairs, there may be costs involved in this bill that would materially upset the highway program for this biennium coming?

Mr. STUART. I think not, Mr. Speaker. I understand this bill has the aproval of the Highway Department.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say it has the approval of the Highway Department?

Mr. STUART. I understand it has, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman and for the information of the House, that is not the information that I get.

Mr. STUART. That is the information I received, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McMILLEN. That will be all.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly have no purpose here of defeating this bill. We have permitted bridges to be taken over in third class cities, it is true, but I think from the line of questioning that we have had here and from the answers it is evident that no one, not even the Highway Department, has any idea what this is going to cost the state of Pennsylvania.

The fact remains that we have thousands of miles in the highway system of Pennsylvania that are still to be improved, and even made passable. It is true that there are hundreds of bridges on the highway system of Pennsylvania at the present time that are inadequate, that are posted for load weight. We have our highway program, at least we are told that it is projected for the next two years, that the funds are allocated, yet we have this unknown quantity which could very materially upset the entire plan.

I think it should be pointed out that this only permits them to take them over. It does not state that they must or that they are going to. Theoretically that is the case, but as a practical measure how long do you suppose the people of Allegheny County will continue to support these bridges and take care of them if they have a law on the statute books permitting them to ask the Highway Department and insist that the Highway Department take them over? Personally, I think we do not have sufficient figures on this, we don't have enough information, we don't know where we are going to wind up with a bill of this particular kind.

MOTION TO PASS OVER

Mr. McMILLEN. I think that this bill should be passed over until we have that information, and I would move, if I am in order, Mr. Speaker, that this bill be passed over until we have that information.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the only motion the Chair can entertain at this time is a motion to place the bill on the final passage postponed calendar, since the bill has already been agreed to on third reading.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. McMILLEN. I move, Mr. Speaker, that this bill, be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen, in regard to placing this bill on the postponed calendar, and to give him the information that he desires, if this were a mandatory bill, of course, the bill should be placed on the postponed calendar so that we can get the figures, have the bridges appraised and find out what they will cost. However, this is simply a permissive piece of legislation, and until the Department of Highways determines what bridges, if any, they wish to take over, it is impossible to get the gentleman the figures that he wishes or desires. For that reason it seems to me that placing the bill on the postponed calendar will serve no useful purpose. He can't get the figures, I can't get the figures and nobody else can get the figures because we don't know how many bridges they are going to take over, if they ever take over any.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, is a motion to place upon the postponed third reading calendar debatable?

The SPEAKER. The motion is debatable but not the merits of the bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Then I would ask the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. McMillen if he will temporarily withdraw his motion.

MOTION TO POSTPONE WITHDRAWN

Mr. McMILLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana temporarily withdraws his motion.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I certainly do not want to prolong the debate on this measure. It is only a permissive act, as has been pointed out by my colleague, Mr. Brown. It gives the Highway Department the right to take over the bridges. I cannot conceive of the Pennsylvania Highway Department doing this, if in so doing they would jeopardize the highway program which they have outlined for the next six or eight years—which I believe they have. I think they will only do it if it is possible and feasible under the orderly procedure and plan of the Department. Certainly it gives them the right, and it only gives them the right, if they so wish, to take over bridges in cities of the second class, the right which we in 1945, I would draw to the attention of the House, gave to the Highway Department in regard to bridges in third class cities and boroughs, if I am not mistaken.

For that reason I urge the House to vote for this measure, which I am sure would not place any hardship on any of the people of Pennsylvania or on the Highway Department.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, since the motion to place on the postponed calendar was withdrawn and we are debating the bill again, I would point out to the Members of this House that the Highway Department is finding itself in a very percarious position because we went ahead a few years ago and took over all these bridges and put them in their hands. We find ourselves therefore face to face with such a huge expenditure of money that it is going to be almost impossible to meet that expenditure.

As far as Mr. Brown's argument is concerned that this is only a "may" bill, that it just says that they "may" do that, is all the more reason why I think we should not pass the bill. If you are going to pass the bill, after all why should we enact something here that is an unknown quantity? We don't know where we are going or where we are going to end. This and a lot of other bills that we passed to the Highway Department mean that we are going to have to come in here and levy two or three cents more on a gallon of gasoline, if we ever hope that the Highway Department will be able to carry through the program.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. McMILLEN. If there is no further argument on the bill, I again move, Mr. Speaker, that we place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I only have one question and I think that question is on the motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

Two gentlemen debated the bill. One said the Highway Department was in favor of the bill and the other gentleman said that the Highway Department was not in favor of the bill. There is only one question I would like to have decided, and I think we can decide that question by putting it on the postponed calendar, find out whether or not the Highway Department feels that this is a proper piece of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, yesterday because the management wanted a short session, the sponsor of this bill very kindly agreed to hold it over. Now, I am tired, he is tired, I don't doubt but that the Speaker is tired, and I hate to have to make an hour's speech on this bill this afternoon. I recognize the fact that if you do hold it over, that probably you will want to hold it over until Monday because there will be a light House tomorrow. The gentleman could save the House a long and dreary speech if he would hold it over until Monday, and then I will only talk five minutes against it, but if I have to talk today I will talk an hour.

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I realize most of the Members of the House are tired. I am a little tired myself. I always did enjoy hearing Mr. Andrew's speeches, but under the circumstances I am willing to forego that pleasure and forego a vote on this until Monday.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I will be very brief on Monday.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 35

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 35, Printer's No. 245.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 2, 1947.

Whereas The several dams on the lower Susquehanna River (is) Safe Harbor Dam Holtwood Dam and the Conowingo Dam part of which latter dam is locted in the State of Maryland and all three of which dams serve to serouisly interfere with the natural migration of fish and

Whereas No feasible practical or mechanical device has been placed or installed for the natural migration of fish into said Susquehanna River and its tributaries during the spawning seasons of said migratory fish and

Whereas It is highly fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded this problem now therefore be it

Resolved That in the light of recent experience in other states the Joint State Government Commissions is hereby directed to study the problem of constructing fishways around the Safe Harbor Holtwood and Cononwingo Dams on the lower Susquehanna River to permit fish to ascend the river at spawning time and the utilization of newly developed devices for preventing the loss of fish in the hydraulic power plants on the river with the objective of restoring both the recreation and the employment creating possibilities of migratory fish which once flourished in the Susquehanna River and its tributaries That if such study reveals that such construction is practicable suitable action be instituted which will require that the owners of these dams construct these fishways as required in the original permit to construct these dams and in lieu of which the dam owners are now paying a small annual penalty

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, in order to conserve the time of the House, I should like, with the consent of the sponsor, to ask unanimous consent of the House for permission to have this statement relative to the resolution as to the importance of the study by the Joint State Government Commission, extended upon the Journal of the House.

The SPEAKER. It there are no objections the statement of the gentleman regarding the resolution will be extended upon the Journal of the House. The Chair hears no objections, and consent is granted.

(Extended remarks of Mr. Watkins)

WHAT FISHWAYS AROUND THE DAMS ON THE LOWER SUSQUEHANNA RIVER COULD MEAN TO PENNSYLVANIA

(Each Spring the migration of fish into the Susquehanna River presents a sight which serves to shame the hand of civilized man)

Millions of fish heavy with spawn headed for the Upper Susquehanna spawning beds arrive at the towering breast of the Cononwingo Dam where the migration suddenly stops. Contrary to the original permits which required the owners of this dam to install suitable and ample fishways, nothing has been done and the heretofore natural Upstream spawning is prohibited. The fish often ten to fifteen feet deep fall prey to the commercial fishermen in Maryland to the extreme loss of the state of Pennsylvania.

Fishways will provide; the restoration of migrating fish into the entire Susquehanna River basin or watershed. The ascension of millions of fine bass, shad, salmon, herring, suckers, eels and other specie of fishlife.

Fishways will provide; a natural stocking of the entire river and all it's tributaries and maintain a year-round balance of fishlife therein.

Fishways will provide; the restoration of tangible employment to thousand of the citizens of the Commonwealth. In the days before the construction of these dams the industry of fish-canning flourished along the banks of the river. At Williamsport the shad canning industry was recognized as one of the essential enterprises of that city. Lancaster, Marietta, Harrisburg, Millersburg, in fact nearly every community of any size boasted a fish-cannery.

Fishways will provide; outdoor recreation in the sport fishing in the river and all it's tributaries in the same enormous proportions as enjoyed by the citizens of the Commonwealth in the days now gone. Creating a literal paradise which in turn will attract millions of dollars into the commerce channels of the Commonwealth. Outdoor recreation is listed as fifth in the paramount sources of income to the Commonwealth.

Fishways will provide; an excellent contribution to help solve the so-called juvenile delinquency problem. Nothing compares with the character-building environment, the self reliance, self resourcefulness, the patience, the hope, gained and loved and enjoyed by a boy "out fish'n'."

Fishways will provide; a hand in hand companion to the mammoth stream-clearance program now getting underway in Pennsylvania. The purifying effect of healthy fish in pure streams.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. KRATZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the names of Messrs. Cadwalader and Boorse to a resolution he was about to introduce.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. KRATZ, BRUNNER, CADWALADER and BOORSE offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1947.

Today is the 41st birthday anniversary of our fellow Member, Henry J. Propert, who represents the third Legislative District of Montgomery County.

Active in political and community affairs in Montgomery County since 1929 he was rightfully sent to Harrisburg in 1945 and again this year to represent the people of his district which he known so well and has done a splendid job of executing his assignment.

We all know Henry Propert as a swell fellow who takes his family, civic, and legislative responsibilities in stride and with a smile; therefore be it,

Resolved, That this House of Representatives wishes its own Henry J. Propert a very happy forty-first birthday and many more in addition to long life, health and continued success and happiness, and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall deliver to Mr. Propert a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert.

Mr. PROPERT. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes former member of the House, Honorable Amos. L. Gelnett from Perry County.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire permission to interrogate the Chairman of the Mines and Mining committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria desires to interrogate the Chairman of the Mines and Mining committee, the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt. Will the gentleman from Indiana permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEWITT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like to ask whether it is the Chairman's intention to take any action under the terms of the resolution which the House directed to his committee?

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the gentleman from Cambria was not too tired to get up and interrogate me, but evidently he was not. The resolution, I might say, Mr. Speaker, instructs me to make investigation of conditions in the mines.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, might I call the Chairman's attention to the language of the resolution, which I presume he has not read by virtue of his reply, that he does not feel that he has any obligation at all to make the investigation.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. What was his question?

Mr. ANDREWS. I said, Mr. Speaker, that judging by the gentlemen's reply, he has not read the resolution. It does not instruct him to make an investigation.

Mr. HEWITT. I was instructed by the House to do so. I do not want to avoid my responsibility.

Mr. ANDREWS. I misunderstood the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, I still insist that he was not instructed by the House to make an investigation.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, the resolution reads:

"Resolved that this House instruct its Mines and Mining Committee to ascertain, through public hearings and through such other methods as it may elect to employ, whether the provisions of Pennsylvania's mining code, relating to safety in the mining of coal are being enforced and whether, if being enforced, those present rules and regulations are adequate to protect those who mine coal against major disasters similar to the recent mine disaster at Centralia, Illinois."

I might state to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews that we expect to carry out our duties. I have contacted the Secretary of Mines, and you understand he is very busy now and it is rather difficult to get him in here. You understand that the mines are all closed and that production must go ahead as soon as possible, and that's what we are interested in. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. ANDREWS. That answers my question, Mr. Speaker, and I presume that the Chairman of the Mines and Mining Committee, when he has heard the Secretary of Mines state that in his opinion the mines are safe, and when he has heard the Representatives of the miners state that the mines are safe, that he will so report to the House.

Mr. HEWITT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord hear our morning prayer as expressed in the words of the poet—

"God bless our native land,
Firm may she ever stand
Thro' storm and night:
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of wind and wave,
Do Thou our country save
By Thy great might.
For her our prayers arise
To God above the skies,
On Him we wait;
Thou who art ever nigh,
Guarding with watchful eye,
To Thee aloud we cry,
God save the State.
Not for this land alone,
But be God's mercies shown
From shore to shore;
And may the nations see
That men should brothers be,
And form one family
The wide world o'er." Amen.

Mr. Speaker, in honor of this important day, when we have had our co-chairman as honorary Speaker, the Philadelphia Delegation would like to present to you a small token of their esteem, and we hope that after the horse racing bill is passed that your name will be the same as on this little token "Man-O-War," and that your name will be synonymous with horse racing.

This is a token, Mr. Speaker, from the Philadelphia Delegation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Thank you, Mr. Smith. In turn, I wish I could get my horse racing bill out of committee.

THE SPEAKER (Franklin H. Lichtenwalter) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia for presiding.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 7, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 793), entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second class to regulate the production of smoke from chimneys, smokestacks or other source, including provisions for the payment of inspection and certificates of compliance fees incident thereto: authorizing the expenditure of money for the employment of persons, and the acquisition of property for effectuating such regulations; and providing penalties for the violation thereof," removing exemption regarding railroad locomotives and changing effective date.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, irrespective of the amendments that were placed in House Bill No. 7 yesterday I rise to oppose the measure. I feel that the enactment of such an act would place a great burden on one of the basic industries of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

May I point out to the Members of the House that not only does this affect and hinder the progress of a great industry in Western Pennsylvania, but the effect of this bill upon that industry relates itself to the entire Commonwealth.

I say to you, gentlemen, as often as we have stated on the floor of this House that industry will move out of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania due to the passage of one type of legislation or another, this puts such a burden upon that basic industry and those industries related to it that there will be no question in my mind but that you will destroy that which is good for the welfare of this Commonwealth.

I oppose this measure because I feel that even though I agree with the city fathers and the people of the city of Pittsburgh that we should all want a cleaner place to live in, yet since Pittsburgh is a part of this Commonwealth and since there will be a great burden upon that basic industry, I see no reason for passing such a piece of legislation.

Prior to 1932 I can recall that the people of the city of Pittsburgh and the people throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania went down on their knees and prayed that smoke would come out of the smoke stacks and again continue Pittsburgh as the workshop of the world. I feel that there will be such a great burden placed upon industry in general throughout the Commonwealth that the membership of this House from the rural districts as well as from the industrial districts should vote down this measure.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, although the arguments against this bill that I have heard so far are principally bologna, nevertheless I would ask that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I should like to join in the request of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a Parliamentary Inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would it be necessary to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading to pass it over?

The SPEAKER. The House has agreed to the bill on third reading.

Will the House give its unanimous consent for the Chair to rescind its ruling that the House agreed to the bill on third reading? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a Parliamentary Inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state it.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, to rescind or to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading, is it necessary to have unanimous consent?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that unanimous consent is not required to reconsider a vote. Unanimous consent to rescind having agreed to the bill on third reading is a simpler method of getting the bill back to its former position, that is, not agreeing to it on third reading, rather than placing it on the postponed calendar.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would rather do that by a majority vote of the House where we can test the strength on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair had already ruled that unanimous consent had been granted to rescind the former ruling of the Chair before the gentleman rose to be recognized. Therefore, the Chair rescinded its ruling in stating that the House had agreed to the bill on third reading.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to have this bill passed over? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the bill is passed over.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 41, Printer's No. 241,

was passed over at the request of Mr. DAVID P. REESE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 99, as follows:

L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" authorizing the assignment of policemen to training schools and the payment of their expenses thereat

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" is hereby amended by adding after section one thousand one hundred twenty-five thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment were passed over at the request of Mr. GRIFFITHS.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 1057, Printer's No. 222,

was passed over at the request of Mr. GREER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COLE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to bring something that is of vital importance to one of the major industries of Pennsylvania to the attention of the House.

I understand that last night up at Wyoming, Pennsylvania we had another mine explosion and according to the latest reports nine were killed, four injured and two missing. In the last few weeks we have had a lot of criticism throughout the press and radio about John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers having a Memorial walk-out on account of the Centralia, Illinois mine disaster. To my mind this walk-out has long been overdue in the coal mines. This safety measure in the coal mines is a measure that the United Mine Workers have been fighting for a good many years without very much success. Our efforts were not crowned with any success at all to amount to anything until last summer when we got what we call the Lewis-Krug agreement. In that agreement safety committees were set up at every mine and we have had a semblance of safety position along with the Federal Mine Safety Law which came out about three months after the Lewis-Krug agreement was signed. Under this safety code and these safety committees set up at the mines in a lot of places we have had a much greater degree of safety in the mines. In a lot of instances the mine operators refused to go along with the Mine Safety Committee. The result was that the conditions in those mines did not get better even under this particular set-up.

Last fall much criticism was given to John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers on account of the fact that the terms of the Lewis-Krug Agreement had not been complied with by the Department on five different matters of vital importance to the contract. The contract was broken and this safety measure was one of the greatest of those five. The result of that dispute was a case before the Supreme Court of the United States in which John L. Lewis was adjudged guilty of contempt and the United Mine Workers were fined seven hundred thousand dollars, and the Mine Workers were forced to recede from their position of breaking off contract negotiations on April 1st. The week before April 1st, the Centralia mine disaster happened, and under the provisions of the contract a Memorial Holiday was called for one week.

The officials of the United Mine Workers felt that was the only way in which their problem could be brought before the people of the country, and given serious consideration. Many people will say—we hear it on many sides and from many different walks of life, it would have been better had the mine workers stayed at their jobs and given one day's wages to the families in this disaster, which would have been a very fine gesture. The mine workers are still willing to give one day's wages to help these families out, but if the mine workers had stayed at their jobs this condition would not have been brought to the attention of the public as it has been brought by these things in the mining industry. In the bituminous coal mines we have approximately 375,000 men employed throughout the entire United States. Some people give that figure as 400,000. Out of that 375,000 there is an average of 1400 a year killed and 77,000 a year injured, which I leave to your judgment is a mighty high toll for one industry.

At a good many of these mines and mining operations, when any safety conditions are brought to their attention at the mine office by the mine safety committees, they are told "Sure we will go along, we want safety in our mines." I sincerely believe that the operators at most of these mines are sincere when they say they want safety in the mines, but when you get back to the face of the coal, the foreman at the face of that particular section will say "Boys let's get the coal out. What do we care about mining, all we want is production", and that is the way it happens. May I say that in the majority of our mines today we have mechanical operation and no piece work, everything is on a basis of day work and mechanically operated. One shift goes in and they break a record, and the next foreman says, "Here, boys, the other fellows broke a record today, how about our breaking one?" The result is that precautions are thrown to the winds to get the coal out regardless of the safety position.

I think this question of mine safety is one which this Assembly should be very much concerned about because we in Pennsylvania are the largest coal producing state in the nation. I think that this Assembly should instruct the committee on Mines and Mining and also the Mining Department to take immediate steps so that these mine disasters will be very few and far between in the future. I would like for the Assembly to take this matter under serious consideration and that it be done immediately before we have another mine disaster.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman's attention should be directed to the timely resolution introduced by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, last week and adopted by this House, instructing the Committee on Mines and Mining on the very matters that the gentleman has referred to.

I have every assurance from the Chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining that he has already secured the cooperation of the Department of Mines and Mining, that they assume much responsibility in the consideration of the matters referred to, and before this session is over we are hoping for a full and adequate report from them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to enter into this discussion today. The reason I interrogated the Chairman of the Mines and Mining Committee is because I had noticed in the press a statement which quoted him as saying, as I read the article, that no program had been outlined by the Mines and Mining Committee because that Committee had no intention of usurping the jurisdiction or functions of the State Mining Department, and because of what I saw, or at least that was the way I read the statement, I felt it necessary to bring the question to the attention of the House. The matter of checking up as to what is being done and what should be done is certainly not infringing upon the prerogatives or the jurisdiction of the State Mining Department. The business of the State Mining Department is in the field to see that laws are enforced. The business of the Mines and Mining Committee under the terms of the resolution passed in this House is to make such inquiry as in its discretion seems proper, to ascertain, first, whether the Mines and Mining Department is doing its job, whether the mine workers are cooperating with the Mining Department and the operators in establishing safe practices in the mines, and whether in view of all that there is any need for further legislation regarding safety. That, I understand, is the function of the Committee under the terms of the resolution.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I have not seen the article to which the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, has referred. I understood there was an article of some kind in a paper, but Mr. Andrews being a newspaper man, knows that we are often misquoted accidentally.

I stated on the floor of this House yesterday the position of the Committee on Mines and Mining with reference to the resolution of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I think that everybody within the hearing of my voice regrets the sad news this morning from Luzerne County. There isn't anybody in this House that feels more deeply the seriousness of the situation than I, and I wish to say to the Members of the House that my Committee will do everything possible to remedy this situation if it is in our power to do it.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. BENTZEL offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1947.

Harry L. Haines, manufacturer, churchman, community leader, and congressman of Red Lion, York County, Pennsylvania passed away at his home March 29, 1947. His death brought to a close a life time of distinguished achievement.

He entered the cigar business in 1912 and remained active as proprietor of factories in Spry, Jacobus and Loganville until 1936. In conjunction with his business experience, he was a member of the legislative committee of the York County Cigar Manufacturers' association.

During World War I, Mr. Haines was actively engaged in every undertaking and drive connected with the Red Cross, Liberty Loans, War Chest and similar projects.

In 1921 he was elected Burgess of Red Lion, a position he held until 1931. The highlight of his tenure in this office was the marked improvement made in the condition of the borough roads.

Since 1899 he was a member of the Red Lion Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church and Sunday School. He organized a Men's Bible Class, which remains one of the largest in the State, and was superintendent of the Sunday School for twenty years and a church trustee.

Mr. Haines was associated with numerous civic and social clubs in his community, among them the Lions, Red Cross, Elks, Masonic Order, Boy Scouts, and the Keystone Automobile Club.

His outstanding leadership, integrity, organizational ability, and his record as an efficient public servant led to his long term as a Congressman representing York, Adams and Franklin Counties in the 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th and 77th congresses. He promoted legislation authorizing the carrying of air mail by the post office and was a member of the commission for the 75th anniversary observance of the Battle of Gettysburg.

During his life he received various testimonials publicly recognizing his valuable and unselfish service—honors befitting his long career as a community leader; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the passing of Harry L. Haines, his community and State have lost one whose life was devoted to serving them well; and be it further

Resolved, That the Members of this House of Representatives extend their heartfelt sympathy to his widow, Cora Ness Haines, and family, as a token of which the Chief Clerk shall transmit to them a copy of this resolution.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have a statement concerning the data submitted on behalf of the public school employes' retirement fund in response to House Resolution No. 14, in which I point out that the fund has not answered at least five of the interrogations carried in the resolution. If I may be permitted to submit this statement for the record, Mr. Speaker, I will not ask to read it before the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its consent to print the statement referred to by the gentleman from Cambria. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted. The gentleman will submit the statement which will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

(State submitted by Mr. Andrews).

STATEMENT CONCERNING THE DATA SUBMITTED ON BEHALF OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOL EMPLOYES RETIREMENT FUND IN RESPONSE TO HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 14— SERIAL NO. 7—PRINTER'S NO. 47

The data submitted by the Retirement Fund in response to House Resolution No. 14 does not answer the following questions:

1. The percentage of the fund investments yielding more than 4%, 4%, less than 4%.
2. Total amount earned on the above.
3. Statement of the total amount paid for ad-administering the fund for the last five years from the administration fund.
4. Reasons for defaulted bond principal and interest.
5. The effective date of delinquency to retirement fund of contributions from school districts.
6. Statement of the fund's net operating profit or loss for the last five years.

A considerable mass of photostatic copies of statistical material was submitted. The resolution asked for summaries. However, the summaries submitted do not include the six items listed.

Furthermore, the material submitted lists an interest account deficiency of $202,000 because of administrative expenses for the last two years and interest deficiency of $3,182,000 for the total fund for the last two years. The figures submitted would indicate that the fund was in balance prior to the last two years. The Auditor General's Report does not show this.

The interest account deficiency items substantiate the charge that the management of the fund has been withdrawing administrative expenses from the interest returns which were below 4%. The statutes provide that such expenses should come from earnings above 4%. The fund is of course to go to the Legislature for administrative expenses when they could not be met from interest earnings above 4%. As to whether this was done was one of the questions in the resolution which was left unanswered.

The inference is that the fund did not go to the Legislature for the money properly due it by reason of an interest account deficiency.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. SPROUL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the names of Messrs. BLOOM, LAYER, and SPROUL as additional sponsors to House Bill 598.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hidden, make us sensible of Thy power to explore the mind and search the heart of mankind, that we may be truly humble in Thy presence. We know the depth of Thy love and the expansiveness of Thy mercy toward us all. Therefore, make us worthy servants of Thine, who daily enjoy Thy benefits.

Grant, Eternal Father, that Thy sovereign power may work in us. If we be one with Thee, then in every conflict, bitter passion, and strange struggle we are saved from evil assualts which constantly threaten us. Fill us with faith, reverence, hope, and love; strengthen and harmonize our souls by the vision of the holy Good and the holy God, which Thou art!

Do Thou be with all sick and suffering ones; comfort, soothe, and quiet them in their affliction; reach down from Thy throne and help them bear the sorrows that bow them down. Bring peace, happiness and prosperity to all the homes and firesides within the state and the nation. Counsel the Chief Executive of our Nation, the Chief Executive of our beloved State, and all those associated with them, as they together seek to strengthen and further the true American way of life, which is the way of righteousness. REMARKS BY SENATOR DiSILVESTRO TO BE PRINTED IN APPENDIX

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have here a copy of an address given by one of our colleagues, Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro, at a dinner in Philadelphia given to the impressiario of the LaScala Opera Company. It contains some very interesting and enlightening information.

Therefore I would ask permission of the Senate to have it included in the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hearing no objection, the request is granted.

EXTENDED REMARKS BY SENATOR DiSILVESTRO

Address of Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro at a birthday dinner to Francesco Pelosi, General Manager of the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company, Sunday, April 13, 1947, at Palumbo's Restaurant, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The Reverend Clergy, Francesco Pelosi, Honored Guests and Friends:

This is a happy occasion and I am honored to have been given the high privilege of addressing a few brief remarks to you this evening.

We have come together on this Sunday following Easter to pay a tribute to a man who is loved by us all and to whom our felicitations certainly are due.

So we honor Francesco Pelosi for what he is and for what he has done and we extend our sincere good wishes on his birthday with the devout hope that he will live many, many years more to continue his splendid contribution to the world of music.

Through the God-given talents and abilities of this great impresario and the loyal devotion of the fine musicians he has welded together, the La Scala Opera Company is one of the outsanding musical organizations in the world.

It is more than an Opera Company It is a gifted group of people with the true love of music in their hearts.

It is not given to all of us to have this talent of music—this ability to translate cold notes and scores into inspiring renditions that stir the very souls of men.

Music and its appreciation make for better living. It is a quality that is added to our lives and which helps us in many ways that we cannot finds words to define.

Who is there among us who has not had the glorious experience of being transported into another world—a world of pure delight and extreme satisfaction—by the magical mystery of music?

The history of mankind is studded with references to the part that music has played in the development of the world. Music is one of the oldest forms of expression. It is one of the most effective ways of expressing pure beauty. It is the only way that some emotions can be expressed adequately.

The ancient writings that have been preserved for us show that good music has been a good influence in the world down through the ages. The Bible tells of ages past that expressed their highest ideals through the harp, the psaltery and the flute and the golden voices of gifted men and women.

I like to think that all of the great music that ever has been played and sung since the beginning of time must have risen to Heaven to make it the glorious place that it is pictured to be.

Many peoples back through the corridors of the centuries have made their contribution to music—and an honored place among them is held by the Italian people.

Music ripples through sunny Italy It plays a vital part in the lives of the people. It is an expression not only of what they are now, but of their heroic heritage. It is an expression of the joy that is in their hearts—of courage, of hope and of good will to all men everywhere. Occasionally, during the dark periods in the life of the nation, it has been the expression of anguished souls. But that never has lasted long. Always, the bright sunshine of lofty spirits has crept in to dispel the shadows of doubt and despair.

And so the Italian people always have emerged triumphantly from the troubles of the world that sometimes have assailed them. And they will emerge victorious again from the stifling woes that have beset them as an aftermath of the terrible war which scarred this so-beautiful land.

They are winning this fight against almost overwhelming odds because of their national character, of which music is such an integral part. They will always be basically a happy people and the melodies of hope and cheer and good will forever will ring through the land.

This heart-warming contribution to the world of music has been spread far by those of the Italian race. Many of the great artists among them have brought music and its appreciation to the shores of America, which so many of our people have adopted as their home.

This came about naturally and logically because the Italian people always have shared their good things—music and art and learning and the other forms of culture—with the rest of the world.

A fine part of this contribution has been brought to America by Francesco Pelosi and his great musical organization. Wherever and whenever La Scala appears, there you will find music lovers gathered for a season of inspiration brought to them by Francesco Pelosi's artists.

It seems to me, too, that music is one force in the world that is helping to cement understanding among the peoples of the world. The thrilling operas, the sparkling folk songs and the other works of the musical art born in Italy certainly have brought to the United States the medium through which the diversified population of this land can gain an insight into the soul of Italy.

Who is there so base that could harbor emotions of anger, or of hate, or of selfishness and greed, in his heart while a monumental musical work is being played?

Yes, Francesco Pelosi and La Scala have made—and still are making—their inspiring contribution to peace and goodwill and understanding. And they certainly are making their contribution to American democracy.

These probably are things that we don't think about too frequently in our busy, everyday lives. But they are deeply ingrained in our natures and they have an effect upon us whether we know it or not.

I know that we are all very proud of Francesco Pelosi and of La Scala. We ought to give tangible expression to this pride more often than we do. We want them to know of our appreciation and of our respect and of our gratitude.

Yes, this is truly a happy occasion. May Francesco Pelosi and all of those who make up La Scala go ever onward to new heights of success and accomplishment in the world of music that they know so well. And may they know, too, that the flame of pride kindles in our hearts because of what they are and what they have the God-given genius to do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, last week I called attention of the Senate and the Liquor Control Board to a specific case wherein the policy of the Liquor Board relative to its distribution of liquors works a hardship upon a licensee and causes a loss of revenue to the Commonwealth.

At this time I am going to call your attention to another example of the blundering, wondering and floundering policies of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

I have learned of a licensee, a large licensee who has in his stockroom hundreds of cases of gin. This gin was purchased at a time when the short-sightedness of the board, plus wartime shortages, forced him to purchase this item to keep his business operating.

There was a period rather recently when gin became scarce and certain large consumers found themselves short. They went to the board and offered to buy this surplus gin from this other licensee through the board channels. This would have helped the owner of the gin to get rid of his surplus while giving these other consumers the item they needed.

The Pennsylvania Liquor Board refused to allow this purely business deal, with the result that one licensee has a large unsaleable stock while the other legitimate businesses are deprived of a profit, their customers and patrons are deprived of a wanted commodity and finally the state is deprived of a sizable amount of revenue.

I claim this is poor management and substantiates my former charges that the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board is inept, and inexcusably inefficient.

I can, and beileve it my duty, to give you another illustration of the poor business management of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

During the period of the shortage of good liquors, namely, Kenturky Bourbon, a certain large hotel found that it could purchase a sizeable supply of Bourbon in Kentucky. This particular hotel is one of the finest in the state and has a rather discriminating clientele. When the representatives of this licensee approached the Liquor Board with its proposal to purchase through legitimate Liquor Control Board channels, they were refused the right.

Liquor Dealers are in business to do business, and it is the duty and obligation of the Liquor Control Board to see that everything is done to help legitimate business and licensees carry on their business profitably.

It seems to me that because this particular business is carried on by the state with purely political appointments, we, the people of the Commonwealth, are kept in the dark as to the buying, selling and distribution of this privileged commodity.

At this point I would like to ask the Senate whether it is interested in the fact that thousands of cases of high-priced inferior goods are cluttering up the Liquor Board stores and warehouses, to the extent that the state has had to pay demurrage as high as $5,000 in Pittsburgh recently because new supples could not be unloaded.

I will give the Senate and the people of Pennsylvania all the information I can in the few remaining weeks of this Session, but I protest against the blind arrogance of the Liquor Control Board's mal-administration and the utter callousness of the Republican majority in this Senate for its refusal to give this monopolistic state business a public airing.

We should be able to ask for a house cleaning in this badly managed department without losing our political tempers.

There is something more at stake; there is the question as to whether some of the citizens of Pennsylvania are being cheated by business methods that, to say the least, are questionable.

I call upon the Republican majority to pass this Dent-Barr resolution calling for a complete investigation of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

If the Board is not covering up some smelly liquor deals, then it need not fear the clean air and sunshine of a senatorial investigation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this afternoon I want to again point out to you the dangerous fiscal policy we are subscribing to if we allow the passage of the new, discriminatory and punitive taxes demanded by Governor Duff.

As a personal observation I would like to state at the outset that if Governor Duff will call in an outside auditor to check his second-guessing Budget Director, Mr. Logan, I am sure he would release his dictatorial grip upon the Republican Majority of the Senate.

In all my years of serving in the Senate I have never yet witnessed such a spectacle of passive submission as we have before us in this Session.

I have talked privately to members of both branches of the General Assembly and find that, if left to their own dictates, the membership would vote overwhelmingly against these new and unprecedented taxes. However, for some reason or another they have been led to believe that the teachers' salary raise, the pure stream legislation and the mental hospital programs all depend upon the passage of these uncalled for, burdensome taxes.

I have stated before, and repeat now, this is not true, the necessary programs for the betterment of the Commonwealth can be affected if these taxes are not considered.

The moneys are available and any eighth grade student in our public schools, with a "B" average can take the Governor's budget and by simple addition and subtraction find at least $31,000,000 in excess of the budget director's estimates.

When I proposed a complete study of the budgetary needs and the revenue program early in the session, the majority leader attempted to discredit my figures by the old trick of confusing the issue.

Today I want to repeat my charge that the Budget Director, Mr. Logan, is deliberately underestimating the revenue and overestimating the budgetary needs.

Let me read you a statement made public last Wednesday by the State Chamber of Commerce, and I quote:

"I trust that at this point you will permit me to supplement my official statement with a few brief comments on the budgetary problems confronting the Commonwealth.

"The budget document lacks sufficient explanatory and analytical data for a searching appraisal of the spending programs in effect or proposed. Such data would be developed by a continuous operational study of state administrative agencies by the budget office—a function which that office is not sufficiently staffed to undertake. What may have been an adequate budget technique in 1923-1925, when General Fund appropriation requests were less than $100,000,000 is quite inadequate today when biennial appropriations of $600,000,000 are requested.

"On the revenue side—and this I want you to pay strict attention to—there is good reason to believe that the budget document underestimates the yield of the corporate net income tax in the next biennium by $15,000,000, and the capital stock tax by $10,000,000. The excess yields may properly be balanced against the revenues to be collected under House Bill No. 665 and House Bill No. 666.

"Furthermore, the 1947-1949 General Fund budget includes capital fund expenditures of $146,000,000, to be paid out of current revenues in hand or anticipated, except for $50,000,000 available through a state bond issue. Should not serious thought be given to funding a larger proportion of the state building program and spending the cost over a period of years, commensurate with the long-term use of the structures to be erected? Probably a substantial part of the building program can not be completed or undertaken in the next biennium Yet enough new or increased taxes are demanded in 1947-1949 to assure covering the entire cost of the whole program in that biennial period. Moreover, every new or increased tax tends to become permanent; so we face the strong likelihood that taxes primarily needed to finance a capital expenditure program will be retained long after its completion and be used for driving up still further the level of our expenditures for current operation."

Gentlemen, if I was wrong in my estimates it was because I was trying to keep from making Logan's budget an utterly ridiculous document. If you will go back to may figures you will find that the State Chamber of Commerce claims $50,000,000 more than I have as the amount of additional revenue to be obtained under the corporate net income tax.

If we accept the Chamber's analysis of the budget we find ourselves with $25,000,000 more than Mr. Logan estimates, plus $6,000,000 from the six mills boost on gross utility receipts which for some strange reason Mr. Logan completely ignores in his revenue estimates, making a total of $31,000,000 available for this biennium over and above what Mr. Logan claims is available.

Gentlemen, I think the time has come for this Senate to assert itself as a function of government separate and distinct from the Executive Branch. If this Senate swallows the present program whole without due consideration of the facts as presented, not only by your colleague in the Senate but by others interested in Pennsylvania's fiscal affairs, then it will surely deserve the condemnation and criticism of a long-suffering public as well as the industrial interests of our Commonwealth.

I intend to present at the conclusion of my remarks a copy of the statements made by two representatives of the business and industrial interests of Pennsylvania for inclusion in the Legislative Journal. I believe we must have the record for the future if you, as duly elected members of the Senate are going to let political consideration make this Senate body a subservient and obedient servant to the Administrative Branch of our State Government.

When I proposed Administrative economies I was completely ignored by the majority in the Senate.

Let us look at what the City of Chester has to say in this regard, and I quote:

"First let me say that we, of the Chamber of Commerce, have a very real appreciation of the problems that remain to be solved if the Governor's program is to be effected.

"In this connection, we are not here to approve or disapprove that program, excepting in connection with two matters:

"First—We request a complete study of the proposed budget to the end that economies be effected wherever such economies may be accomplished without impairing the public service.

"Secondly—We especially request the retention of the present manufacturers' exemption, from the capital stock tax, of capital employed for manufacturing purposes in the Commonwealth."

I would like to say a word about the latter of these two propositions first.

Gentlemen, when you remove the manufacturers' exemption, you are killing one of the most potent psychological sales talks that your local Chamber of Commerce have, to aid in attracting new industries to the communities in our Commonwealth, and if your Department of Commerce is free to say so, I am sure they will agree that this is true.

In connection with the budget—we suggest that the entire matter, be re-examined—take department by department, with a pre-determined, hardboiled purpose of cutting down, and we are certain that material savings can be effected without greatly impairing the public service.

Certainly many of the additional services proposed by the various departments as desirable and necessary, even a few short weeks ago, may now, on sober second thought, either be curtailed or postponed to a more propitious date.

In the words of a well known statesman, now deceased, 'let us look at the record'."

And here is the record:

"An examination of the budget, which, incidentally, is made available to us in somewhat condensed form, reveals that total appropriations to the Executive Department functions under the Governor's supervision, excluding subsidies, have been increasing each biennium, in round figures, as follows

"1939-1941 $ 63,000,000
1941-1943 79,000,000
1943-1945 87,000,000
1945-1947 108,000,000
1947-1949 134,000,000
(as recommended by the Governor)

Subsidies appropriated to the Executive Department have been increasing as follows:

"1939-1941 109,000,000
1941-1943 118,000,000
1943-1945 156,000,000
1945-1947 188,000,000
1947-1949 227,000,000

"The budget recommended by the Governor for the fiscal biennium June 1, 1947 to May 31, 1949 includes a construction program amounting to $146,000,000, which probably will not be completed within the next two-year period. Despite the fact that the Governor stated he would issue bonds from the $50,000,000 program authorized, only as needed, he has included in his 1947-1949 budget, full interest and principal of $5,812,500.

"In connection with the construction program, it is very doubtful how much of the $5,000,000 recomended for desilting the Schuylkill River can be spent in the next two years.

"Salaries and expenses recommended for appropriation to the Department of Commerce have been increased from $280,000 in the 1945-1947 biennium to $950,000 in 1947-1949 biennium, without any explanation of what this increase covers in terms of personnel, functions or programs.

"Appropriations for school health examinations have been nearly doubled over that of the current biennium, from a figure of $4,000,000 to $7,800,000 and the employment of a large staff of nurses; there is a question as to whether such a staff could be recruited within the biennium.

"The Motor License Fund has previously supported the State Police Department to a greater extent than is contemplated in the next fiscal period. In view of the nature of the work performed by the state police, it would seem reasonable to expect that more funds could be taken from the Motor License Fund and thus obviate the necessity for raising additional taxes to support the state police out of the General Fund.

"In 1945-1947, $2,725,000 was appropriated from the General Fund for the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, whereas in 1947-1949 it is expected that $2,500,00 for the same purpose will be made available from the Motor License Fund. The question arises whether or not the 1945-1947 appropriation could not now be recovered from the Motor License Fund.

"These are merely specific examples of a few instances where serious question arises. Undoubtedly, a detail breakdown of the figures presented in the budget document would lead to more questions as to the advisability of the expenditures projected."

Gentlemen, in the face of such conclusive arguments are you still intent upon ruthlessly ignoring all the voices raised against this billion dollar budget and the new and unprecedented consumer taxes being imposed upon only a segment of our peoples.

I will not at this time attempt to give you our opposition, position and arguments on these taxes, it is sufficient at the moment to prove beyond any doubt the errors in Mr. Logan's estimates and to remove by simple calculations the need for these additional revenues at this time.

If I were to take all the time required to review for you the bad guessing of Mr. Logan over the past four bienniums it would require at least a full day of steady uninterrupted testimony. However, out of consideration of my colleagues who recognize the urgency of the situation, I will add more information at the first opportunity.

Before closing, however, I suggest to the Senate that the fiscal committee named earlier in the session can now reorganize and function properly. I protested when this committee was named because I was suspicious of Mr. Logan's influence on the committee. My suspicions were confirmed by the report of the committee based entirely upon Mr. Logan's figures. I ask that same committee to analyse the figures given to the committee by Mr. Logan and then compare them with the figures furnished the Governor by the same Mr. Logan covering the same revenues, the same budget, and if the committee can make any sense out of the differences amounting to millions of dollars, I am willing to call it a day and vote for more mental hospitals and especially for more money for grade school teachers who major in simple arithmetic.

Mr. President, I present to the chair for inclusion in the Journal these comprehensive reports for the benefit of future open-minded members of the Senate.

EXTENDED STATEMENTS INCLUDED IN LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL AT REQUEST OF SENATOR DENT

Before the Finance Committee
Senate, Capitol Building
Harrisburg, Pa.

William F. Delehanty, Secretary-Manager
Chamber of Commerce City of Chester and Delaware County
20 East 5th Street
Chester, Pa.

First let me say that we, of the Chamber of Commerce, have a very real appreciation of the problems that remain to be solved if the Governor's programme is to be effected.

In this connection, we are not here to approve or disapprove that programme, excepting in connection with two matters:

First—We request a real study of the proposed budget to the end that economies be effected wherever such economies may be accomplished without impairing the public service.

Secondly—We especially request the retention of the present manufacturers' exemption, from the capital stocks tax, of capital employed for manufacturing purposes in the Commonwealth.

I would like to say a word about the latter of these two propositions first.

You are all aware, of course, that chambers of commerce all over the country are striving to attract new industries to their respective communities, and to retain those they already have.

Just prior to the war, many of the states entered into this field and sent men out, beating the bushes in every etsablished manufacturing center in our state, and, no doubt in others, for the ostensible purpose of inducing manufacturers to establish branch plants in their states. This was bad enough, but I have reason to believe that these procurers, and I use the word without any vulgar implications, were not too particular whether they procured a branch, or the whole tree, lock, stock and barrel.

The war interruped the programme of procurement but I am certain these gentlemen will shortly descend on us again like a cloud of locusts in an endeavor to entice our industries away.

Furthermore, you should understand the danger to this Commonwealth, that results from the establishment of modern and improved facilities in branch plants situated in other states.

The mere duplication of manufacturing facilities in several different states places a whip in the hands of manufacturers that can't be ignored if we are to retain business and employment in our state, and this is especially true in periods of business recession, when the manufacturer is confronted with the necessity of deciding which of these plants can operate most profitably and which to shut down under conditions then prevailing. In this connection it often hapepns that the so-called branch plant has proven more efficient than the main stem, and the original plant is left to wither and die for want of the very nourishment we are now requesting—the retention of the manufacturers' exemption.

You may say that the amount involved is not of great importance, insofar as any single industry is concerned, just as it may be said that the savings effected by marking a garment $1.98, $2.98, $3.98 and so forth, are absurdly small—but, ask any business man if these psychological penny savings affect the volume of sales, and see what he tells you.

Gentlemen, when you remove the manufacturers' exemption, you are killing one of the most potent psychological sales talks that your local Chamber of Commerce have, to aid in attracting new industries to the communities in our Commonwealth, and if your Department of Commerce is free to say so, I am sure they will agree that this is true.

In connection with the budget—we suggest that the entire matter, be re-examined—take department by department, with a pre-determined, hard-boiled, purpose of cutting down and we are certain that material savings can be effected without greatly impairing the public service.

Certainly many of the additional services proposed by the various departments are desirable and necessary, even a few short weeks ago, may now, on sober second thought, either be curtailed or postponed to a more propitious date.

In the words of a well known statesman, now deceased, "let us look at the record."

The Bureau of Statistics of the Commonwealth indicates that in the ten years span, from 1930 to 1940, capital invested in manufacturing firms in Pennsylvania dropped fom $4,512,368,400 to $3,588,477,700, a decline of 20.5%. In the middle of this period, the Act of May 16, 1935, Pamphlet Laws 208 and Pamphlet Laws 184, depression inspired levies, bent the broad back of Pennsylvania industry. At that time, among other things, an exemption which spared manufacturers from the collection of a burdensome capital stock tax was nullified, in addition to which, for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, all corporations, manufacturing and non-manufacturing, were subjected to a corporate net income tax.

The Department of Public Instruction, in its Statistical Abstract for 1944, indicates that enrollment in elementary schools, including kindergartens, dropped in Pennsylvania from 1,563,615 in 1930 to 1,154,465 in 1940, a decline of 26%. By 1944, these enrollments declined to 997,982 or 46% under 1930.

The statistics quoted cover prior years. Let us look into the future.

On June 5, 1944, the Wall Street Journal carried a feature story on population trends in the postwar years, as analyzed by Philip M. Hauser, Assistant Director of the United States Bureau of the Census. Dr. Hauser divides the country into four classes of metropolitan areas. Class "D" represents the areas which lost population, or grew relatively little during the war, and in each of the two preceding periods of observation, and which, therefore, cannot be expected to grow rapidly, or even to recoup their loss in the postwar period.

Of thirty-three metropolitan areas, in this least promising Class, Pennsylvania provides ten as follows:

1. Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton
2. Altoona
3. Harrisburg
4. Johnstown
5. Lancaster
6. Reading
7. Scranton
8. York
9. Pittsburgh
10. Philadelphia (including Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties).

These ten areas include seventeen counties of the state and 70.56% of its estimated civilian population, as of November 1, 1943.

This prospect of loss of population confirms the statistics relative to the decline in capital invested in manufacturing in Pennsylvania noted above.

An examination of the budget, which, incidentally, is made available to us in somewhat condensed form, reveals that total appropriations to the Executive Department for functions under the Governor's supervision, excluding subsidies, have been increasing each biennium, in round figures, as follows—

1939-1941 63 million
1941-1943 79 million
1943-1945 87 million
1945-1947 108 million
1947-1949 134 million
(as recommended by the Governor)

Subsidies appropriated to the Executive Department have been increasing as follows:

1939-1941 109 million
1941-1943 118 million
1943-1945 156 million
1945-1947 188 million
1947-1949 227 million
(as recommended by the Governor)

The budget recommended by the Governor for the fiscal biennium June 1, 1947 to May 31, 1949 includes a construction programme amounting to 146 million dollars, which probably will not be completed within the next two-year period. Despite the fact that the Governor stated he would issue bonds from the $50,000,000 programme authorized, only as needed, he has included in his 1947-1949 budget, full interest and principal of $5,812,500.

In connection with the construction program, it is very doubtful how much of the $5,000,000 recommended for desilting the Schulykill River can be spent in the next two years.

Salaries and expenses recommended for appropriation to the Department of Commerce have been increased from $280,000 in the 1945-1947 biennium to $950,000 in 1947-1949 biennium, without any explanation of what this increase covers in terms of personnel, functions or programmes.

Appropriations for school health examinations have been nearly doubled over that of the current biennium, from a figure of $4,000,000 to $7,800,000, and the employment of a large staff of nurses, there is a question as to whether such a staff could be recruited within the biennium.

The Motor License Fund has previously supported the State Police Department to a greater extent than is contemplated in the next fiscal period. In view of the nature of the work performed by the State Police, it would seem reasonable to expect that more funds could be taken from the Motor License Fund and thus obviate the necessity for raising additional taxes to support the State Police out of the General Fund.

In 1945-1947, $2,725,000 was appropriated from the General Fund for the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, whereas in 1947-49 it is expected that $2,500,000 for the same purpose will be made available from the Motor License Fund. The question arises whether or not the 1945-1947 appropriation could not be recovered from the Motor License Fund.

These are merely specific examples of a few instances where serious question arises. Undoubtedly, a detailed breakdown of the figures presented in the budget document would lead to more questions as to the advisability of the expenditures projected.

References to Pennsylvania's high state tax burden on manufacturing corporations are not mythical. Here are some facts in regard to two hypothetical cases—a large corporation, and a small corporation. Let us assume that these manufacturing corporations will be domestic corporations in the state in which they settle; that all of their business will be conducted within the boundaries of that state; that a large corporation has $100,000,000 capital stock, $150,000,000 sales, $8,000,000 net income before state taxes and $45,000,000 value of intangibles; that the small corporation has $100,000 capital stock, $150,000 sales, $8,000 net income before state taxes and $45,000 value of intangibles. If the manufacturers' exemption is postponed, state taxes in Pennsylvania, or in any of the six surrounding states, would be as follows:

	Large Corporation	Small Corporation
Pennsylvania	$977,047	$875
West Virginia	587,500	695
New York	555,641	442
Ohio	235,000	235
Maryland	193,548	154
New Jersey	80,000	80
Delaware	62,000	48

Even if the manufacturers' exemption is not postponed, Pennsylvania's state taxes would be higher than in four of the six surrounding states.

The combination of our capital stock tax and corporate net income tax places a larger state tax burden upon industry in Pennsylvania than is generally imposed by other industrial states. As a result, Pennsylvania faces a real disadvantage in competing for industry in the postwar period.

Our Legislature recognized this when in 1943 it approved the restoration of the manufacturers' exemption, to be effective January 1, of the calendar year following the declaration of the cessation of hostilities by the President.

The State Department of Commerce also recognized the disadvantage Pennsylvania faced in competing for industry so, in its 1946 advertising, the Department featured a tax chart showing Pennsylvania in a favorable tax position; but the comparison was based on restoration of the 50-year old manufacturers' exemption (1885-1935).

Now the Commonwealth proposes to nullify its advertisement of 1946 by postponing the manufacturers' exemption for two years. Industrial prospects, and industries already here, are very likely to feel that such postponement, if authorized now, will be repeated in succeeding biennial periods. New financial crises, and new needs for money, will undoubtedly be found. This will probably result in permanent abolition of the manufacturers' exemption.

Two years from now will not be the time to begin to attempt attracting industry to this state. Manufacturers will have carried out most of their postwar building plans by that time. Most of the value to be derived by this state from granting the manufacturers' exemption will occur during the next two years while industries are selecting locations that will establish the pattern of state leadership for years to come.

We have two choices. Reduce taxes on manufacturing corporations in order to encourage expansion of manufacturing facilities now located in Pennsylvania, as well as to attract large manufacturing corporations not presently located within this state's boundaries, or, keep the tax rates high on manufacturing corporations, forcing them to gradually disappear

The former policy will provide more employment, more customers for our merchants, more users of the services provided by public utilities—briefly, more business activity. The latter procedure will result in high unemployment, the necessity of even greater public assistance than is now required, a shifting of population away from Pennsylvania and less business activity.

On Monday, March 24, 1947, a newly appointed federal and state tax committee of the Chamber of Commerce, held a meeting for the purpose of discussing Pennsylvania's fiscal dilemma. After a discussion of the matters presented in this message, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, that the Federal and State Tax Committee of the Chamber of Commerce—City of Chester and Delaware County—recommends that the 13th Biennial Budget of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as presented by the Governor on March 11, 1947 to the General Assembly, be reduced by an amount sufficient to eliminate the necessity of:

(1) levying any taxes not heretofore levied,

(2) removing any tax exemptions now authorized by law,

(3) increasing the rate of any taxes now in effect."

It is our belief that a satisfactory solution to the problem would be found

(1) if certain recommended appropriations were reduced,

(2) if some of the recommended appropriations were spread over more than one biennium without interfering with the completion of the programme,

(3) if certain recommended appropriations were transferred from the General Fund to the Motor License Fund and

(4) if certain estimated revenues that are apparently understated were increased.

If the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania continues to increase appropriations each biennium, and manufacturing corporations continue a gradual decline, only disaster can be the result.

Let us work together in a spirit of cooperation. Let us be constructive instead of destructive. Let us start today to plan a prosperous future for the people of our state.

Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce
State Chamber Building, Harrisburg

Statement Before the Finance Committee of the Senate on H.665 and H.666, April 9, 1947
By
Leonard P. Fox, General Secretary
Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce

We are appearing in behalf of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce composed of 3,500 individual members representing 150 different lines of business and distributed over 65 counties of the state. This state-wide membership is exclusive of 120 affiliated local chambers of commerce and boards of trade and 80 trade associations.

Our remarks are directed mainly to H.665 (corporate net income tax extension, with elimination of the carry-back and carry-forward of losses) and H.666 (suspending for another two years the exemption of manufacturing corporations from the capital stock tax on capital necessarily and exclusively employed in the manufacturing process).

By vote of its membership and the Board of Directors, the State Chamber of Commerce has consistently urged restoration of the manufacturers' exemption as a means of preserving Pennsylvania's competitive position among the industrial states. The State Chamber opposes elimination of the carry-back and carry-forward of losses, because averaging of corporate earnings is particularly vital in a heavy industry state like Pennsylvania. Especially objectionable is the proposal to make the elimination apply retroactively to 1946.

When the manufacturers' exemption was abolished and the corporate net income tax imposed in 1935, the State Chamber declared in an open letter to Governor Earle:

"The policy of abolishing the exemption of domestic and foreign manufacturing corporations from the 5-mill state tax on capital stock, in conjunction with the new corporate net income tax, removes the favorable state tax differential which Pennsylvania has enjoyed over most industrial states. Actually, Pennsylvania will have a less favorable state tax situation for manufacturing enterprise than our neighboring states of New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Maryland, Ohio, West Virginia and other states in the South and Middle West. Already commercial organizations in Ohio and Virginia are expressing their gratification over the prospective loss of Pennsylvania's tax advantages for industrial concerns."

The State Chamber supplied a supporting statistical study of this adverse state tax differential in a "Comparative Study of Corporate Taxes in Fifteen Industrial States," made early in 1938 by a competent public accountant, Mr. Clarence L. Turner of Philadelphia.

In the intervening years the report has been critically examined by tax students and official state agencies, but its basic conclusions still stand. To illustrate, the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee stated, after a careful analysis of the Turner report and related data:

"The conclusion the commission draws from this section of its report is that the burden of corporation state taxes, and particularly on the capital of corporations, is heavier than in most other states, that this burden adds to the difficulties of operating industry in Pennsylvania at a profit, tends to eat up the working capital of business, retards the development of industry located here, and acts as a deterrent to the location of new industry in this state."

In January 1941 the Joint State Government Commission, Ellwood J. Turner, Chairman, which reviewed the Turner Report and supplemented it with a comparison of local property tax burdens in various states, made the following observations in its report to the General Assembly:

"Pennsylvania's new and increased business taxes have resulted in business tax 'burdens' which on the whole are decidedly heavier than tax 'burdens' upon business in the states whose products compete with products manufactured in the Commonwealth.

"State differences in business tax 'burdens' vary with the type of business enterprise considered.

"The importance of manufacturing in Pennsylvania is considerably greater than the importance of the same branch of economic activity for the nation as a whole. In Pennsylvania manufacturing accounted for 38.1% of all gainful workers in 1930. In the Nation as a whole it accounted for but 28.9%. In fact, there is reason to believe that future levels of welfare in the Commonwealth depend largely upon the expansion of manufacturing activities.

"Any State fiscal policies which place Pennsylvania factories, mines, and farms at a competitive disadvantage as compared with other states seriously jeopardize the levels of living of all Pennsylvanians, including those businessmen whose prosperity depends upon high levels of productivity of the primary producers.

"Though the position of Pennsylvania manufacturing enterprise is far from encouraging, the plight of Pennsylvania mines is far more discouraging."

During 1945 Governor Edward Martin authorized the Budget Bureau and Department of Commerce to make a comparative study of state and local taxes on business in nine industrial states—Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Local tax burdens noted in the study reflected comparable spot locations in the various states.

The findings of this study, often referred to as the Logan Report, were thus summarized by the officials who directed it:

"The general statement can be made that as far as this study goes state corporate taxes are somewhat higher in Pennsylvania than in the other states in this study before effect is given to the manufacturers' exemption. The manufacturers' exemption improves Pennsylvania's situation but in relation to at least half of the states Pennsylvania's position is still somewhat unfavorable.

"In comparing local taxes in the various states the information in this study shows that Pennsylvania has a very favorable position. It is this large advantage which Pennsylvania has on local taxes, primarily, that gives this State whatever favorable position it has in considering total taxes, state and local.

"Since financial statements of corporations differ greatly and local tax rates and assessments vary widely among the various taxing districts in Pennsylvania and the other states, it is felt that this study cannot be used as the basis for broad generalizations. The study shows what the situation is for the corporations included in this study in the localities concerned in Pennsylvania and in the other states."

It is impossible to say whether the report was effective in modifying the widely held opinion that Pennsylvania state taxes are generally higher on industry than is the case in competing industrial states, and that the great diversity of local tax rates makes comparisons for states extremely difficult.

Early in 1946 the State Department of Commerce gave wide newspaper and magazine publicity to an advertisement entitled "Most businesses and individuals find greater tax advantages in Pennsylvania." The advertisement featured a chart based on the Logan report, showing a quite favorable tax position for Pennsylvania corporations in comparison with those of the principal northeastern industrial states. The chart was headed by the statement—"Total State, Local and Workmen's Compensation Taxes, After the pending law goes into effect, exempting manufacturing corporations from capital stock taxes on capital invested in and actually employed in manufacturing operations in Pennsylvania."

Now the Commonwealth proposes to ignore the promise made in the Act of May 27, 1943, P. L. 7762, and reiterated in the Department of Commerce advertisement, for restoration of the manufacturers' exemption after the official end of the war. Certainly there is a breach of promise involved here, or at least a lack of consistency and continuity in the Commonwealth's attitude toward industry, which does not augur well for the future.

Nobody contends that taxation is always the major or decisive factor in the location of a new industry in Pennsylvania or the expansion of a plant already here. However, taxes often play an important part in the

1. Refusal of industrial prospects to locate here
2. Halted expansion of Pennsylvania establishments
3. Shifting of production from Pennsylvania plants to existing branches of the parent company in other states, and
4. Location of branches in other states by Pennsylvania corporations—as pointed out in my testimony before the Dent Industrial Tax Survey Committee on March 18, 1938.

If this were not true, why should the Commonwealth feature taxation in the Department of Commerce advertisement just described? Surely the Commonwealth did not exempt manufacturing corporations from the capital stock tax for fifty years, from 1885 to 1935, just as a favor to a section of business. This exemption involves the broad economic policy of encouraging industry to expand basic payrolls in our Commonwealth and thus provide the purchasing power upon which many other lines of business depend.

The taxation of manufacturing corporations is part of a generally higher level of state taxes upon business, found in Pennsylvania as compared with other leading states.

On the basis of the United States Census figures, we find the percentage distribution of the total state tax burden on business to range as follows in seven important industrial states, for the years 1944, 1945 and 1946:

Pennsylvania	48%	47%	39%
Massachusetts	36	35	36
New York	36	37	35
New Jersey	35	33	31
California	22	20	17
Ohio	18	18	17
Illinois	13	12	11

To visualize these percentages, we display a bar chart showing Pennsylvania in the lead for each year in the proportion of the total state tax burden placed upon business in the states covered.

A close examination of the Census figures emphasizes the great dependence of Pennsylvania upon the capital stock tax. The only state approaching Pennsylvania in such dependence is Massachusetts. New York, California, Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey do not rely heavily upon a capital stock tax.

The Pennsylvania capital stock tax is really a property tax and bears most heavily upon the corporation in lean years when the taxing authorities stress the net worth factor, rather than stock prices or earnings, in determining taxable valuation. At such times the tax becomes a drain upon capital, since earnings are not available to pay the tax. One readily understands why business prefers to pay taxes on income rather than property—on the theory that you can afford taxes when you are making money- and why young and growing concerns are particularly handicapped by the Pennsylvania capital stock tax. The Commonwealth should move in the direction of less dependence upon the capital stock tax as applied to all lines of business.

Apparent from the Census figures also is the dependence of New York and Massachusetts upon the personal income tax; of California upon the retail sales and personal income tax; of Ohio and Illinois upon the retail sales tax. Broad-based taxes enable these states to tax business less heavily than does Pennsylvania.

There is a significant correlation between state tax burdens on business, population growth, and value added by manufacture.

Between April 1940 and January 1947, the following population changes are noted in the seven states for which business tax burdens were cited:

	1940	1947	% Change
California	6,858,000	9,565,000	+39.5
New Jersey	4,157,000	4,595,000	+10.5
Ohio	6,905,000	7,593,000	+10.0
Illinois	7,887,000	8,315,000	+ 5.4
Massachusetts ..	4,314,000	4,520,000	+ 4.8
Pennsylvania ...	9,896,000	10,111,000	+ 2.2
New York	13,463,000	13,547,000	+ 0.6

Note that Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York, where taxes on business are most severe, have lagged in population growth (compared with the national average of 7.3%) while New Jersey, California, Ohio and Illinois have moved ahead, with the trend less noticeable in the case of Illinois.

As for value added by manufacture, which features labor costs, the seven states made the following proportionate contributions to national output in Census years:

California	3.0	4.2	4.6
Illinois	7.7	9.2	8.9
New Jersey	5.6	5.6	6.2
Ohio	8.7	9.1	8.6
New York	15.7	15.6	13.5
Massachusetts	7.0	5.4	4.8
Pennsylvania	12.4	10.8	10.1

Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York—the states imposing the greatest tax burden upon business—show definite losses in their relative contribution to the value added by manufacture in the country as a whole. New Jersey, California, and Illinois—where state taxes on business are less severe—have improved their relative position as industrial states, while Ohio in the same tax group has held its own.

Two charts are submitted to the Committee to illustrate these population and manufacturing trends.

The states are resuming their sharp competition for new industrial plants, because war emergencies no longer determine plant locations and state taxes are no longer borne by the Federal government as offsets against extremely high federal levies on corporate net income. Considering the new consciousness of state taxes, and the adverse effects of industrial decentralization upon an older state like Pennsylvania, isn't it sound state policy to write WELCOME on our Pennsylvania tax map for business instead of COME IN BUT BE PREPARED TO PAY HEAVILY?

The State Chamber of Commerce reluctantly presents this critical evaluation of Pennsylvania's economic position and tax structure, and does so only with the knowledge that the facts presented are readily available to industry both within and without the Commonwealth.

Under the Governor's fiscal program, 47 per cent of total general fund taxes will be paid by business in 1947-1949, thus accentuating Pennsylvania's already great dependence upon business taxes as previously noted. We urge that this trend be halted by permitting the manufacturers' exemption from the capital stock tax to remain in effect, and retaining the carry-back and carry-forward of losses in the corporate net income tax.

I trust that at this point you will permit me to supplement my official statement with a few brief comments on the budgetary problem confronting the Commonwealth.

The budget document lacks sufficient explanatory and analytical data for a searching appraisal of the spending programs in effect or proposed. Such data would be developed by a continuous operational study of state administrative agencies by the Budget Office—a function which that office is not sufficiently staffed to undertake. What may have been an adequate budget technique in 1923-1925, when General Fund appropriation requests were less than $100 million, is quite inadequate today when biennial appropriations of $600 million are requested.

On the revenue side, there is good reason to believe that the budget document underestimates the yield of the corporate net income tax in the next biennium by $15 million, and the capital stock tax by $10 million. These excess yields may properly be balanced against the revenues to be collected under H. 665 and H. 666.

Furthermore, the 1947-1949 General Fund budget includes capital fund expenditures of $146 million, to be paid out of current revenues in hand or anticipated, except for $50 million available through a state bond issue. Should not serious thought be given to funding a larger proportion of the state building program and spreading the cost over a period of years, commensurate with the long-term use of the structures to be erected? Probably a substantial part of the building program cannot be completed or undertaken in the next biennium. Yet enough new or increased taxes are demanded in 1947-1949 to assure covering the cost of the whole program in that biennial period. Moreover, every new or increased tax tends to become permanent; so we face the strong likelihood that taxes primarily needed to finance a capital expenditure program will be retained long after its completion and be used for driving up still further the level of our expenditures for current operations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I assume, following the policy which has prevailed in the Senate during the course of these discussions, that mine shall not be the last word this afternoon on this subject, and I have no intention of prolonging the discussion unnecessarily because I suspect, as I have stated before, that this subject will continue to be a matter of continued discussion as the days of this session wear on.

I would like to suggest, however, Mr. President that it is perfectly well for the gentleman from Westmoreland to suggest that he hears many people discussing their lack of desire to enact tax legislation. I suspect that that is true now, as it was back in the days of the Earle administration. I doubt very much whether the gentleman from Westmoreland or any of his then colleagues wanted to vote for the tax measures which were suggested by his administration at that time, but I would remind him that if the people of this Commonwealth, as I have said before, are to receive the increased facilities for mental hospitals, if the ordinary governmental functions of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are to be carried on, then I believe the gentleman must agree that money is necessary.

The gentleman from Westmoreland takes issue with the fact that new money is necessary; he takes the position that no additional funds are necessary. When he talks about confusion in that respect, let me suggest that the confusion seems to emanate from his side of the Chamber and not from this side of the Chamber.

The Republicans on this issue have stood fast to one position.

Today marks another and third suggestion, coming from the other side, as to how to meet this problem. We will continue to disagree and we will continue to debate, in all probability as to which estimate is the appropriate one or the accurate one.

The gentleman from Westmoreland sets himself up as an expert; he says you have got to take my figures or you can not play on this team, and I want a little bit later on, if I may, to disagree too with Dr. Fox, whom he quotes in this matter, but for the moment the gentleman from Westmoreland says several things: Number 1, you have got to accept my estimate and, Number 2, you have got to accept my plan. And then he tells this side, the majority, if you do not do that, then you are remiss in your duty to the people of this Commonwealth. In his opinion we may be remiss. In our own opinion we find that we need to meet certain needs of this Commonwealth and we propose to do it.

I suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland, and I think he agrees, that in all probability time will be the answer as to who was right and maybe he will gain some advantage out of it; on the other hand, it may entirely be, despite what he says now, that this side may gain some advantage out of the situation.

Mr. President, I am very reluctant to take issue with any figures that come from so eminent an authority as Dr. Fox, of the State Chamber of Commerce, but I propose now to say that the statement read by the gentleman from Westmoreland, which includes a reference in dollars to capital improvement in the Commonwealth, made by Dr. Fox is not accurate. The only moneys which are supposed to be used out of current revenues for capital investment, first, in the mental hospital program, and, secondly, in the flood control program, are two items, one of $16,000,000 and the other of $10,000,000.

I suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland that no matter how he turns it, inside-out or upside-down, he will find there is no additional current revenue taken out of the proposals for these purposes and I shall, not tonight, but at some future date when this matter is to be further discussed, I want to inquire from the gentleman from Westmoreland just what amounts, out of the increases which are proposed for other governmental functions, he would urge that we cut out in order to carry out this program.

Specifically, with regard to the carelessness of the approach that the gentleman from Westmoreland has to this entire subject, I want to suggest that again today he raises, many times over and over again, the matter of the appropriation suggested for the Department of Commerce; he pointed out the tremendous increase, as he has done before, but in doing that he has failed to pay attention to the fact that in the last biennium there was appropriated to the Department of Commerce out of the Motor License fund an amount of $325,000, which came out of the Motor License fund in order to advertise for tourist trade and the other functions of that department, and that, in addition, there was a regular appropriation to that department out of the general fund of $280,000, making a total of $605,000. The increase that has been requested for the coming biennium has been requested because, under the constitutional limitation, the moneys out of the Motor Vehicle fund will no longer be made available to that department and that additional sums, as the gentleman well knows, and every person who sits in this chamber knows, because of ordinary increased costs in material, in printing and in personnel, will be needed, and it seems to me this is another reflection of the complete carelessness with which this matter has been approached by the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. President, I suggest, as I did some weeks ago on this floor, that it is easy to work out a budget if you continue always to use the same figures twice, as the gentleman has persistently and consistently done in his treatment of this subject.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, first, I want to clear up a matter for the gentleman from Lehigh. I am sure he knows full well that I never proposed that he accept my estimates or else, but I also say to the gentleman from Lehigh that you are asking the people of Pennsylvania to accept Mr. Logan's estimates or else, and whether it is Mr. Fox, of the Chamber of Commerce, or Mr. Dent, of the Democratic party, I do not believe anybody could hand you a set of figures which you would agree to other than Mr. Logan's, and yet you served on the fiscal committee of the state of Pennsylvania named by this Senate, which received a report from Mr. Logan which was $28,000,000 different in its total than the same report given to the Governor one week later.

The gentleman from Lehigh says that I used the same figures twice. Mr. Tallman, I assure you that the figures that I just read were the figures of the Chamber of Commerce, and if they used the same figures that I did, would it not sort of give you an inkling maybe we are right and Mr. Logan is wrong?

I said that there was an underestimation of $10,000,000 in the corporate net income tax. The facts bear me out. The Chamber of Commerce says that because of increased corporate activities in Pennsylvania there will be $15,000,000 in excess of the estimate of Mr. Logan, and that, coupled with $10,000,000 from capital shares, stock and loans tax, will give a surplus of $25,000,000.

Where in the Governor's budget does he allow any leaway for any surplus under the estimate of Mr. Logan, and yet he knows that two years ago, when we called to the attention of the Senate the very same budget trickery that is now imposed upon this Senate and the Republican majority ignored our pleas, and yet willingly accepted our figures in May of 1946 and used them as the number one banner-head for their campaign in this state; they accepted the figures right here in the Senate of Pennsylvania and went out, with Mr. Logan's approval, because I have documentary evidence to show that Mr. Logan himself, the Budget Director, said that the surplus in Pennsylvania as of May, 1946, would be $200,000,000.

Neither he, Mr. President, nor any other man connected with the Republican party having anything to do with the fiscal policies of Pennsylvania has yet—and I repeat—has yet given to the people of Pennsylvania a clear-cut analysis of the disappearance of that surplus. Was that surplus mythical? If it was why do they not say so? Was it just a fake for political purposes? If it was, why do they not say so?

I would like to take you, any time you are ready to sit down and go through the entire program as advanced by the Governor of the Commonwealth, based upon the figures of Mr. Logan, and I will take the budget submitted in 1939 and follow through to the budget submitted in 1947, and I will show you a discrepancy between the estimates and the returns, an increasing percentage from that day to this.

Everybody knows that Mr. Logan made his original reputation as a budget estimator under Governor Pinchot, later disowned by the same folks that now accept Mr. Logan's figures, but in that campaign they attacked Mr. Logan's figures and now they come back and accept them and expect us to accept them as bona fide estimates of the state's revenues. If we did not have a past we could not predict the future. In the past, for four straight bienniums, this Budget Director has been wrong, he has built up political surpluses through the political expediency of underestimating revenues and overestimating budgetary needs.

I say to you, and I say it again and again and again, that you can not spend $89,000,000 on a mental hospital program in the next two years. No person on this side wants you to take one penny away from the mental institutional program that can be spent in the next biennium, but by the same token, you cannot ask the present generation of citizens in this Commonwealth to pay for the burden of creating the buildings that will be in use for a period of sixty or more years out of current income. You say that I am wrong in saying that we ought to extend payment of this construction program over the period of "use" years, and yet you yourselves admit that you are going to take $45,000,000 of a bond issue and pay part of it over the "use" years.

I say that this generation of Pennsylvanians is entitled to pay only that portion of the total bill that they benefit from. That is good business, it is good government and it is a constitutional requirement in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In speaking of the $45,000,000 that you are going to taken from the bond issue, every person in this room and every person in Pennsylvania knows that the only reason you had for passing a $50,000,000 bond issue was so that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would have a $50,000,000 cushion so that, in case of an emergency, an unforetold incident, a crisis, this Commonwealth would not be caught short again as it was caught in the days of Pinchot, when the depression hit this state with full force, and now you are taking that money and you are appropriating it to a commission to spend it for mental institutions, knowing full well that you or no other person can honestly predict the construction of $89,000,000 worth of buildings in the next biennium. If we are going to completely ignore the housing needs of this Commonwealth, then perhaps we could take all the construction material and pour it into mental institutions. I say to the majority of the Senate today that if they continue and intend to continue that same blind manner and method of administration in the mental hospitals in this state, they do not deserve one cent to build another jail for insane people, and I say to you that the greatest amount of money we could spend for the greatest good would be to put it into mental institutions for the best of care of mental invalids, rather than incarcerating them in stone jails where they can die in misery and degradation and despair.

Every person knows this state has been far behind in the treatment of mental patients, which we in Pennsylvania are trying to cover up now with a fake program of $89,000,000 to build more four room cells to put these poor suffering souls into. I have visited these hospitals—I have one in my own county—and I want to say to the members of the Senate that it is not fit for the lowest form of animal life to be kept in, let alone a human being in the flesh and in the image of the Maker Himself.

And so I say, gentlemen, we are not fooling about this budget message; we are in dead earnest, we are in serious thought when we come before the Senate and say to you that you are being duped, you are being fooled by the estimate given to you by a man whose whole job depends upon his ability to come out on top at the end of two years.

I say that we have no right to impose new additional, punitive taxes at this time, but if you must put new taxes on, then put them on in the same spirit as did the Democratic administration that you have so much occasion to call up every time we talk about taxes, impose them on the same basis that they did, the ability to pay.

Why do you not tell the people of the Commonwealth that in 1945 you went before the people of this state and said "we are reducing your taxes in Pennsylvania by the sum of $94,000,000?" Why do you not tell the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that of the $94,000,000 that you claimed that you lowered the taxes, only $47,000,000 ever went into effect. And where did that $47,000,000 of tax reduction come from? It was reduced from the shoulders of the corporate big businesses and banking interests in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. You now come before the people of the state and say you need $133,000,000, of which you are going to take $89,000,000 from the pockets of the consuming public of the state of Pennsylvania. You have shifted the tax burden, just as we predicted upon this floor time and time again, from the shoulders of those most able to pay, and put it directly upon the shoulders of the long-suffering hard-working men and women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In fact, you have gone even further this time. You are now reaching down for the pennies of the kids in school rooms.

I say to you that you have not come out with an honest effort to solve the problem. If you need more money, and if you can prove you need more money, before you prove it let us have an honest estimate of the returns to the state government.

I could stand here and talk forever and yet when I am through—you know I once had a dog at home and he learned a pretty good trick—if I would hold a piece of candy he would just go like this (indicating) any time I wanted him to, and you boys can go like that (indicating) all you want to—the dog that I had still came when I called, and if you do not leave your seats you will listen when I talk.

You know, I was going to quit and had all intentions of quitting, but you have got me now to the point where I think you ought to know something about taxes in Pennsylvania.

I think that the Finance Committee in this Senate ought to sit down and analyze the figures, instead of accepting blindly the recommendations of the Executive Department of the government.

For fifteen years the Democratic party in the national government has been condemned by the same gentlemen who sit on the other side of this Senate, because the then Democratic majorities in the House and Senate were supposed to be rubber stamps for the executive branch. In the last eight years in Pennsylvania there has never been but one bill that the Governor has demanded the passage of that has ever been defeated in the General Assembly by the majority of Republicans that were here, and that bill, gentlemen, was defeated because twenty-four Democrats voted against it and one lone Republican, who was incidentally very efficiently liquidated by the Republic oppostion at the next election when he ran for Senator.

You call the Democrats in Washington bureaucrats, you say that they listen to their department heads, and yet on today's calendar and upon every calendar that is presented to this Senate for a final vote, we find department bills that few men on this floor understand, and no one cares a darn about, but you say the Department of Agriculture wants it, the Department of Labor wants it, the Secretary of Revenue thinks it is a good bill. What is the difference between your petty bureaucracy and the majority bureaucracy at Washington? There is no difference except in the degree. You are subservient to the administrative branch, and I say to you, gentlemen of the Senate, that you are in grave danger of being called truthfully the rubber stamps of 1947.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations reported as committed Senate Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand two hundred nine point one of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of the Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," authorizing additional temporary salary increases, and the appropriation, used and temporary loans therefor; and validating such increases heretofore made.

which was re-referred to the Committee on Education, as it had been mistakenly referred to the Committee on appropriations.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, in presenting this bill I would like to make a few remarks.

This bill will give the power to increase the school tax rate a mill and a half. It may not be exercised if funds are made available from some other source. The present school tax rate is 11-¾ mills. This bill provides that this mill and a half shall be allocated for debt service, new buildings and other permanent improvements.

Under this bill, as the present debt service charges are reduced, it will be possible to use current funds for capital outlay to eliminate to a large extent the necessity of issuing bonds to build new schools. Also this bill will provide for some financial relief by releasing for general purposes the funds now appropriated for debt services which amount to approximately $3,600,000 annually in Philadelphia.

Mr. President, in presenting this bill I might say this increase of a mill and a half is not a serious amount of money in any city where we need money as badly as in the school system there. To a person with a $4,000 assessment it would only amount to $6 a year or fifty cents a month and a larger assessment would be in proportion. Also, Mr. President, it is sound financing to pay as you go for permanent improvement.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 547, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of the act aproved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by limiting to thirteen and one-quarter mills the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 548, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be adminsitered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," authorizing boards of school directors to enter into contracts with the Federal Government or any of its agencies for the education of veterans in the public schools and providing that such persons should not be considered in determining district teaching units as the basis for Commonwealth subsidies and excluding teachers employed to teach such veterans from the tenure provisions thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I think we in Pennsylvania all realize that for very many years the Port of Philadelphia has been second in tonnage in America. The records show it was still in second place last year with 16,000,000 gross tons as against 27,00,000 for New York. Philadelphia was 1,600,000 tons ahead of Baltimore. Baltimore, Boston and New Orleans are making great strides in the realization that the commerce that is to come into America in the future will be so voluminous that there is opportunity for them to outstep Philadelphia, and therefore, with that thought in mind, I present to the Chair a bill having to do with the Philadelphia Port Authority.

Mr. FRAZIER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 549, entitled:

An Act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth; constituting certain portions of the Counties of Bucks, Delaware and Philadelphia as the Port of Philadelphia; defining port facilities; creating the Port of Philadelphia Authority as a governmental instrumentality of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and as a body corporate and politic with power to acquire, own, lease, construct, improve, equip, develop, furnish, maintain, operate and regulate port facilities in the Port of Philadelphia; authorizing said Authority to lease port facilities owned by it and to fix and collect fees, rentals and charges for the use thereof; conferring certain additional powers and imposing certain duties on said Authority; authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said Authority and providing for the payment thereof and the rights of the holders thereof; constituting such bonds legal investments in certain instances; making such bonds exempt from taxation; authorizing said Authority to enter into agreements with the Government of the United States or any Federal Agency; granting the right of eminent domain; providing that no debt of the Commonwealth or of the City of Philadelphia shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. CROWE (by request) read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 550, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of section three of and to add section six hundred eight to the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. SENIOR CLASS PINE GROVE HIGH SCHOOL INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, the introduction of a school bill reminds me that I would like to introduce to the members of the Senate some folks who are here this afternoon, who come from our public schools, and whom I would like to present before we proceed with the calendar.

A few weeks ago I had the pleasure of introducing a civics class from Schuylkill County and I pointed to them with pride as our hope for the future of the Commonwealth. Afterwards some Senator said maybe they were a picked crowd, because they looked so grand. I have just as good a crowd here today again.

Mr. President We have in the balcony under the leadership of their teacher, Mrs. Ruth Christ, the senior class of some sixty very fine boys and girls from Pine Grove, Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the members of the Senate, the Chair welcomes the senior class from Pine Grove, Pennsylvania, and hopes they will enjoy the session that they are now witnessing.

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY VISITORS INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, so that I need not get on my feet again this afternoon, the debate on the budget reminded me that the gentleman who debated, and the Senators on both sides of this chamber, might be interested to know that since it will be a few days probably until we adopt the budget, there are some other people here from Schuylkill County today. We have a lot of folks who are interested in state government. I do not think these folks will want to rise in their places and take a bow, but they are financial experts. Mr. President, we have with us this afternoon directors of the First National Bank of Frackville, down here to my right, and we have the directors of a building and loan association from Bald Mountain I believe, over in the left corner, and their financial wizardy and ability to solve fiscal problems can be taken advantage of if arrangements are made through their solicitor, Senator Watkins, Secretary of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair welcomes to the Senate the financial experts from Schuylkill County, and is sure they have been greatly enlightened after listening to the two speeches.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, last week Dr. Alexander Stoddard, Superintendent of Public Schools in Philadelphia, made a statement to the newspapers that a child had taken benzedrine and had become very ill. After a very exhaustive examination and probe by the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association it was discovered that it was not benzedrine but was something else.

In order to be more cautious and provide more safeguards, I wish to present the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

STATE BOARD OF PHARMACY TO URGE PHARMACISTS TO CHECK SALE OF BENZEDRINE TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Mr. DiSILVESTRO offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 14, 1947.

Whereas, It has recently been revealed that some school children in Philadelphia have been taking quantities of the drug benzendrine, the war-used stimulant to arrest sleep temporarily; and

Whereas, These children have been indulging in this stimulant for "thrill" purposes—and not under doctors' prescription; and

Whereas, These school children obtain their supply of this drug at drug stores by purchasing inhalers and the papers in which the active ingredients are wrapped; and

Whereas, Such unsupervised misuse of benzendrine, which is a habit-forming drug, has produced detrimental effects on several children; and can be permanently injurious to their health; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby directs the State Board of Pharmacy to urge pharmacists to combat this problem, to keep a close check on drug stores throughout the Commonwealth and to take whatever necessary steps will result in stopping the sale of benzedrine to school children—for their protection against misuse of the drug and from its resultant harmful effects, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate is directed to send a copy of this resolution to the State Board of Pharmacy.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. LETZLER, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 14, 1947.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, House Bill 332 and House Bill 333 are two bills that affect the school lunch program. The minority wishes to say that it, of course, is going to vote for this legislation. We only want to call your attention to the fact that if the present so-called soft drink tax goes through it will create an imposition upon the school lunch program because it taxes the chocolate milk that is consumed to the tune of about eight million bottles per year in the school lunch program and I do not believe that the Senate wishes to do that.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Senate Bill 472, if I understand the bill—and I hope to be corrected if I am wrong—reduces the amount appropriated for the very core of the anti-stream pollution program, by $3,000,000 or more.

I would like to know from the sponsor, or whoever feels qualified to give me the answer, as to where this amount is to be taken from; what phase of the anti-stream pollution program will suffer if this amount is removed? Will the sponsor kindly tell me that.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, the amount was reduced because, under the present budgetary setup, we found that the lower amount would cover the present program. However, this is only the beginning of an extended program, and I believe two years from now the Governor intends to have an additional appropriation of $10,000,000 and to go on further with his program, but at this present time for the work that is set up, the amount of nine million and what ever hundred thousand dollars it is will do the trick.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

For fear of being misunderstood, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote for this bill. That is one reason. is because it happens to agree exactly with the program that I have been advocating here Monday after Monday on the question of expending moneys over the "use" years and the years in which this construction work can be done.

If you will notice, this bill now takes from an appropriation previously made, a $12,000,000 appropriation, because they found that it was impossible to spend that amount of money in the biennium we are now facing.

And yet, upon the recommendation of the Governor, this Assembly has agreed to pass taxes to create appropriations that they themselves know it will be physically impossible to spend. If you are sound in your policy of taxing for tomorrow in the Governor's budget message, then you are unsound in this legislation, because you are taking from money already appropriated and ear-marked for a specific purpose, sums that you now find to be in surplus to the needs and the requirements of the biennium.

If we are going to follow that policy all the way through then I submit to you that the program that I have advocated here, and at the present time is being advocated by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, which represents in the main most of the industry and all of the business in the state, is sound, in that we ought not create taxes that impose burdens upon this generation to do things that can not possibly be done until the next biennium or the next or the next or the next.

So therefore I say, Mr. President, that this is an admission that we can not spend the money we are trying to raise at the present time.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, this post-war program has been held up by scarcity of materials and labor troubles throughout the state, and we have not been able to get this program under way as intended. Had that not been the case, the program would have been underway probably a year and a half ago, and we would have needed all this money that was appropriated to cover the program as outlined.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate the position of the sponsor of this bill and I want him to know that I understand it is only the bidding of the department he is doing, because when we were in the majority we had to do the same thing.

I do not hold any personal criticism for introducing this legislation but I may say to you that two years ago when this specific appropriation was before the Senate, I said then you could not spend the money, that it was a false budget, appropriating money that could not be spent, and at that time you said I did not know what I was talking about.

I come to you now and I say to you, and it does not give me any personal satisfaction to say it, but I do say to you I was right then and I hope to say to you I am right again now, because you can not spend money for mythical projects and raise taxes at the present time to do it.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I am going to try and throw a wrench into the machinery on this side of the Senate, and ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this measure because, while I quite agree with what the gentleman from Westmoreland has said concerning flood control and stream pollution and silt clearance, Senate Bill 472 is an amendment to an act of 1945, an appropriation act which appropriated $12,000,000 and some odd dollars and now by this amendment is sought to be reduced by the tune of approximately $3,000,000.

The 1945 appropriation was for various purposes and the first purpose stated in the 1945 law was "for the acquisition by purchase or condemnation of land, the construction and equipment of a State Health Laboratory, the construction of new buildings and facilities, the repair and improvement of existing buildings and facilities, and the purchase of furnishings and equipment for the State Sanitoria and the Crippled Children's Hospital."

In so far as any reduction is concerned against the Crippled Children's Hospital, I am absolutely against such a reduction, and I say that for this reason, that I am today in receipt of a letter from the Department of Health. I have in my district two girls who suffer from herditary ataxia, the symptoms of which are similar to those of infantile paralysis, and the Department of Health writes to me and they say:

"COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
"DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH
"Harrisburg

April 10, 1947.

"Hon. Carleton T. Woodring
210 Drake Building
"Easton, Pennsylvania

"Dear Mr. Woodring:

With regard to the two patients—Anne Seier and her sister Mary of Northampton, Pennsylvania, I regret to say that there is no institution or home under the Department of Health's control where these sisters might be placed.

"Their condition is a progressive one and as far as is known an incurable one.

"I know of no institution for incurables in the state of Pennsylvania but I cannot deny that there is a great need for an institution of this type.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM C. EDWARDS, M.D.,
Chief,
Crippled Children's Division."

WCE: M

Mr. President, it seems to me if the Commonwealth finds itself in a position where it has $3,000,000 it does not know what to do with, instead of reducing the appropriation by passage of this bill, I think we ought to do something for the incurables of this state, and when we have girls, or children of any sex, in this Commonwealth suffering from this disease known as hereditary ataxia, if the parents are not able to take care of them, and that is the case with these two girls, then the Comonwealth ought to take care of them, and I think, rather than a reduction, we ought to pass an additional appropriation to take care of cases such as these, which are all too prevalent in this Commonwealth.

I suggest that we vote against this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia last week, if I am correct in the quotation he gave, which he said was from Emerson, said, foolish consistency was a hobgoblin of small minds, and so, not wanting to be accused of having a small mind, I am going to be inconsistent and ask my confederates now to vote against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 475, as follows:

An Act to further amend section two of the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 645) entitled "An act imposing certain requirements on certain hospitals receiving State aid authorizing the withholding of appropriations and imposing duties on the Department of Welfare" extending temporary wartime provisions

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 645) entitled "An act imposing certain requirements on certain hospitals receiving State aid authorizing the withholding of appropriations and imposing duties on the Department of Welfare" as amended by the act approved the thirteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-two (P. L. 32) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2 The Department of Welfare shall enforce the provisions of this act and shall withhold the payment of all money or the unpaid balance thereof appropriated or allotted to any hospital failing to comply with the provisions of this act Provided however That [during the continuation of the state of war between the United States of America and any foreign country and for six months thereafter] for a period of two years following the effective date of this amendment no funds appropriated or allotted to any hospital shall be withheld under this act if the Secretary of Welfare determines that the constant attendance of a licensed physician or resident interne cannot be secured by such hospital because of the [war] emergency or unusual conditions created by the recent war

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to discuss this bill a little.

This bill, for the benefit of those who have not read it, extends the temporary war time provisions in the Department of Welfare to allow, as I understand it, certain hospitals or any hospital in the Commonwealth to do without certain requirements that they must comply with in order to receive state subsidies. This requirement is that there should be and must be in constant attendance a licensed physician or resident intern.

During the war we operated without this requirement, because it was stated that so many men of the medical profession had entered the armed services that it was impossible to maintain this particular requirement in order to conform with the state law that governs current state aid and subsidies. I submit to the members of this Senate that if this condition still exists it is of a permanent nature and can not be cured by a temporary expedient. I submit, Mr. President, that every adult in this state knows that we are not turning out of our medical colleges sufficient graduates to take their places in the field of medicine, in order to give the people of Pennsylvania the medical services required in this modern day and age.

This bill should not be passed by this Senate unless, accompanying the passage of this bill, we solemnly pledge to pass legislation that will provide more facilities, either through existing universities and medical colleges, or the creation and building of new medical colleges, in order that this state will have a sufficient number of men and women trained in the field of medicine. Every person knows that we graduate from our pre-medical colleges and liberal arts schools in this state 4,428 pre-medical students who are ready and willing and asking for the privilege of entering medical schools and finishing their education and becoming full-fledged doctors of medicine.

Under our present system in Pennsylvania, until the accelerated program was put into effect because of the war, we had facilities for only a small number of those graduates to be placed in our schools—I think the figure was around four hundred.

Ninety per cent of the students who were led to believe they could enter medical colleges have in part wasted their education for four years in the pre-medical schools. Now you are asking that the state of Pennsylvania make it permanent, if you please, although there is a restriction of two years, but I have often seen, and you have all seen, where measures passed on an emergency or temporary basis become permanent in nature and in fact—and if we allow the standards to be lowered, then we are committing a crime against the patients who seek the services of these hospitals.

If you do not need a physician in attendance, then let us eliminate that requirement, but, if you do not need it for two years, then you do not need it for any number of years. Are we going to say during a two-year period we do not care what happens to those patients that are brought to the hospitals requiring the attention of a trained medicial man or woman? Are we going to say that during the next two years, do not get sick, Pennsylvania, because we are not going to have our hospital staffed, because the Pennsylvania Legislature in its shortsightedness has refused time and time again to provide the necessary facilities in order that this state can have a sufficient number of men graduated from the medical schools to give the people of Pennsylvania the needed medical attention.

I want to say to all of you that many and many a time, as I have come up through the ranks of labor, I have heard condemnation aimed at my head and at the heads of my colleagues in the labor ranks, that we were trying to impose upon the people a stranglehold by having a closed shop, and I want to ask any man in this room if he has ever tried at any time to break into the so-called medical association's closed shop.

Are we going to say forever and forever, no matter what the requirements may be in the medical profession, that we have a sufficient number of doctors.

This Legislative is interested, not in the income of the men who graduate from medical colleges, but it is interested in the welfare of patients and persons who become ill in this Commonwealth.

I say to you this is the wrong type of legislation to be passed, because you are saying in fact that we recognize either one of two things, that we do not need trained persons in hospitals in attendance or, on the other hand, we do not have enough doctors and are making no provisions to get them.

Personally I am going to vote "no."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate the speech the gentleman has just made in behalf of a bill which was recently sponsored by Senator Barr and myself, relative to an appropriation to the medical school of the University of Pittsburgh, which is the only medical school in Pennsylvania west of Philadelphia county.

Those of us who live in Western Pennsylvania appreciate the fact that it is very difficult to get boys or girls admitted to the medical school at the university, simply because their facilities are limited to about eighty or eighty-one freshmen, and they have seven or eight hundred applications every year—I have just been corrected and advised that the number is 891.

Mr. President, I hope that I can have the privilege of voting for a bill that will appropriate millions of dollars to the University of Pittsburgh medical school to solve the problem that has just been raised by the gentleman from Westmoreland, but this bill is a collateral matter that has to be faced and must rise or fall on its own merit.

The gentleman from Westmoreland will recall that during the war it was impossible for these small hospitals to obtain trained personnel and under the regulations set up in the Department of Welfare by this Legislature, a certain number of licensed physicians and interns had to be on hand or registered at the hospital and the number was predicated upon the number of beds in the hospital. The demand of the war years on the medical profession made it impossible for the hospitals to meet that particular demand and, therefore, in order to qualify them to get their appropriate allowance through the Department of Welfare, this emergency provision was placed in the act.

The hospitals are still unable to obtain the trained personnel of licensed physicians or interns, because the gentleman from Westmoreland must remember that quite a number of young men graduating at this time from medical schools owe an implied obligation to the government, and many of them are going into the armed services, because a lot of them were trained on that basis and, as a result, the present senior class and what would correspond to the junior class in the medical schools, still have a military obligation which must be discharged, and many of them will go into the service upon graduation, and as a result will not be available for civilian hospitals or civilian interns, and therefore the smaller hospitals all over the state are experiencing very great difficulty in obtaining this trained personnel to meet the Department of Welfare requirements. If this bill is not passed, and they can not meet the requirements, they can not get the money we appropriate to them. Therefore I appeal to the sound reasoning of the gentleman from Westmoreland that there is little sense in us appropriating money to hospitals if we do not place them in a position under our own law to accept the appropriation that we make.

That is the purpose of this bill, and, therefore, I suggest to him that he vote—not that I want a speech to change a vote on the floor of the Senate, because that would be a shock no one of us could stand—but if the gentleman from Westmoreland would ponder just a moment he would appreciate the fact that without this bill the hospitals would be in a very grave and ludicrous position.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I dislike very much to disagree with my floor leader—I agree in part and disagree in part with what he said, and I certainly agree with what the gentleman from Allegheny has said with regard to what we should do to induce our colleges to make more room for those who study medicine—we have done very little—and certainly I for one would vote for an appropriation bill for these colleges to make it possible for young men and women to take up the study of medicine.

Mr. President, being superintendent of a hospital, I have some first hand knowledge of what we are confronted with. I say very frankly, if this bill fails to pass, the small hospitals in our Commonwealth will practically have to close their doors. In my hospital I have offered many inducements to try and obtain the services of a resident doctor. For the last four years that has been impossible. I have contacted every college of which I know, asking for interns and up to the present I have no interns. Therefore, I must depend upon our local physicians to carry on day and night. If we are to be removed from war time restrictions we certainly could not operate.

Therefore, I am asking my colleagues to vote for this bill because many, many small hospitals would find it impossible to keep their doors open if we are to abide by the law as it was before the war.

This is an important measure and I trust my friend from Westmoreland may reconsider and ask our colleagues on this side of the house to vote for this measure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think we all understand each other perfectly. I have not attempted to induce any of my democratic colleagues to vote against this bill, nor do I now ask them to do so. I think it is a matter of personal privilege in the manner that you look at the picture.

You have sufficient votes to pass this bill, which assures these hospitals of a continued state appropriation, but I believe it encumbent upon me to point out by my negative vote, even if I stand alone, to the people of Pennsylvania the seriousness of this situation.

There is no reasonable assurance that Senator Haluska's hospital will be in a position two years from now to get that much needed help, and so, in order that we can point out the crying need for more medical schools, or at least more facilities at the existing schools, the state's stake in this matter, the menace to public health, I therefore reiterate my original position, Mr. President, that I intend to vote "no," not intending to hurt the hospitals, but to point out the crying need for some change in our present policy.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, have we just passed House Bill No. 910?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. What is the correct Printer's Number?

The SPEAKER. 262.

Mr. ANDREWS. Was there any correction for line 15 on page 2?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that there were no amendments offered to the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. I was just wondering, Mr. Speaker. I was wondering if the gentleman didn't want to amend that spelling on page 2, line 15? It is spelled that way two or three times in the bill. What are we going to do?

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that that was one error that was overlooked. We shall be pleased to offer amendments, and we would ask that the gentleman kindly withdraw his request for this amendment now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest if the Minority Leader is in agreement and also the House, that the gentleman offer these amendments on third reading by unanimous consent

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, you might look on page 4 line 3 for another error.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that if it is agreeable, the amendments be taken up on third reading by unanimous consent.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection.

House Bill No. 358, Printer's No. 312 and

House Bill No. 362, Printer's No. 312

were passed over at the request of Mr. SWOPE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 365, as follows:

An Act to further amend the first paragraph of section two hundred twenty and to add clause (n) to section two hundred eighty-five of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" increasing the resident fishing license fee

Section 1 The first paragraph of section two hundred twenty of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, as most of the fishermen know tomorrow is the first day of trout fishing. The thousands of fishermen throughout the Commonwealth are going to be out on their favorite streams. The Department of Fisheries has done a splendid job in placing thousands and thousands of trout in the different streams of our Commonwealth, so fishermen tomorrow morning will go out and they will use most any kind of bait that they have their mind on and they will find that the trout are willing to bite on any bait that they want to drop in the water, and the average fisherman is going to catch a great many trout.

That sport, if you call it sport, will keep up until tomorrow afternoon when the average fisherman is going to start to criticize the Department of Fisheries for not putting any trout in the streams. The fact remains that the Department of Fisheries has planted plenty of trout in the streams, but unfortunately the trout has been put there only in the last two or three weeks with the result that they will bite on most any kind of bait.

About the first of May when the average fisherman goes out trying to catch some trout he is going to criticize this Legislature and he is going to criticize the Department of Fisheries because the trout have disappeared.

This proposed bill increasing the license fee by fifty cents is not going to assure the fishermen that he is going to go out and fish for trout and catch trout after the first of May. The average fisherman will not catch trout. Why should we, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, as a Legislative Body add fifty cents to the cost of that fisherman to give him the legal right and privilege of going out in that stream, and we fishermen who fish up until the middle of the summer and go home without any fish are asked by our friends, "What did you catch?" Our answer is "We have been out communing with nature."

Certainly the Fish Commission has done a nice job, but we fishermen in Cumberland County want the privilege of going out to fish and really fish for trout during the entire trout season.

Then, Mr. Speaker, could I remind you the condition of our bass fishing at the present time? In this locality bass fishing is fast becoming a sacred memory. We remember the time that we could go out and catch some bass, but that time is past. We must not forget to give the Department due credit for this, as far as doing everything possible to develop bass fishing in Pennsylvania—apparently they have forgotten us in Cumberland County.

I know that many of you do remember when we were youngsters' our fathers would take us out along a stream and would catch some rock bass, sun fish and trout, and we knew that we were doing a pretty good job.

Members of the House take your boy today and go out along the stream, or your daughter and you can still fish for sun fish and rock bass, but we still can't catch as many as we could as boys. But to the best of my knowledge the state Department of Fisheries has not done very much in propagating warm water fish.

The Department comes along and tells us that an increase in revenues is necessary; they tell us that the cost of food for these fish has increased greatly. I admit that. Then they also tell us that the Department is entitled to higher salaries, and I agree with that.

The Post War Planning Commission on fisheries also tell us that they have a $759,000 program set, and I agree with them, but on the other hand, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, may I remind you that there were 155,000 additional fishermen in 1947—or there will be, over 1946. May I also remind you that those 155,000 fishermen mean revenue, to the Department of Fisheries of approximately 225,000 dollars.

May I also remind you that in Governor Duff's statement and in the budget set up for the Department of Fisheries an additional three hundred thousand dollars was set up in the fund to pay for additional salaries and additional expenses incidental to the propagation of fish.

Mr. Speaker, we heard the story that because there is such an increased number of fishermen it is absolutely necessary that we have more funds to propagate fish. May I remind you that it has not been so many years ago when a daily catch of trout was 25 trout; today your limit is 16. It has not been so many years ago since the daily catch of bass was 10 bass; today it is 6, but it is very difficult, I assure you, for the expert fisherman to go out and catch six bass today.

You will find, that the average fisherman is very generous. It is difficult for the fisherman to walk past a sporting goods store and see the different gadgets and the gaily colored flies in that window without having the desire within him to go in and purchase one of those lures, hoping he will find the answer to his prayers and really catch fish.

This fifty cents that we intend to tack on the fisherman, he is going to pay that fifty cents; he wants to go fishing, but may I remind the Members of the House this fifty cents goes in the general fund of the Fisheries Department. There is none of this money set aside for the propagation of fish.

Therefore, I ask you to agree with me and defeat this bill until the time when we will have a bill introduced in this House that will guarantee fishermen the privilege not only of communing with nature but really going out and catching fish.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I agree whole heartedly with the gentleman from Cumberland that we want to fish. We need more fish. I don't know how you except to get them if you do not get the additional money to put additional fish in the streams. We all know that the Governor has a program of stream pollution on hand and that for every mile of stream that is cleared in this Commonwealth there will be a demand for fish for those streams. Therefore, we need additional hatcheries and propagation for fish, and I know of no way by which that can be accomplished except by increased revenue.

I am sorry that the gentleman does not feel that he receives his sufficient quota of fish. However, with the permission of the Members of the House I would like to read a statement from the Pittsburgh Press of Sunday, April 13, 1947, entitled > "Trout Season Means Holiday in Cameron. Even Schools Will Be Closed. Cameron County is probably the only county in the world which closes its schools on the opening day of the trout season. On Tuesday, every resident will have the opportunity to catch a mess of the finned aristocrats."

I am sorry that I cannot be there for the occasion. Johnie Mock in that same paper says:

> "According to the Wardens, this year's stocking has equaled all past records. In fact, in most instances the trout are bigger in size than ever planted before."

Wally Nelson, Editor of the Cameron County Press, insists he witnessed the release of two, so large that they were compelled to follow the contour of the pail. When placed in the stream they swam in circles because of being confined in the pail. "For two bucks," he advises, "He'll tell us the exact hole in which they were dropped."

Gentlemen, I know this for a fact, because it happened that I helped place them there myself. I have the consent of the Commission that if any Member of the House will come to Cameron County this fishing season they will point out the holes in which these fish are located.

For that reason I am for bigger and better and more trout and an increase in the fishing license.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 558, as follows:

An Act to amend section four hundred nineteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section four hundred nineteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" as added thereto by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 789) and as further amended by the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 585) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 419 Certain Companies Heretofore Organized May Come within Provisions of Act [Stock companies] Every company incorporated or reincorporated under the act of April twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and three (P. L. 329) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of corporations for the purpose of making insurance upon the health of individuals and against personal injury and disablement and death therein limiting the amount for which such corporations may issue policies and providing the manner in which certain existing corporations may become reincorporated under this act" or under the act of April twentieth one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. to fifty per centum of the subscribed capital or having in the case of a mutual company insurance in force in an aggregate amount of not less than one million dollars ($1,000,000) on not less than four hundred persons and a surplus of not less than two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) may notwithstanding any limitation to the contrary established by any act of Assembly or by the provisions of its charter issue policies insuring the lives of persons and every insurance appertaining thereto may grant and dispose of annuities and may insure against personal injury disablement or death resulting from traveling or general accidents and against disablement resulting from sickness and every insurance appertaining thereto as specified in subdivision (a) clause one (1) of section two hundred and two (202) of this act

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, last week at the suggestion of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, it was suggested that we have an explanation of all the insurance bills. This either has been done or is being done with the exception of House Bill No. 558 and House Bill No. 983, which will appear later on the calendar.

At present any first class mutual life insurance company having insurance in force in an aggregate amount of not less than one million dollars on not less than four hundred persons, and a surplus of not less than two hundred thousand dollars may issue policies insuring the lives of persons in Pennsylvania. The purpose of this bill is to allow limited life insurance companies to write unlimited amounts where they meet the requirements. I think, therefore, this is fair legislation and I ask support on this bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effectice immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BANE. Mr. Speaker, as a neophyte member of the House it is with considerable terpidation that I arise to address this august body on the merits and issues raised by House Bill No. 765. I am probably one of the few individuals in the United States who must concede at the outset that my ancestors did not step ashore at Plymouth Rock. History and facts record that they landed in the environs of the city of Philadelphia.

As a member of this House now for some fourteen weeks I can better understand why they left the City of Brotherly Love and removed themselves to the uttermost parts of Penn's Woods and finally situated themselves in the outskirts of Fayette County.

Oftentimes I have noted that the city of Brotherly Love has been beset by many trials and tribulations that they have been unable to take care of in their own locality. As a result they have undertaken to seek relief in this august body. Some two weeks ago we were told that the councilmen in Philadelphia were in straitened circumstances and so we raised their wages.

We also passed a bill in which we found that various persons in the exercise of various plans were obtaining water by by-passing the meters, and we took care of that situation.

A couple of weeks ago we passed a bill which prohibited the invasion of this State, and prohibited the opening of pool rooms in the city of Philadelphia until residence had been established for a period of at least two years.

Now, Mr. Speaker, there isn't a word in House Bill No. 765 which says anything about the city of Philadelphia However, I have been informed, and I hope not erroneously so, that this bill is designed to correct another evil existing in the city of Brotherly Love.

I understand that certain members of the bar practicing in the City of Philadelphia, but who not being able to find a residence either by reason of economic conditions or otherwise, have moved out into the adjoining counties of Montgomery, Berks and Chester, and there having established a legal residence, but nevertheless practicing within the limits of the City of Philadelphia, have been placed in the situation by reason of the death of an incumbent on the bench or the bar of Philadelphia that they must be residents of their district for two years before they are eligible to appointment or election. That is the purpose, as I understand it, for which this bill is designed.

I perhaps might state to this House that I am rather sensitive about bills of this character. I didn't say anything at the time we passed the poolroom bill for the reason that I have been inculcated with the fundamental and cardinal principles which every baby member of this House is presumed to observe, namely "Don't take yourself too seriously; have a good time while you are here, and keep your mouth shut."

I hope you will bear with me in differing with the last of these three principles, because I have no difficulty with the first two.

In my experience with the armed forces I spent twenty-seven months overseas, in ten major battle areas, and certain phrases prior to my entering the service were very high-sounding, but had very little meaning to me, such as "The American Way of Life", "The Pursuit of Life, Liberty and Happiness"—and of course "The benefits rising from individual enterprise."

Like many of the Members of this House who served in the armed forces, it has not been my privilege to travel abroad on any extended matters, but while I was there I found on my return that America was a country differing from any other place in this world, that every man who is a citizen of this nation can say with pride "I am an American."

It is for this basic reason that I arise in protest to the passage of this bill. We find here a situation that while it is not greatly different from the pool room bill, nevertheless it is a prohibition upon the right of free enterprise, in my humble opinion. Any person who lives in Philadelphia who desires to own or open a pool room, while he may be an American citizen and he may meet all the qualifications that the licensing board might require, he may fail in his efforts to enter legitimate enterprise solely because he now finds in the City of Philadelphia a limitation of residence of two years.

We come now to a situation where we are going to require residence of a member of the bar of at least two years prior to the date that he can be appointed or elected to the bench. I am a member of the bar of Fayette County, and I believe every member of the bar has an inherent desire, and if he doesn't, he should have a desire to be assigned to that august division. If he meets all the other fundamental requirements as a member of the bar, whether he be a resident of Montgomery, Berks, Chester or Fayette or wherever he might be, I am opposed to any limitation of his residence to the particular county before his appointment to the bench for a period of at least two years.

You might say there is a great deal of difference between and the two types of bills here presented. Say that the difference, if any, is one of degree rather than of kind, and therefore, knowing these acts which set up inter-city, inter-county or inter-state barriers to the exercise of free enterprise are depriving an American citizen of a right of which we should not deprive him. For this fundamental basic reason I ask you to vote in opposition to this bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BANE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WORLEY. I would like to inquire, Mr. Speaker, of the gentleman, whether or not he is not also opposed to the residence requirements set up by several of our Pennsylvania counties of from three to five years for members of the bar to practice in that county.

Mr. BANE. For the benefit of the House and to be consistent, I am in opposition to such requirements. The fact remains that just as we now have established a possbile precedent for other cases such as a pool room, I say to this House that we ought not to add further restraint upon the right of free enterprise.

I believe that any member of the bar—and I say this does not happen in my particular county, but if any member of the bar can achieve the respect and honor and the admiration of his bar association, sufficient to achieve his appointment to that bench, whether he comes from Allegheny, Fayette, Chester or whatever county it may be he is a man worthy to be appointed to that bench and we ought not to limit his right by placing this limitation upon him.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman and I would not want to have barriers on the court or lawyers or anyone else.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Bane.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BANE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Fayette if he has any knowledge of the requirements to be a member of the House as far as residence in the state and district are concerned?

Mr. BANE. I don't think that I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to refer the gentleman to Article II of the Constitution which says:

> "Senators shall be at least twenty-five years of age and Representatives twenty-one years of age. They shall have been citizens and inhabitants of the State four years, and inhabitants of their respective districts one year next before their election."

Now, I am under the impression, Mr. Speaker, that any elected Member must have residence in the state or the district where he is elected for a certain length of time. That time does vary, but I can see no reason why a judge should not have two years' residence when a Member of this House must have one year's residence in the district and four years in the state.

Mr. EDWIN S LIVINGSTON. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, on this bill that I don't think any of us would sit here and admit the we don't have a man in the whole county that could fill the job.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. Speaker, this is the other bill that I previously mentioned. There is only one change in this bill, one word that changes the number required to secure group life insurance from fifty to twenty-five. The fifty makes it possible for a smaller group to enjoy this form of insurance.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, a few years ago the poet laureate of our House, the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, composed a little ditty, "Somebody stole my bill." I wondered at that particular time how he felt. I sort of feel the same way he did a few years ago, somebody stole our bill—that is Representative Mills and myself.

On January 21st a similar bill was introduced by Representative Mills and myself and was referred to the Committee on Judiciary. I believe it is still sleeping there and possibly will. I notice that Representative Royer—and I was certainly glad that the bill came out of committee, because I am in favor of it 100 percent—introduced a like bill on March 26th which has seen the light of day and it is out. I am glad that it has come out. This is only a start of doing something for the soldiers.

The Democratic Party and the leaders of the Democratic Party asked very much for a special session in reference to soldier bonus, and if that had been called it would have been possible for this bonus to have been paid two years earlier.

Also during the 1945 session Senator Gourley, who is now Judge Gourley, introduced a State G. I. bill of rights. It never saw the light of day, never came out.

Practically nothing has been done for the soldier up to the present time. There has been every opportunity. This will not help the soldiers until 1950. Let us do something for them now.

I hope this is the beginning of something worth while. Just today I happened to pick up a copy of the Veterans' Journal that happened to be 100 percent for the Republican party in the last election. This is a part of an editorial, which reads as follows:

"Forty-seven of the United States have loosened the bonds of taxi-cab monopolies and granted to responsible ex-service personnel franchises giving them the right to operate cabs. The remaining, and forty-eight, Pennsylvania, has not."

This comes from a very strong pro-Republican paper.

I do believe many things can be done for the veterans.

I had a few veteran doctors come to me during the past year, and state that during the time they spent overseas in the service they did not have a chance to make hospital connections. They are trying to do it now. It is practically impossible for them to get into a hospital because they are filled up, and this has possibly occurred hundreds of times, so I say let us not stop here. Let this be a beginning of something worth while for all veterans.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. In House Bill No. 1013, Mr. Speaker, the only new matter in that measure in on the third line, but there is no indication that there is any new matter in the bill. What is the status of the bill, and where does that leave us?

The SPEAKER. The Majority Leader informs the Chair that on page 2 of the bill, line 3, the words "any district thereof" is added in the bill, and should have been added in the bill. It is not an amendatory bill; it is a joint resolution amending the Constitution, therefore it is not necessary that it be underlined.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1057, as follows:

An Act to amend section twenty-two and add section twenty-two point one to the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 955), entitled "An act to promote public health, safety, morals, and welfare by declaring the necessity of creating public bodies, corporate and politic, to be known as housing authorities to engage in slum clearance, and to undertake projects, to provide dwelling accommodations for persons of low income; providing for the organization of such housing authorities; defining their powers and duties; providing for the exercise of such powers, including the acquisition of property by purchase, gift or eminent domain, the renting and selling of property, and including borrowing money, issuing bonds, and other obligations, and giving security therefor; prescribing the remedies of obligees of housing authorities; authorizing housing authorities to enter into agreements, including agreements with the United States, the Commonwealth, and political subdivisions and municipalities thereof; defining the application of zoning, sanitary and building laws and regulations to projects built or maintained by such housing authorities; exempting the property and securities of such housing authorities from taxation; and imposing duties and conferring powers upon the State Board of Housing, and certain other State officers and departments," regulating manner of applying for and receiving grant or funds from the Federal and State Government or of any instrumentality thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GREER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 22), page 4, lines 13 to 19, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof: "upon completion of an application of an Authority for financial assistance of the Federal Government in connection with a housing project, the Authority shall present to the State Board of Housing the said application and supporting data. The application and data shall be presented by the State Board of Housing within twenty (20) days from the receipt thereof to the Federal agency in question, with the recommendations of the State Board of Housing. Should the State Board of Housing fail within the said twenty (20) day period, to forward said application and document to the Federal Government or its appropriate agency, the Authority shall be permitted to present its applicantion to the Federal Government or its agency. During the pendency of an application to the Federal Government or its agency for its assistance as aforesaid, the Authority shall file with the State Board of Housing copies of all correspondence agreements and documents that may be exchanged between the Authority and representatives of the Federal Government in connection with the project."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BROWN. May I ask the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Greer, a question, Mr. Speaker, concerning the amendment he just inserted in House Bill No. 1057, Printers No. 222?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GREER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if I am correct in interpreting the amendment to House Bill 1057, Printer's No. 222, that the procedure whereby an authority clears through the State Authority Board is advisory only? Am I correct in that conclusion?

Mr. GREER. I would say it is advisory.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add the names of Messrs. CLARENCE M. SMITH, HENRY, UPSHUR, THOMPSON and MINTESS to a resolution he was about to introduce.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. BROWN, CLARENCE M. SMITH, HENRY, UPSHUR, THOMPSON and MINTESS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 14, 1947.

W. Justin Carter, Sr., Esquire of the Dauphin County Bar, after a brief illness, was called to his reward March 23, 1947, at the age of eighty years, leaving to his associates and many friends an indelible memory of service and devotion to his race and to the better understanding between peoples of different colors.

A remarkable and successful legal career of fifty-three years duration attests only a part of his wide and varied activities and interests. In 1910 he was a delegate to the Universal Races Congress in London, England, as a representative of the American Negro, which Congress was held concurrently with the coronation of King George V and in both national and local affairs he was a prominent citizen as his many honors and titles bear lasting testimony.

His death has deprived his race and the nation as a whole of a man whose way of life and ideals have played an important role in tolerance and brotherhood.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives expresses its sorrow and sense of loss of a distinguished citizen and offer its sincere condolence to the widow and children in their bereavement, and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to Mrs. Elizabeth M. Carter, the widow of W. Justin Carter, Sr., Esquire.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Honorable Gus Wachhaus, Sr., Member of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania and the House of Representatives, from Schuylkill County, was born March 15, 1901 in Shenandoah. He attended Shenandoah Public Schools, Overbrook School for the Blind, and Perkins Institution for the Blind. He is the father of three sons and is in business in Shenandoah.

Ever since his election to the House of Representatives in 1942, he has been devoted to public service and to the improvement of the conditions for the Blind. He has constantly worked for the best interests of his fellow blind of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. He is responsible for the introduction of some of the most important legislation for his fellow blind in the history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, such as:

House Bill No. 245, introduced in the 1943 Session of the General Assembly, enacted into Law 65-A, creating the Home Teaching Services of the State Council for the Blind; House Bill 878, introduced in the 1943 Session of the General Assembly and enacted into Law 356, creating the Employment Fund for the Blind in the State Council for the Blind; House Bill 958, introduced in the 1943 Session of the General Assembly, enacted into Law 66-A, improving the Prevention of Blindness and Remedial Eye Care service of the State Council for the Blind; House Bill 496, introduced in the 1945 Session, enacted into law as Act 75-A, creating the Vocational Rehabilitation service of the State Council for the Blind.

In respect to his unusual contribution to the welfare of the blind and in gratitude to him from his fellow blind, on behalf of the Pennsylvania Federation of the blind, and the blind of Pennsylvania, I have the pleasure and privilege to present in their behalf to my colleague the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wachhaus, this engraved photograph to be retained by him as a living symbol of his continuing faithful public service.

Mr. WACHHAUS. Mr. Speaker, I want to express my appreciation to the members of the Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind for this presentation. I knew a little about it but didn't expect this to take place in the Hall of the House.

And, Mr. Speaker, I ask you now to gaze on this photograph and ask the members of the House to do likewise, and ask in all sincerity, "who is the best man in the House, and why am I?"

But to be serious for a moment if I may—I realize the hour is getting late, the plight of the blind is not new; they have always been with us and will always remain. True it is that much has been done in recent years to improve the condition of the blind. Nevertheless much still remains to be done and I am happy to have been a part of the improvement that has been given my fellow blind.

The conditions as they are now are much better than they were twenty-five or fifty years ago. I know even in the thirty-five years that I have been totally blind myself the conditions have improved vastly due to legislation in these very Halls.

I have been very happy to have been a part of them and will continue to serve the blind to my utmost and to bring their conditions to even a higher level than at present. I want to thank those who have aided me and urged me on to bigger and better things for my fellow blind. I shall continue to operate in the same manner from now on. I thank you.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1947. 137th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 30. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1947. No. 39.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 15, 1947

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Daniel B. Strickler) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. W. MURRAY YOUNG offered the following prayer:

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting. May the words of our mouth and the meditations of our heart be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord, our Strength and our Redeemer. Clory Thyself by our labors, by our sacrifices, and by our faithfulness. We pray Thee to crown us with the riches of pure thought, with high aspirations, and self-denial. We thank Thee heartily for noble souls in every age who fought a good fight against evil; who kept the faith and finished the course of life with honor and dignity. Of these it must be said, "Well done, good and faithful servants, you have been faithful over a few things, now you shall be ruler over many things; enter thou into the kingdom of Thy Lord."

We, therefore, O God, dedicate this brief devotional period, at the beginning of another legislative day, to the sacred memory of good men and women of our State and Nation who left us an heritage, undefiled, incorruptible, and that fadeth not away. Amen.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I have seen a lot of good and bad legislation on the calendar of the Senate of Pennsylvania and for the most part I sit back and vote "aye" or "nay", as the case may be, to express my pleasure or displeasure.

I do not think many votes have ever been changed in debate on the Senate floor and I do not expect to gain any votes by my remarks on this particular bill, House Bill 135, but I do think this type of legislation is worthy of some comment, so that the people of the state of Pennsylvania may know what is going on in this 1947 session of the Legislature.

Last week I had the pleasure of attending a banquet and that gathering was addressed by a Congressman, who informed the audience that in the Eightieth Session of the Congress, in more than three months of activities down there, only one bill of major importance had been passed, and that bill had to do with the prohibiting of the presidential succession to not more than two terms.

When I heard that revelation made I was surprised at the Congress of the United States and I was proud that I was a member of the 1947 Session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, because I knew that could not happen here; it could not be that we would limit ourselves to one piece of important legislation such as we have on the calendar today.

As a matter of fact, we have had a lot of very fine legislation in this session thus far—we have had bills pertaining to garbage, we have had bills pertaining to garbage disposal, we have had bills pertaining to sewer construction, we have had bills pertaining to sewage disposal; we have had several dog bills passed, that is, pertaining to the planting of trees; we have had a lot of run-of-the-mill legislation, such as validating acts and other bills to correct mistakes of lawyers we have had some bank and insurance bills.

But now, Mr. President, we come to the piece-de-resistance, as my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Di-Silvertro would say. This is the dessert following a fine meal, a fine meal of former legislation such as the gerrymandering of congressional districts in the county of Allegheny in the 1943 session; the discontinuance of the State Authority to deplete the state treasury of an unlawfully acquired surplus in order to thwart the just and honest demands of school teachers of our Commonwealth; we have had ripper bills, such as the tearing out of the Auditor General's office as a watchdog in the collection of inheritance taxes, in order to remove a few Democratic employes; we have successfully shifted the tax burden from those who can best pay to those who can least afford to pay.

And now we come to House Bill 135. In the birth of this bill I am reminded of that old piece of music that was brought out in one of George White's Scandals, called "The Birth of the Blues."

I say this is a birthday. This bill was conceived by my colleague from Northampton County, a vigorous little gentleman in the full flower of youth, serving his first term in the House; he has not been worn down by the labor pains of former sessions and he is the daddy of this bill. But you have to have a midwife for a successful birth, and this bill has been midwifed by the Majority Leaders of the House and Senate, the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter and the Honorable Oscar J. Tallman. By their untiring and devoted service and loving care we are priviledged to attend the birth of an infant baby, somewhat of a political monstrosity but an infant baby nevertheless. The medical attendants for the birth are the eminent physicians, Dr. Evans Kephart, Chairman of the Committee on Elections, and the Chief Surgeon, Harvey Taylor. These men, devoted to their science of bigger and better politics at any price, are performing a stalwart job of delivering and spanking the baby.

It was pointed out, when this bill was voted on in the House, that legislation of this subject matter is not new. The subject matter of this bill, in case there are any members of the Senate that do not know, merely has to do with the changing of the method by which first place on the election ballot is determined.

In 1892 first place was determined by the result of presidential elections but in 1892 something happened in the United States—Grover Cleveland was elected president—so that in 1893 the Pennsylvania Legislature enacted a law, 1893, P. L. 25, by which first place on the ballot should be determined by the result of the state elections.

In 1931 the Pennsylvania Legislature changed that law. Now, mind you, they then did abide the result of the state election, but in 1931 they changed that and they put it over to the presidential election but in 1932 something else happened—Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected President—and first place on the ballot was still presidential determination.

In 1937 the Pennsylvania Legislature codified the election laws and, in a very good job of codification, they permitted the first place on the ballot to abide by the results of the presidential election.

Now we come up to 1947, on the eve of the coming presidential election next year and now the Republican Legislature of Pennsylvania, apparently fearful of the outcome of this election, proposes a change to fix the first place ballot according to the state election.

I do not know how good you are at guessing; you have not guessed well in past years, as is shown by that record that I have given you. Perhaps you are guessing better this time and perhaps you know that you are not going to elect a president next year and therefore this change today is necessary.

I do think there are bigger and better things in the state of Pennsylvania to which we could be giving our time and consideration. Here we are in almost the end of the fourth month of this session and we have not yet had a school teacher's bill, either had a hearing on a school teacher's bill or had such a bill on the calendar of either the House or the Senate. We have not yet considered very much about the Crippled Children's Hospital that I happened to mention casually yesterday. We have not yet done anything for the people who are in our asylums in the state of Pennsylvania, the conditions in which are so terrible and about which we read so much in Life Magazine and other magazines of national importance last fall.

Mr. President, it does not seem that we are turning to small things when we have to resort to passage of a bill of this type and I, for one, am going to vote "no" and suggest and recommend to the reasonable minds of all of you Senators that you join me in that negative vote on this type of legislation.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I desire at this time to call to the attention of the members of the Senate the fact that we have some visitors from Chester County, some of whom are at the right and some of whom are in the gallery.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair, on behalf of the Senators, welcomes to the Senate the visitors from Chester County and hopes they will enjoy their visit at the Capitol.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, frankly I was disappointed in the statement of the gentleman from Chester—not in the statement as to the presence of the ladies, of course, because we all welcome the ladies here, but we over on this side thought we were going to hear a defense of this piece of legislation and really, I suppose, the gentleman from Chester gave about the only defense that he could give to this piece of legislation. Since the gentleman, my colleague from Northampton, Senator Woodring, said today is a birthday, it is always nice to have ladies present when a new baby is born.

What I started to come up to the microphone for was that we do not want the opposition to get any cock-eyed idea as to why we are fighting this bill. We are fighting it merely as a matter of principle. Ever since I was a little kid out in a coal mining town, playing baseball, I have always borne in mind certain rudiments of the game and these principles have stood with me all through my life, in business, civic political and in my religious life. I have always felt that when you enter any kind of a contest and rules are made for the management of that contest, that you carry the contest to its conclusion before anybody has a right to change the rules. I do not believe that any American boy would like to have set before him this example that we are witnessing this afternoon, changing the rules in the middle of the game

There are times, of course, when political expediency necessitates bold action on the part of a political party, but this political party that is now moving in such fashion just won a victory by a very handsome majority of over 600,000. I think the Lieutenant-Governor knows that I remember that election very well, and I am not objecting to you trying to gather a few more bewildered votes by getting first place on the ballot.

However, it does not make that much difference. Winning elections is not the only thing in life. Why, I would rather keep my sense of balance and know that I would go through life playing the game as prescribed by the rules of the game than to win any victory within the giving of the people in a political campaign.

You can have first place on the ballot, and we do hope you have the same fortune we had when we had first place on the ballot. The people of Pennsylvania know who they want to vote for and you can put yourselves first, or anywhere else that you want on the ballot, but when the people finally catch up to the kind of legislation you are promoting here in Harrisburg they will seek you out and destroy you. They have done it to us. In 1935 and 1937 we thought we were following the dictates of the mandates of the people but we were only whistling in the dark; we did not know just what the people in Pennsylvania wanted but I know this, they do not want any majority to trample the minority under foot; they do not want any majority to take advantage of their voting strength in a legislative body to deliberately do that which they would not attempt to do unless they were ruthless and arrogant in their position.

I say to you the rules of the game have been prescribed; we come into the game on opposite sides; you have been to bat and you have won and now, because you have won, you want to change the rules so that those who are on the bench waiting their turn to bat do not get the same fair crack at the ball that you have had.

You can have the legislation but we will have the eternal satisfaction of voting against it.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this piece of legislation.

However, I would like to look at this from a philosophical standpoint. I feel that tomorrow, when the generalissimos get together and they pick their candidates, if the Democratic party is fortunate enough to pick someone who has no communistic leanings or Fascist leanings but who is really an American, then we can be proud of our candidate, pitted against the candidate of the opposite party, so why should we worry about it because if we have put up the right kind of candidate the people will understand—they are intelligent, good Americans and they will know what they should do.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, they say coming events always cast their shadows and the dark shadow of 1948 is now being cast.

Certainly I felt that the Republicans thought they were quite secure in their position, but from all indications they are very fearful of what might happen this year and next year. Taking this position at this time, and changing the ballot and placing your names in first place, will not cover up the type of legislation you are placing on our statutes in 1947, your tax program, your anti-labor bills. The people of the Commonwealth will find our names, no matter where you may place them, they will find our names this year and next year.

Mr. KLEIN. Mr. President, I am afraid my distinguished colleagues from Cambria and Westmoreland are making much ado about nothing, and I feel the same way about the sponsor of the bill and the Republican majority who will vote for this bill.

I understand that the Democratic caucus has taken caucus action and decided to oppose this piece of legislation. I am at this time going to request my colleagues to excuse me from voting against this bill and the reason I am going to make this request is because I believe the American people today know extectly what they are going to do when election day comes, and whether the Democrats have first place or second place on the ballot, it seems to me that it makes no difference.

I still have a great deal of confidence in the American people and regardless of position, I think when election day comes they will be very able to determine what choice they desire to make.

For this reason, and for the reason that I have a great deal of confidence in the American system of government and in the American voter, I am joining with the Republican Majority in casting my vote for this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of Senate Bill 371, Mr. Lloyd H. Wood.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, on page 2, line 10 of this bill there appears the wording "health authorities." Do you mean by that the Department of Health or the local health authorities.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Local health authorities, I assume that is what that means.

Mr. HALUSKA, It is not quite clear. I do not know whether that means the Department of Health or the local health authorities in our counties.

Mr LLOYD H. WOOD Mr. President, I should say, by the process of elimination, we only have two types of authorities in Pennsylvania, and as the bill now exists we have the State Health Department, so that must mean local health authorities.

Mr. HALUSKA. Of course, Mr. President, the gentleman is assuming that; is that right?

Mr WOOD. Yes, Mr President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I think we are going quite far afield in passing such legislation. Under this bill, if passed, we are giving the local health authorities the right to make their own rules and regulations governing the lives of one of the largest industries in our Commonwealth, the eating and drinking places of this Commonwealth; you are definitely putting the liquor industry into politics. Just as long as we have one uniform rule set up by the Department of Health at Harrisburg, it applies to all eating and drinking places, and up until the present time it has been a fair rule handed down but now, under this bill, each and every political subdivision may and will set up its own rules, and if they so see fit they can make such rules as to drive out of business anybody they want to. I am sure that the majority on the other side does not have that in mind, but if you pass this bill you certainly are asking for trouble. This is a very bad bill and I think the bill should be defeated.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, will the sponsor of this bill permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I will, Mr President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I wonder of the gentelman from Montgomery could make clear whether or not by this bill the local authorities can put themselves above the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. President, I should say in the first instance I fail to catch the connection between the provisions in this measure and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

I should like to say in reply to the Senator from Allegheny that this bill originally was passed in 1945, and under this measure the State Department of Health has charge of the enforcement; you had the local authorities doing the investigating and you had enforcement primarily vested in the Department of Health.

Mr. President, I feel that a person who believes in home rule may be consistent in voting for this measure. I have discusssed the matter with some of the Senators on the minority side and they were apprenhensive, soon after this bill was placed on the calendar, as to just what might be the outcome, but let me say publicly here what I said to them privately, that I am not interested in setting up a log-rolling situation in any political subdivision. I am in favor of home rule. I refuse to believe the people back home are going to abuse this measure and if they do and I am in the happy position of being back here in 1949, I will join them in helping to repeal it. I certainly can not be any fairer than that.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in the opinion of the gentleman from Montgomery, if the Liquor Control Board gives a license, can the local health people come in and take the license away? Is that possible under the bill?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I Should say that if that is possible under this bill, we are not now making it possible—it was possible in 1945 or after the bill became effective.

Mr. HOLLAND. Not for the local health authorities, Mr. President.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. It is just a question of degree, Mr. President. All we are doing with this measure is just bringing enforcement of it back home. I can not understand why there should be this objection to having the local authorities administer legislation that, among other things, provides for regulatory measures locally. That is what this gets down to.

Mr. HOLLAND. I do not suscribe to those very sacred words "home rule." Anybody in politics knows that when they speak of home rule all they are talking about is getting a little power back to their own organization and shaking down somebody. That is about the best expression I know of for home rule.

If these health authorities are going to use that power honestly, I would be for it, but we have the inspection by the state health authorities right along and what worries me is that some unscrupulous health authority in a local community, on the home rule level, may use it as a means of going around and doing a little bit of shaking down. We all know a lot of that is being done in the state and I do not see why we need it. The Liquor Control Board has not asked for it, and I do not see why we need this bill, because we are getting along very nicely under the other arrangement.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. President, I have no desire to get into a protracted debate, where it becomes a contest as to who is going to say the last word, but it seems to me it is grossly unfair to say on the floor of this Senate that just because a measure is going to be placed in the hands of the local authorities for enforcement, that it is going to be abused.

The gentleman from Allegheny has certainly introduced no conclusive evidence that would justify one in drawing the inference that just because people back home who happen to be in public office at the moment charged with enforcement of this measure, that they are going to shake somebody down. If the design of this bill is to shake somebody down, it is only a question of degree. What difference does it make.

I have already been afoul of this bill locally myself. I do not want to go into the details, but we are put to a terrible lot of inconvenience trying to get adjustments through the Department of Health and, to be honest with you, they want to get rid of it as it is a headache to them.

This bill has the approval and consent of the Department of Health. I do not think it is fair—I am talking about the people in Senator Holland's district the same as in my own—I do not think we ought to get up here and criticize people that hold public office back home. There is a remedy—if they are unscrupulous, kick them out.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 402, as follows:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1743 Number 368) entitled "An act relating to magistrates and magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia imposing certain duties upon and prohibiting certain practices by magistrates imposing certain duties on the city controller in regard thereto authorizing the employment by him of additional clerks and fixing their compensation regulating the practice in magistrates' courts the entering of bail and the issuance of discharges in criminal cases in the county of Philadelphia conferring certain powers over magistrates and magistrates' courts and imposing certain duties in connection therewith upon the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia providing for the appointment and employment of stenographers to report proceedings in certain cases heard by magistrates fixing salaries of persons employed by authority of this act providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing certain prior acts" by removing the restrictions against magistrates participating in political activities

Section 1 Section three of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1743 Number 368) entitled "'An act relating to magistrates and magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia imposing certain duties upon and prohibiting certain practices by magistrates imposing certain duties on the city controller in regard thereto authorizing the employment by him of additional clerks and fixing their compensation regulating the practice in magistrates' courts the entering of bail and the issuance of discharges in criminal cases in the county of Philadelphia conferring certain powers over magistrates and magistrates' courts and imposing certain duties in connection therewith upon the judges of the courts of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia providing for the appointment and employment of stenographers to report proceedings in certain cases heard by magistrates fixing salaries of persons employed by authority of this act providing penalties for violations of the provisions thereof and repealing certain prior acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 No magistrate shall personally engage in any other business or profession or hold any other public office [or serve as a representative of any political party in any assembly district senatorial district or congressional district or on the executive committee or any other governing body of any political party organization] Each of the magistrates shall devote his entire time and attention to the duties of his office and no magistrate clerk stenographer or other officer or employe provided for herein shall demand or receive any money or other thing of value for the performance or nonperformance of any of the duties pertaining to his office other than fees and compensation allowed by law

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I rise, like Don Quixote, to tilt with the windmill, and, like Don Quixote, I know that the windmills are going to win, but my conscience would not rest if I did not make the fight for what I consider the right.

For the benefit of certain newspaper men, this is the same conscience that revolted during the parking bill fight last week. A week ago the magistrates opposed this bill, at least according to the Philadelphia Inquirer. I read from the Philadelphia Inquirer of Wednesday, April 2—the day after April Fool's Day, and this is from the breezy column of Frank Bookhauser "It's Happening Here," and I quote:

"Most of the city's magistrates are opposed to a bill now in the Legislature, which would scrap the 1937 Magistrate's Court Act prohibiting them from engaging in political activities.

"The new measure would restore their right to be ward leaders and to hold office in political organizations. The Board of Magistrates, consisting of 28 members headed by Chief Magistrate John J. O'Malley, was 'emancipated' from political control ten years ago.

"The magistrates—or a definite majority of them—are hoping that Governor James H. Duff will block the current bill or use his power to have it thrown out of the legislative body."

Mr. President, I assume that the Inquirer is an authority on this matter. Its pontifical column about my speech here last week sounded that way.

What happened during that week to change the minds of the magistrates. The temper of the people of Philadelphia is strongly against magistrates being in policies. The desire of some politicians is to have the magistrates back in politics.

Justice must always—always, I say—be divorced from politics. You see, oil and water will not mix, it never mixes, and justice and politics is the same way, they can not mix. Never, as long as I have a vote anywhere, will I vote to contaminate justice with politics.

About eleven years ago in the city of Philadelphia it was the practice, sometimes weekly, other times monthly, for the Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia to indict or call before the Board of Judges this magistrate or that magistrate. This was all before the 1937 magistrate's bill was passed under the Earle administration. It seemed that some of our good boys, those magistrates who tried to be nice fellows with their constituents, would go overboard, and would do so unreasonably, and there would be complaints from disgruntled citizens of Philadelphia, so that the Board of Judges in Philadelphia was constantly annoyed by complaints and they had to reprimand here and there.

But I fail to recollect, and if my memory serves me well, I fail to remember, since the magistrate's bill of 1937 was passed, where the Board of Judges of the Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia has ever been annoyed again as they were before the passage of this measure.

I do not want to burden you members of this Senate with any more arguments but, as I have said before, I feel that politics and justice are not mixers and I therefore intend to vote against this bill, and I hope that Governor Duff will use the same judgment that one of our preceding Governors used and veto this bill if it receives a constitutional majority in this chamber.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am going to do some encroaching upon Drew Pearson, because I am going to make two predictions. I am going to go further than Senator DiSilvestra. I predict that his Excellency, Governor Duff, will veto this bill. From my observations, although I belong to the opposite party, Governor Duff is a political scientist par excellence and, as such, he will not allow the passage of this bill, or the enactment of this bill. My second prediction will be made later.

The French pilosopher, Voltaire, said that he would rather have Mephisto legislate and Gabriel enforce the law, than vice versa, than have Gabriel legislate and Mephisto enforce the law.

In this bill you create in Philadelphia a Mephisto and the people of Philadelphia will have to be aware of that.

My opposition to House Bill 402 is both an admonition against and a defense of our minor judiciary. The passage of this bill, removing restrictions against participation of magistrates in political activities, is pregnant with many dangers to our minor judiciary.

I respectfully submit that the passage of this bill will degrade in the eyes of our citizenry the minor judiciary and will hasten the day when it will be completely abolished.

The minor judiciary has two important functions in our judicial system. First, it ascertains whether or not a prima facie case has been established against an alleged criminal and decides upon the amount of the bail.

This function of the minor judiciary, if properly administered, can become a powerful weapon against criminals. It is in the magitsrates' courts that law violators attempt to deflate their offenses or completely escape trial in courts of record.

It is clear and self-evident that stern and swift justice in the magistrates' courts will instill in the hearts of criminals a respect for the law and will thus act as a deterrent against the recurrence of infractions. Laxity on the part of the magistrates will, on the other hand be conducive to the breeding of criminals.

Setting the bail is another important function of the magistrate. Inadequate bail allows a criminal to remain free to continue in his nefarious practices and delay the day of trial in the criminal courts of record.

I respectfully submit that allowing magistrates to participate in political activities will expose them to such crushing pressures that will interfere with their swift and stern administration of our criminal procedure.

A resolution was recently introduced by the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Crider, asking for a study of our criminal procedure by the Joint State Government Commission.

Now I shall make my second prediction. I predict that if you pass this measure today you will hear mighty voices throughout the entire Commonwealth clamoring for the abolition of the magistrates' courts as the initial phase of criminal procedure, and the substitution in lieu thereof of scientific and effective methods for the ascertainment of a prima facie criminal offense.

The obsolescence of the magistrate's court as a "poor man's" court is self-evident. It has been an established practice to enter judgment for the plaintiff and advise the defendent, if he chooses to appeal his case to a court of record. How then can magistrates' courts justify their existence unless they serve society in a proper manner.

This bill, if it passes, will no doubt degrade the minor judiciary and turn the wrath of the citizenry of Pennsylvania upon them, and for that reason, defending the minor judiciary, I intend to cast my vote in the negative.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this bill represents a radical departure from the general trend of things and a definite reversal of the movement to free various branches of our government, particularly the judicial branch, from the influence of politics. It definitely pushes the political clock back rather than forward. The magistrate's court, a minor judiciary, is known as the "Poor Man's Court," and the present law was designed to protect the minor judiciary against the ravages of cheap, petty politics. The magistrate, being free from politics, could think clearly and act impartially on all matters that came up before him, and it naturally followed that even-handed justice would be administered in a poor man's court, and to a large extent since 1937 it was so administered. Hence we can see a decided improvement in the administration of justice as far as the public is concerned, and after all we are interested in the public.

Under the present law, the magistrate, free from politics, his opinions and conceptions of law are not colored. He is obviously free from the prejudice and influence that would attend his participation in politics.

The present bill puts the magistrate in a strong, but dangerous position of stampeding voters into voting against their better judgment, would interfere considerably with the administration of justice, make a mockery of the law, and further, make the magistrate's court a rendezvous of runners and professional bondsmen who have political connections, to say nothing of the ward healers.

Our judicial branch of government is a sacred one, and all its members should be free to dispense justice impartially, fairly, and squarely. It has often been said that the best politics is good government. How then can you have good government when the politics is unwise and poor? Our courts should at all tmes be clean and free from evil influences and sinister elements. I know from my own experience what takes place at magistrates' offices, and frankly, I am not very proud of it. At least the Act of 1937 put them on their good behavior, and there was a decided improvement in the administration of justice.

The present bill undoubtedly was hatched in the minds of ward healers and petty politicians who are not interested in good government. Further, I dare say that magistrates who are actuated by selfish and dishonest motives, are behind this particular bill. These ward healers and petty politicians and selfish magistrates are not interested in our people. They are simply out to get as much as they possibly can without any regard for the needs and wants of our people.

This bill is a political decision, and today, mind you, political decisions no longer represent individual expressions of our people. The right of the individual to an equal voice in the affairs of the government is the guiding force of our political structure. A democracy ,today is totally dependent upon public opinion. It has, therefore, been suggested: "There ought to be in every nation a method of occasionally ascertaining the state of public opinion with respect to government." Such things are rendered impossible by the avarice and greed and control of factions by the politicians. Frankly, do you know when, if ever, the politicians have sought the advice and an expression of opinion by our people? They are simply eager to perpetuate their position by their dictation and lust for power.

If this matter were put to a vote before the people today, I dare say they would definitely vote against participation by the magistrates in politics.

The enforcement of the law the administration of justice—is the most important task confronting an organized society. A law may be defined as a rule of conduct which the members of a community are determined to see enforced even at the cost of time, money, and inconvenience to themselves, but such enforcement can hardly be expected at the hands of politically-ridden magistrates.

The task of the judiciary is to determine what is right and just for all. How can you possibly have the judiciary determine what is right and just when they are prejudiced and influenced and their opinions colored in the administration of justice? Cheap politics brings about this very condition. The courts, I take it, have the task of meting out equality and justice. Equality is the basis of our government. But how can there be equality without even-handed administration of justice?

Let me now read to you in this connection one of the canons of judicial ethics to bear out my contention in this matter, and this is for the benefit of the attorneys, parteularly from Philadelphia, and I now quote: Sec. 28, Partisan Politics, P. 98:

"While entitled to entertain his personal views of political questions, and while not required to surrender his rights or opinions as a citizen, it is inevitable that suspicion of being warped by political bias will attach to a judge who becomes the active promoter of the interests of one political party as against another. He should avoid making political speeches, making or soliciting payment of assessments or controbutions to party funds, the public endorsement of candidates for political office and participation in party conventions."

This is the result of the wisdom and intelligence of the best lawyers in the land.

This sounds like good common sense to me and should apply to our magistrates' courts where we get our first conception of justice and law.

The act of 1937, having freed the magistrates' courts from the yoke of politics, let them stay emancipated once and for all. And I say to you with all the emphasis at my command, vote down this bill, and in so doing inflict a sharp rebuke on those who are not interested in good and decent government.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have no special desire to get involved in this donegal concerning the squires in Philadelphia. The cloak of righteousness has been wrapped around the magistrates in Philadelphia and they are taken out of politics and I am a little confused by the argument of the learned gentlemen from Philadelphia as to why they should continue to stay out of politics.

A Philadelphia magistrate on a judiciary plane rises no higher than a squire in Westmoreland County; the jurisdiction is about the same. Every alderman in the city of Pittsburgh, every squire in the county of Allegheny, is not appointed or annointed to public office; he is elected by the people.

I do not know what kind of politics they have in Philadelphia that these gentlemen are referring to, that would destroy the character and the fitness of a magistrate if he dares get within touching distance of the political life of that fair community.

I do not see any reason why a squire should not be in politics in Philadelphia, when he has to run for office; I can not understand why they should be removed from the judiciary that is in the other sixty-six counties of the state. There is nothing about politics that will destroy the effectiveness of justice, whether the individual involved is a member of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or a squire in one of our rural counties, or an alderman or a magistrate in the city of Philadelphia.

I think it would be beneficial to those who hold public office, by virtue of election, if they do make a contribution to politics and if they have the right type of candidates for magistrates in Philadelphia, those magistrates can make a contribution to the improvement of the political life of Philadelphia. Nowhere else in Pennsylvania do we screen our aldermen or squires from active participation in the elections in the cities or the boroughs or the townships and I yet have not heard any arguments from the other side, except a lot of verbiage about the horror of politics and the fact that this would destroy justice.

One of the things we complain about the most is the fact that our judges are not in politics, because we do not want them to have their justice affected by perhaps political observations but at the same time there is hardly a member of this Senate who has not publicly or privately criticized his judge or judges because the only time you ever hear from them politically is when they get ready to run for re-election; you never see them anywhere, is the complaint I hear repeatedly, until it is time for them to run for office, and then out they come, dusting off the glove and giving you a cold clammy handshake.

The gentlemen from Philadelphia want to wrap this cloak around a bunch of squires and say they can not run for office except on a higher plane than any other person who seeks public office. I still would like to have the gentlemen from Philadelphia explain to me, and to the members of this Senate, if they are interested, why the magistrates in the city of Philadelphia, who are nothing but squires as far as the judicial plane is concerned, why they are in any different position or should be in any different position than the squires in Allegheny county, Armstrong county, Westmoreland county or any other county.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I can readily understand my friend from the smoky city—he reminds me of the old saying that a man is the product of his environment. Naturally we are more senstive to this proposition because in Philadelphia we have the sitting judge proposition, where the judges carry their chairs around with them for ten years—the sitting judge proposition—and it makes the judges divorced from politics. If I read correctly, when I read some of the newspapers from the western part of the state, I notice that there is quite a fanfare in Pittsburgh when it comes to electing judges, and they really have it out good and hard in their elections, and the best man wins and he is judge, if I am correct.

In Philadelphia you can not touch the toga because they say that it would contaminate justice, and that is what makes us sensitive; we feel like chancellors on this side, where our sensibilities are sort of touched up a little bit and we feel that they should not mix in politics.

I can understand how my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Walker, cannot get into this groove, so to speak, and enjoy this kind of atmosphere—we have lived in it for years in Philadelphia—that thou shalt not touch a judge in Philadelphia. If there is an outstanding man that we would like to advance to a judgeship; not a chance, because that is a sacred place.

I am sorry if we are so sensitive and my good friend from Pittsburgh does not feel the sensitiveness that we feel in Philadelphia.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I would like to be heard on this subject and I may approach it with a little circumlocution, in the first place, by saying that I feel a little sensitive of some of the criticism that I had from the other side for being what they said was a little too caustic in my criticism. There is no more even-tempered man in the Senate than I. I was once in court before Judge Audenreid and he said to me "Senator, won't you please stop losing your temper and be a little more even-tempered." I said, "Judge, there is no more even-tempered man than I am; I am always angry." I am a little angry at these fellows today that take the stand that they do, and I am going to, in a circumlocution, touch a little bit on the criticism of putting the Republicans at the head of the column on the bill that was recently passed and I hope will be finally approved.

I noticed that one of the distinguished Senators said it was a very good move which was made in 1937, when they decided in this Senate and in the Legislature to put the Democrats at the head of the ticket because of a Democrat being president and—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I might point out first of all that—

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I still have the floor.

The President. The gentleman from Northampton has the right to state a point of order. Is the gentleman from Northampton raising a point of order?

Mr. WOODRING. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. State your point of order.

Mr. WOODRING. My point of order, Mr. President, is first, that the gentleman from Philadelphia is not talking on the bill before the Senate and, secondly, if I am to be quoted I would like to be properly quoted.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the gentleman from Northampton is well taken. The Senator from Philadelphia will confine his debate to the bill before the Senate.

Mr. FRAZIER. In regard to this bill, putting magistrates back on the American plane of life, the only criticism I see is from gentlemen who were elected to this Senate in 1936 and served here from that time on continuously.

I find that in 1937, not only was this wonderful bill passed that I am not permitted to discuss, but I find that at that time this bill taking magistrates out of politics was passed when we had in the Senate thirty-four Democrats and sixteen Republicans and in the House one hundred fifty-four Democrats and fifty-four Republicans. There was a host of very fine legislation passed at that time also, there was an attempt to take the succession of the mayor of Philadelphia from the President of Council to the Democratic Comptroller; there was an attempt to rip out of office the Receiver of Taxes; there was an attempt to rip out the Board of View; there was a restriction placed on the assessors; there was provision made that the Board of Revision of Taxes should be changed in their number from three to seven, three of them to be appointed by the Tresurer and three of them to be appointed by the Comptroller.

In other words, this very self-conscious body of Democrats who are now so determined that the cloak of righteousness shall be put upon the Republicans and those who are holding office as magistrates, at that time were determined by all means within their power to take from the city of Philadelphia the Republican administration. I am quoting only a few of those things, but now I am surprised at the gentlemen who feel that their consciences are affected by this attempt now to put magistrates back in public life.

Senator Walker has said that we in Philadelphia seem to be outside the line of Pennsylvania in so far as the other side of the Senate is concerned. They want to do things to the Republican city of Philadelphia, the only large Republican city, the only city of over 500,000 population in the United States which has a full Republican administration, and they want to do everything in their power, in a spirit of righteousness, to take away from us any power which we have.

This suggestion seems to me so ridiculous, that you put a robe on the devil and make a saint out of him. I never knew a man who was elevated to the bench, whether as a magistrate or as a judge, who overnight became an apostle of all the virtues, and anyone who attempts to advance the thought in this chamber that the magistrates in Philadelphia now, who have lost their Americanism by the Act of 1937, are saints and do not listen to the appeals of their friends, and I think there are eleven Democratic magistrates and they all listen to the appeals and requests of their friends, and the gentlemen on the other side object to the fact that we are now trying to do something which gives these men the right to uphold themselves and lift up their heads, as is the right of every American citizen, and I think it is most unjust and most unfair for anybody over there to say that this is a political maneuver to try and get a few more votes.

I for one say to you, Mr. President, that I think any attempt to do this is a proper thing and I am very much disposed to introduce in this legislature a bill to give our mayor of Philadelphia the right to be an American citizen again.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I presume the gentleman who just spoke never heard of the hatchet act. I call it the hatchet act, because the Republicans used the hatchet in the backs of the Democrats in Congress when they passed that bill.

I also want to say to my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, that in Allegheny County when a man runs for judge it is always may the best man win. Senator Walker ran for a judgeship and he was defeated, so do not pay too much attention to his speech this afternoon, because that was his opening campaign address for the office of Common Pleas judge in Allegheny County.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, Senator Frazier is a gracious host, and I would suggest that he should invite some of our up-state colleagues and take them on a tour of the various magistrates' courts in Philadelphia. I believe that would be first-hand information and then our up-state colleagues would be in a position to learn more about the minor judiciary in Philadelphia.

Let us bear in mind that in Philadelphia we have eleven Democratic magistrates, and this bill will affect them too. I am not holding any brief for the Democratic magistrates.

Mr. President, this situation in Philadelphia reminds me of an old story when polygamy was legitimate. A man had two wives, one was young and one was old. He was in his middle forties and he had a sprinkling of gray hair. What happened?

Whenever he would come to visit his young wife she would pluck a grey hair from his head in order that he should look younger, and whenever he would come to visit his older wife she would pluck a black hair from his head in order that he should look older, and between those two women he became bold-headed.

Mr. President, that is exactly what happened to the population of Philadelphia, and for that reason we needed some protection and the act of 1937 was adequate protection.

Of course, today I learned something. There was once upon a time a member of the Senate who was always thundering about the unholy alliance between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, but Senator Walker put an end to that alliance and maybe now something good will be forthcoming.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I rise on a point of inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Northampton will proceed.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, is it possible, once a House Bill is on the Senate calendar, to have the number of that bill changed.

The PRESIDENT. It is not possible to have the number changed without proper action, no.

Mr. WOODRING. I thank the Chair. It just occurred to me that would be a very nice thing if this bill, House Bill 402, could be numbered House Bill 136, so that it could lie beside the first-place-on-the-ballot-bill, 135, and we could have a twin delivery.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will not take judicial notice of the remarks of the Senator from Northampton.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I would like to have this opportunity of declining the invitation of the distinguished Senator from Philadelphia to be host, but I suggest that Senator Jaspan take that job as he is much more virile and energetic than I am. In fact, he charged me with being a senile old man but I want to say this is no sign of senility, this hump on my back; that is from the weight of carrying 412,371 people on my back. Senator Jaspan comes from a district where there are only 75,096, so no wonder he is so volatile, no wonder he has so much time to make speeches and write speeches. I have more people in one ward than Senator Jaspan has in his entire district. Senator Jaspan had 34,000 votes cast in one district and I had in the 46th Ward 36,942 votes cast.

So, in order to properly represent my district, this senile old man has too much to do and therefore I can not play host, but Senator Jaspan, with his little vest-pocket district could take this job off my shoulders.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, when I drive to New York or fly to New York, I do not go by way of London or Paris, I take the shortest distance, and I think it is approximately ninety miles from Philadelphia to New York, but that is not so in the roundabout fashion Senator Frazier has taken.

With respect to the number of people in my district, I take it there are about 75,000 people in my district, but the gentleman from Philadelphia forgets that the 75,000 people in my district are the lower type, very poor, poverty-stricken, under-nourished, through no fault of their own, and consequently the number of criminals and the number of people seeking redress in the magistrates' courts is much higher than in his district.

Frankly, I have been in magistrates' courts—getting down to brass tacks now—about five hundred times in my twenty-four years of experience as a lawyer, and I believe it to be a sad commentary on our judicial branch of government when you make your observations, when you have experienced the things I have in magistrates' courts. Yes, there are some fine men among them, but very few, you could count them. Unfortunately, as we have said, they are politically minded.

Let me go one step further. My friend, Senator Frazier, gets the impression that by not permitting magistrates to participate actively in politics you are denying them the rights of citizenship. In answer let me say they still have the right to vote, they still have the right to discuss politics at any time they see fit.

But what was the purpose of the act of 1937? Realizing what had taken place for years before the act was passed, it was absolutely necessary. I have heard it argued on the other side by Senator Walker and Senator Frazier as well, that they ought to be in politics.

When we come from meetings before the Judiciary General Committee and other committees, I see members of the Bar representing the American Bar Association, representing the State Bar Association and the Philadelphia Bar Association, who are very much interested in decent and honest legislation, and I am sure the chairman of the committee, having so much faith in them, certainly believes in the ethics as propounded by them, and above all and more important as respects this bill, may I repeat: one of the canons of judicial ethics, to bear out my contention in this matter, and I believe every lawyer in this body, and we have many lawyers, is willing to follow that which was laid down by the American Bar Association.

They certainly do not condemn what is taking place today in Philadelphia; they feel it is a proper thing that magistrates should not participate in politics and let me read again, for the information of my friend from Philadelphia, one of the canons of judicial ethics:

"While entitled to entertain his personal views of political questions, and while not required to surrender his rights or opinions as a citizen, it is inevitable that suspicion of being warped by political bias will attach to a judge who becomes the active promoter of the interests of one political party as against another." This is not my quotation, this was laid down by the American Bar Association, and I take it my friend, Senator Frazier, is a member of the American Bar Association. I quote again "He should avoid making political speeches."

How can you expect justice—let us get down to brass tacks and call a spade a spade—before any magistrate who is interested in politics? On the one hand you have one politician there rubbing him one way and on his left you have another politician rubbing him the other way, and he is caught in between the horns of a dilemma, so how can he possibly decide a case squarely and fairly? Then he has to run to his ward leader or city leader and what do you get? No justice at all, except in a few cases.

I could go on talking on this subject, my friends, because I have experience, but again and again I say, keep them out of politics, they do not belong there, if you want a fair and square deal for our people.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, it was with keen delight that I listened to the flow of oratory from the representatives from Philadelphia and, once in a while, Pittsburgh. It is also a delight to have them occasionally look across this way when a certain gentleman gets mad, and I want to call attention to the fact that the neighbors who came in to listen to us today must be very much exercised, to find out just what Philadelphia is, politically and otherwise. I had no idea they were so hungry; I had no idea there were so many bad people; I had no idea there were so many people unfit to fill the office of magistrate.

However, it so happens when a political party wins the majority and really asserts itself, to even a small extent, to come back in the city of Philadelphia and possibly Pittsburgh, that they are very bad men and the people behind it are very bad, and you must take advantage of the situation to say a word or put it in the record, so your consciences shall be clear.

Therefore, I am tired of it, and I move, Mr. President, the previous question be put and we vote on it and see how it comes out.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at this time I desire permission of the Senate to make some remarks under the heading of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland may proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I know that in my capacity as leader of the Democratic minority I am forced many times to appear upon the floor when the Senators are tired and would like to leave. Therefore there may be amongst us some who object to my many appearances on the floor. However, that does not relieve me from any responsibilities that attain to the job that I have accepted from my colleagues.

In a caucus of the Democratic members we discussed the possibilities and the probabilities of the Legislature passing certain anti-labor bills. We determined at that time that we would fight these restrictive measures with every ounce of strength at our command and every legislative trick and proposal that we know how to manipulate and maneuver.

We feel that because of the terrific barrage put out by the press and radio and congressional proposals, blaming all the evils and ills of our modern American economy upon this one culprit known as American labor that if ever in the history of the labor movement they, the dues-paying members back home, who do not know exactly what is happening here, have no way of knowing what is happening here, if ever in their lives they needed friends they need them now.

I have often remarked that during the few brief years I have participated in the political arena I have yet to have ever heard a candidate for public office get up on the platform and say "I am against labor," they just do not do it, and yet, after they have accepted the votes and, of course, in our practical economy and in our practical political maneuvering, in this state particularly, a great many of the innocent victims of our type of campaigning offtimes do not know what is happening to them until they have been robbed of every right they are entitled to under the Constitution and under the laws of decency.

I say to the members of this Senate that if the bills proposed by the Senate Committee on Labor and Industry are put on the statute books of Pennsylvania, every man who punches a clock, every man and woman who works for a daily wage, every miner who digs down deep in the bowels of the earth for his living and for our enrichment, will be justified in laying down their tools, because they are not being treated as members of this family of ours known as the American citizenry.

These bills are the worst type of labor-baiting, scab-protecting, yellow-contract-writing legislation that has ever appeared upon the floor of any parlimentary body since the history of mankind. I can go further than that. Smiles and laughs and cat-calls can not take away from this legislation the stigma that attaches to it, because it is written in a spirit of hate, because it is written against a defenseless group of citizens who, I might say, Mr. President, are responsibile for the well-dressed appearance of the members of the Senate. Too many of us are too far away from the hole and the plow, our heads are too far up in the air, we have not stooped over except to tie our shoes in years; we have forgotten the sweetness of humility; we have forgotten the decency of labor. Labor was forced, by the conditions that these bills would re-create in this Commonwealth, to band itself into unions for mutual protection. You are now attempting to turn the hands of time backwards in order to bring back again into this great Commonwealth the sweat-shops, the slave labor that we boys and girls in this Commonwealth who were raised in coal mining towns hated with every ounce of hatred that we could command. We have seen fathers denied entrance to their own homesteads because that home was built upon coal mine property. We have grown away from that. We sit around a board today with mine owners on an equal basis, we discuss our problems in a friendly fashion, and at times, because of economic conditions over which neither group has control, there may be stoppages of work, but they are only possible where labor is free, and this group in the Senate that would destroy that freedom of labor are doing to America what the great dictators of the past decade did to Europe. I say that and I mean it with every ounce of sincerity at my command. I believe it, Mr. President.

I do not believe that any sane, sober judge of human nature would dare to condemn labor to the mode of life that these bills would condemn labor to, if they would take the time to study the consequences of this legislation.

Let us look at the real evils today, rising prices, the exorbitant charges being made against a man's payroll for food and clothing and the necessities of life, the trend of higher and higher and higher costs of living and a higher and higher margin of profit for industry.

I would just for a minute like to read to you at least three examples of four corporate interests in the United States and their respective earnings, as they are now contained in the index furnished by the United States Department of Commerce. I will give you the example of the Atlantic Refining Company, which in nine months of 1945 earned $572,000 net profit; in nine months of 1946 the Atlantic Refining Company earned $4,922,000, or an increase of 760 per cent. The Long-Bell Lumber Company in 1945 earned $266,211; in 1946 that company earned $1,562,904, an increase of 487 per cent. The Food Fair Stores in 1945 earned $747,343 and in 1946 they earned $2,937,535, or an increase of 293 per cent plus. Park and Tilford, the distillers, earned in 1945 $1,092,000 and in 1946 they earned $3,588,000, or an increase of 228 per cent.

I ask you in all seriousness will these bills cure the evil that is gnawing at the body of politic of America? will these bills destroy the unrest and confusion that we now find ourselves in, or had you not better, as members of this group, the Senate of Pennsylvania, would we not be much better off in serving our purpose here in the Senate, if we would investigate the rising profits, the increasing cost of living, before we start to penalize labor with punitive legislation.

I call upon you, in a sense of fairness and in a sense of fair play not to be led away from the moorings of good government and swayed by those who are interested in the selfishness of their own greed. Let us let live the men who make it possible for us not to have to work in the mills, in the mines and in the shops, insurance men, lawyer, doctors, bankers, grocerymen, department store owners, all of us live from the back and upon the back of the man that is bending over the hole and following the plow. We ought to be fortunate in that he who outnumbers us does not sometime sit down and study and say but by the grace of God and courage I would be he and he would be me and he would be working down deep in this dirty pit, in the mud and mire of everyday labor.

Why, we ought to feel grateful every day and genuflect in front of the image of the man who stands for labor, because I say to you, upon the backs of labor we all ride in our apparent luxury, and it is luxurious for us that we can sit down in the hotels and order steaks for $3.50 while that man has to feed his family on over-priced oleo because he can not afford butter. I say it is luxury that we are living in, and we do not want that luxury, because we are destroying those who are making it possible for us to live as we do live.

I say to you members of the Senate, before you even consider these bills in a serious way, read them, see what they do to your fellowmen who, because of the misfortune of their birth find themselves working in the mills instead of sitting here in the Senate of Pennsylvania. I say to you that we are the biggest group of ingrates that ever sat in the Senate of Pennsylvania, if we pass this restrictive, punitive and penalizing legislation, because by the sweat of the brow of that man that sent us here we will live to see the day we are shamed.

Go and visit the cafeteria downstairs. As I understood it, when we passed the bill that created this cafeteria, we were doing so so that the youngsters that work around the hill, the clerks in the minor positions, would have a place where they could go and get good hot food at noon, good wholesome food at a price they could afford to pay. What has happened to that high-sounding purpose that we originated this cafeteria from? What has happened to it? Why, this cafeteria downstairs sets its prices so it does not have to compete with the downtown restaurants, and the kids on Capitol Hill are forced to carry lunches to their working places, because they can not afford to eat right here in the Capitol, and if we set that kind of example, what do you expect out in the state, what do you expect from those greedy mercenary persons in Pennsylvania who are bleeding at every point the labor that creates their welfare.

I say to you that a committee of this Senate ought to be named by the President of this Senate, and if we can not do anything else, Mr. President, we can at least stop this thing that is happening right here in the state of Pennsylvania in this Capitol. While we are in session exorbitant prices for food are being charged right here to state employes who have not the money to buy the food. I say to you that you have a good many jobs to do, and the least that you even have to think about doing is cracking down on the men that make it possible for you and I not to have to worry about the prices in the cafeteria.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, it is with deep regret that I have to call this to the attention of the President of the Senate and the Senators and all the visitors who have come here today to see what we do when we pass legislation. It is my desire to call attention to the fact that the young man who has just preceded me has made a display that anybody who has heard it will remember all his life, the utterances that have been made and the feeling and the lack of fairness to his fellow members when he said it.

He is one of the young men in this state who pretend to take a broad and good stand for justice for labor, but I was doing that before he was born and I was serving here probably before he was born and from a labor district I have been returned quite often, in spite of my badness and in spite of the fact that I happen to be a lawyer. It is a terrible thing for such men as Dr. Chapman and a few other doctors who are serving here, and have served so long and so faithfully and so carefully, to be called men lacking in character and lacking in integrity and lacking in a desire to serve this state, the greatest state in the nation.

He thinks I have feeling when I say this, but do you think I have any feelings when I am mad? Of course not. But the point that I am trying to make is that this young man is trying to tell you that the Republican party, and the people who compose it and the people who happen to be sitting in the Senate on the opposite side from him and have the power to pass things, are so bad.

Just what bills was this young man talking about? The truth of the matter is that I do not know. I try to keep up with things, to find out what is going on. I come here about eight o'clock in the morning and I sit here and listen hour after hour, after hour, I do it daily, and hear people telling us about how bad we are, and by people telling us how we look and do our part, and by people who want to say, by what we do in our committees, our committees are dishonest, and the plans that we have are altogether bad.

So far as I am concerned I do not have any plans. So far as I am concerned I do not know what bills this young man is talking about. So far as I am concerned neither Harvey Taylor nor the rest of the boys that are prevailing here tell me what to do on these bills. I will tell you what I did. I went into it and I went into the committee and took my pencil and the numbers of the bills that they were going to have here, and as I understood it, these bills pertain to the questions that have been raised by this young man from Westmoreland, and I want to say to you that if there is any merit in these bills I am for them. If I know anything, if I have the intelligence, if anything has come from the long training and experience of the years and years that have gone by, and I am pretty near the end of the line and I happen to know it, but this is the point I wish to make, that he was out of order to get up and abuse his associates; he was out of order to get up and talk in general that we were going to do this and we were going to do that—he does not know what I am going to do, he does not know whether I have read the bills or not, and he does not know the bills. What bills has he analyzed? As a lawyer with experience, I will tell you what I have done. For thirty years I have been a specialist, for thirty years I have taken care of labor when the other fellow tried to ruin them, for thirty years I have taken care of more than 20,000 individuals that have come under my hand, that have gotten hurt and have gotten free treatment, during that time.

Then came the idea of making everything perfect, by having the Democratic administration come in and pass a bill in 1937, and what happened? They passed the bill over my protest, when I sat there and advised them what to do and told them that the very things they were doing were unconstitutional—it really does sometime take a lawyer to tell you whether a thing is constitutional or not.
